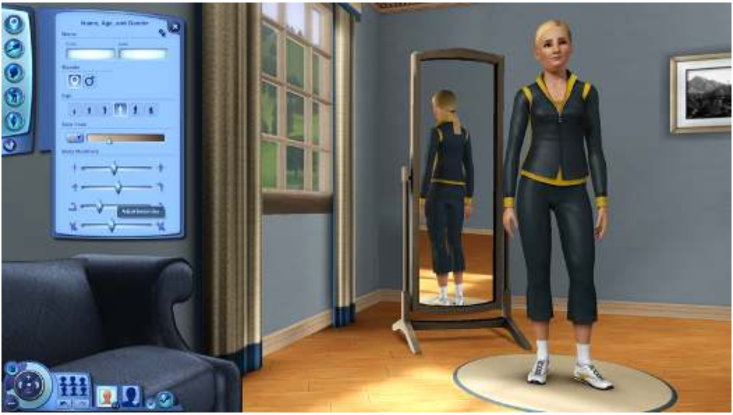
New Simology

It is time to take your Sims to a higher level—and the best way to do that is through higher education. The Sims 3:™ University Life expansion unlocks Sims University, a campus and college town where your Sims can go away to college and earn a degree. However, before packing your bags and donning campus apparel, you need to start at the beginning: Create a Sim. This section includes all you need to know about Simology, the science of what makes each Sim tick. New traits, new moods, new wishes—these are just a few of the building blocks you use to craft your Sims' narratives at Sims University.

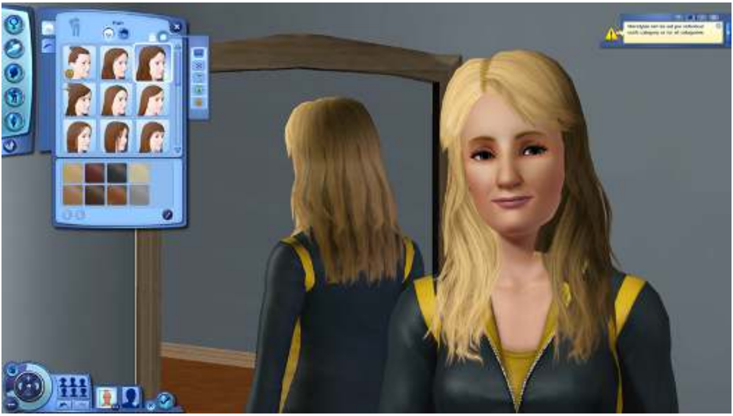
College life can be tough and fun at the same time. As you deal with classes, socializing, studying, partying, taking exams, and so forth, the type of Sim you create can help determine the majors and social groups where you are more likely to find success and fit in. Then once you enroll at Sims University, there are new socials, new Opportunities, new wishes, and new Lifetime Rewards. This chapter offers you inside information as well as an advanced look at these areas so you are prepared.

Create a Sim

If you want to create a new Sim in University Life, rather than just import an existing Sim, there are several new options, including new traits and Lifetime Wishes. You can also alter the appearance of your Sim in a variety of cosmetic ways. University Life adds many new options to Create a Sim, including new clothes, new hairstyles, and much more.



When you first enter the Create a Sim tool, you meet a pre-built Sim just waiting for you. You can choose this pre-set Sim and dig right into the personality or you can use this Sim like modeling clay. You can also play around with the Sim Bin, a collection of premade Sims that can be called into the Create a Sim "dressing room" and changed to your liking. Perhaps you dig that Sim's hairstyle but want a different color. Or you are struck by the face of a Sim but just aren't sold on a certain aspect, like the ears or chin.



Chances are, though, that you will want to make more than just one or two small tweaks. You will want to design a Sim from the toes up (or the hair down). From the first screen of the Create a Sim toolkit, you have five tabs of options and potential changes. Here are the five tabs and their functions:

- Basics: This tab lets you name your Sim and change its gender, skin tone, muscle definition, and age. There are some new skin tones to try out. You can also adjust breast size for female Sims.
- Hair: Use this tab to change your Sim's hairstyle, hair accessories, body hair, eyebrows, and more.
- Looks: Go here to change the general appearance of your Sim's head and face, including making adjustments to chin, nose, eyes, and cheeks, tattoos, and make-up.
- Clothes: Select your Sim's basic wardrobe from this tab, including everyday wear, formal wear, athletic outfits, sleeping clothes, and swimwear.
- Personality: This tab lets you assign specific traits to your Sim, choose personal favorites (food, music, color, and zodiac sign), and select a Lifetime Wish.

Carried Over Cosmetic Changes

Create a Sim features such as body hair, breast size, make-up opacity, tattoos, and astrological signs are also carried over from previous expansion packs such as Ambitions, Generations, Late Night, and Supernatural. Even if you don't have these earlier expansion packs installed, the Create a Sim features introduced by these expansions are still available in University Life, offering a powerful set of Sim-altering tools for your prospective Sim.

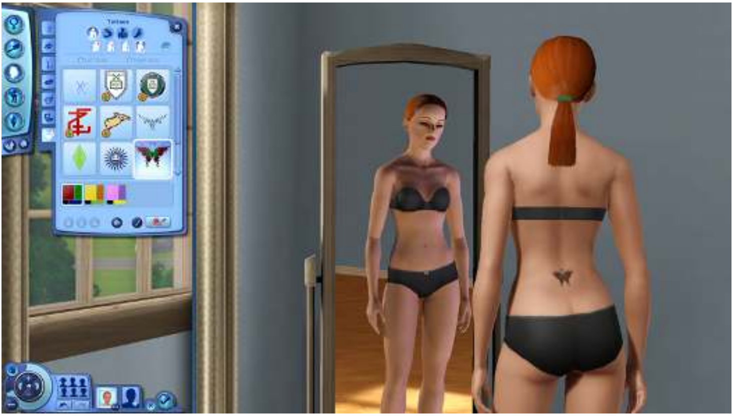
Note

Ultimately, the appearance of your Sims is up to you. Cosmetic alterations are just that—they do not affect success in relationships, careers, or other interactions.

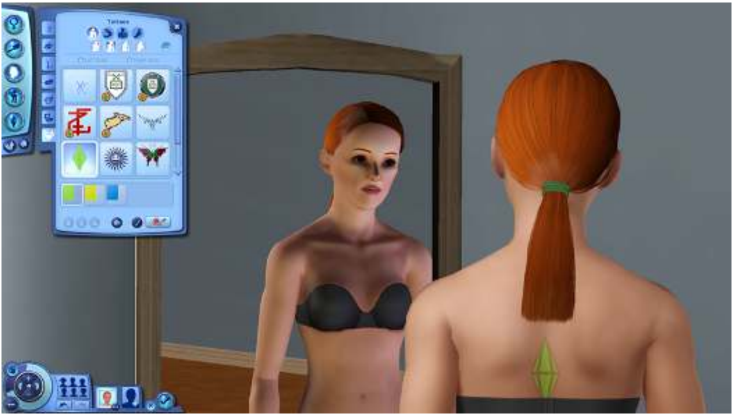
Tattoos

While tattoos were added in earlier expansions, University Life includes some new tattoos that you can use to show how true you are to your school. To add a tattoo to your Sim, choose the Looks tab. The Tattoo button is at the bottom of the menu, directly under Make-Up. When you select Tattoo, you get a near-full view of your Sim's body so you can apply the tattoo exactly where you want without any obstructions.

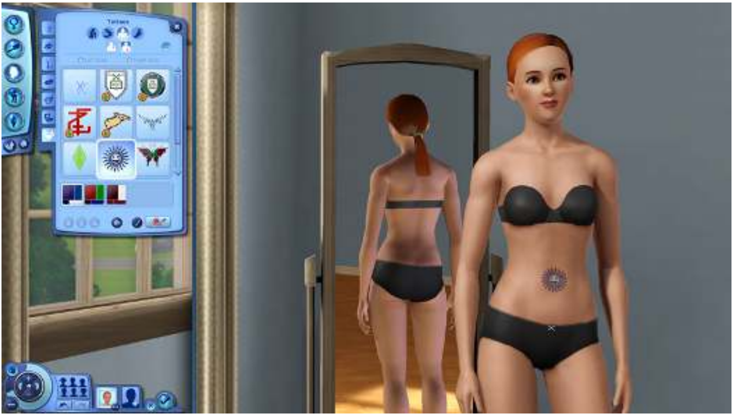
You may apply a tattoo to four places on your Sim: back, arm, chest, and ankle. In each body location, you can choose from a few different spots. For example, on the back, you can pick the shoulders, small of the back, or right in the dead-center.



Select a tattoo from the multitude of available options. There are even some to show your school spirit.

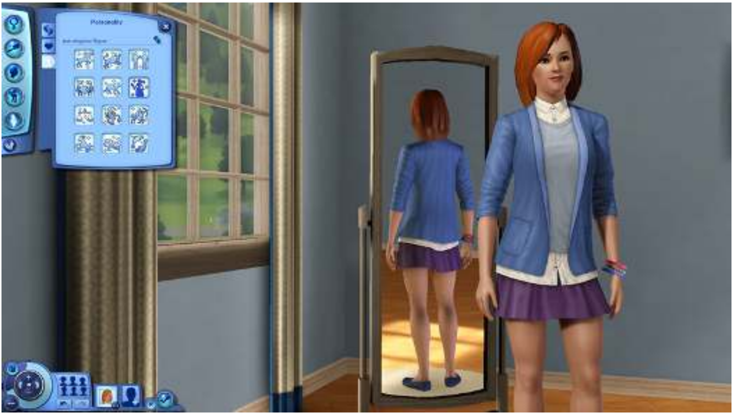


Once you've chosen the tattoo, use the color picker to adjust the tones and hues. Some tattoos have just one color, while others are composed of multiple fields that you can alter. Play around to get the tattoo that fits your look.



You can place more than one tattoo on your Sim. Use the controls to adjust the size and opacity of your tattoos. Your body is the canvas.

Astrological Signs



When crafting your Sim’s personality, you can also give them an astrological sign. Select from the 12 familiar signs of the zodiac. This is as close as you can get to setting an actual birthday for your Sim, because these signs are associated with time periods on this side of the screen, although Sims operate on a far different calendar than we do. The 12 zodiac signs are:

- Aries
- Taurus
- Gemini

- Cancer
- Leo
- Virgo
- Libra
- Scorpio
- Sagittarius
- Capricorn
- Aquarius
- Pisces

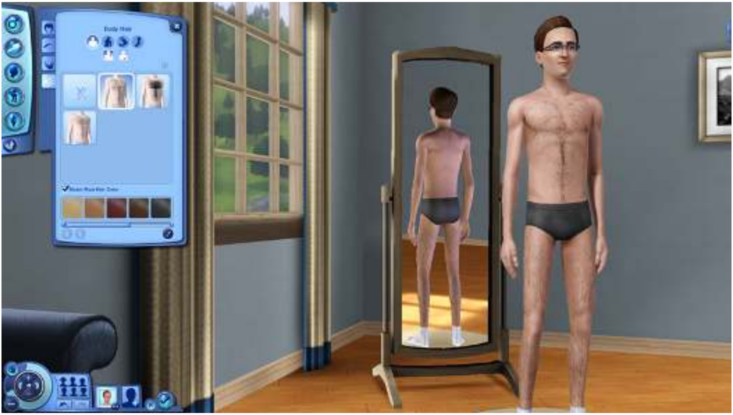
The zodiac signs are a part of your Sim's personality. During a conversation with another Sim, use the What's Your Sign social to try to learn that Sim's astrological sign.

If you find out their sign, the information is stored on that Sim's relationship entry in the Relationship tab of the Status panel. If the other Sim has a compatible sign, you both receive a small relationship boost. These are the compatible signs:

- Aries: Leo, Sagittarius, Gemini, and Aquarius
- Taurus: Virgo, Capricorn, Cancer, and Pisces
- Gemini: Libra, Aquarius, Aries, and Leo
- Cancer: Scorpio, Pisces, Taurus, and Virgo
- Leo: Aries, Sagittarius, Gemini, and Libra
- Virgo: Taurus, Capricorn, Cancer, and Scorpio
- Libra: Gemini, Aquarius, Leo, and Sagittarius
- Scorpio: Cancer, Pisces, Virgo, and Capricorn
- Sagittarius: Leo, Aries, Libra, and Aquarius
- Capricorn: Virgo, Taurus, Scorpio, and Pisces
- Aquarius: Libra, Gemini, Sagittarius, and Aries
- Pisces: Scorpio, Cancer, Capricorn, and Taurus

Body Hair

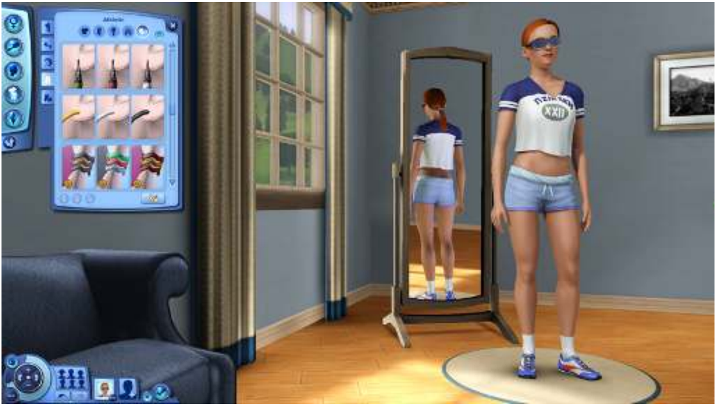
Supernatural first added body hair for your male Sims—and it is also available in University Life. Add body hair via a tab in the Hair section. When you click on the tab, you select which part of the body you want to graft hair to: chest, back, arms, legs. Then, choose the style and thickness of the hair as well as the color.

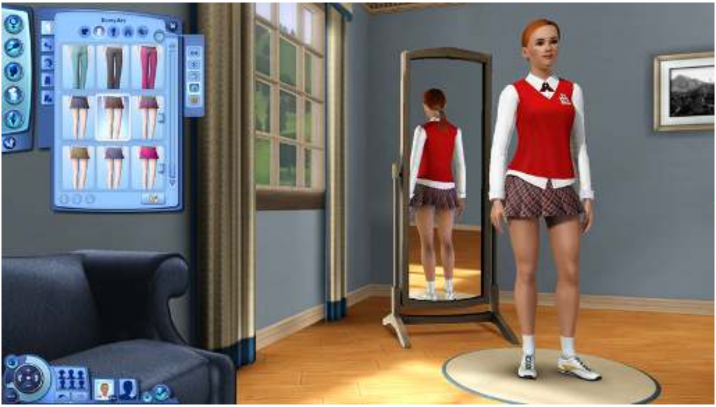


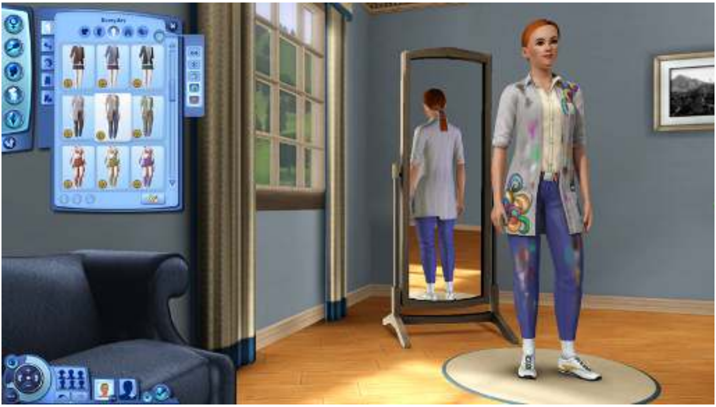
Make your Sim a manly man with some body hair.

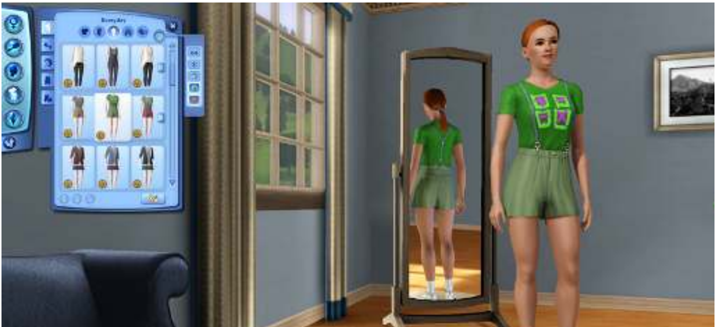
Expanded Closet

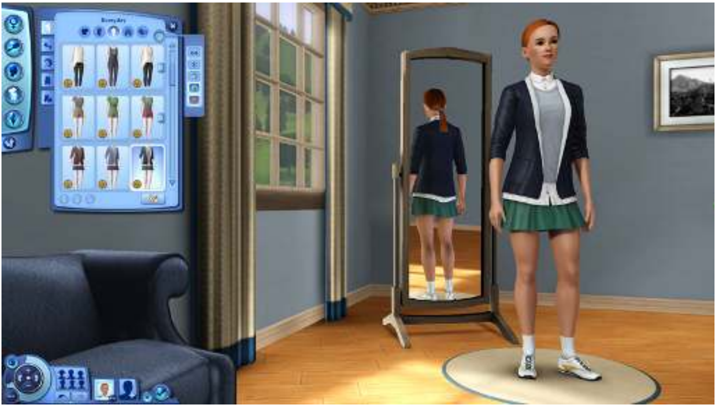
University Life offers a wardrobe of new clothes for your Sims. Most of these are the height of campus fashion and some feature college logos or mascots. Use Create a Sim to view the selection, and pick outfits that fit your Sim's personality and social group. Here are a few of the choices.

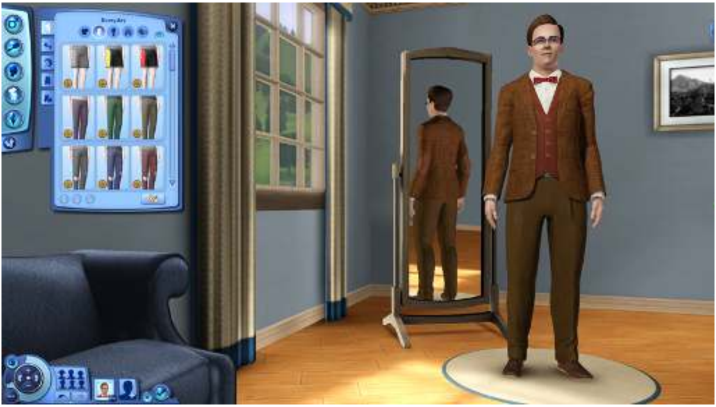


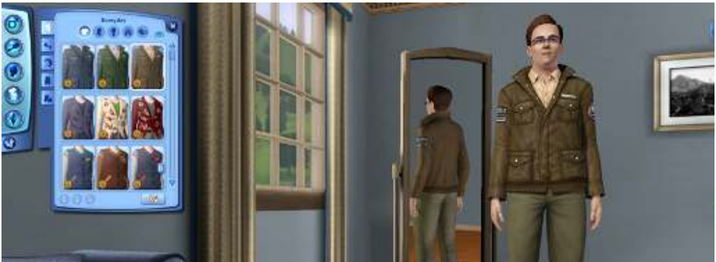


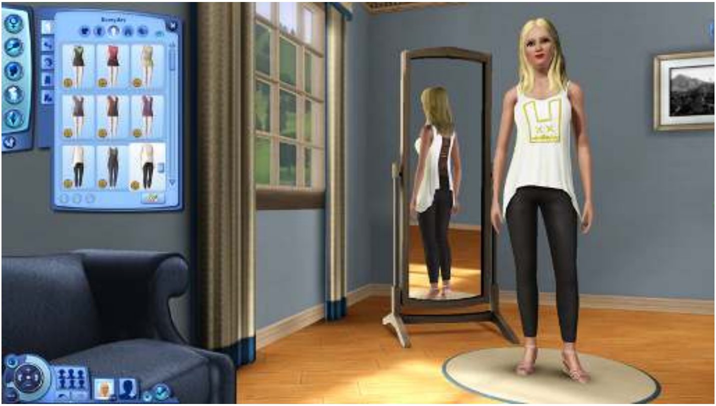


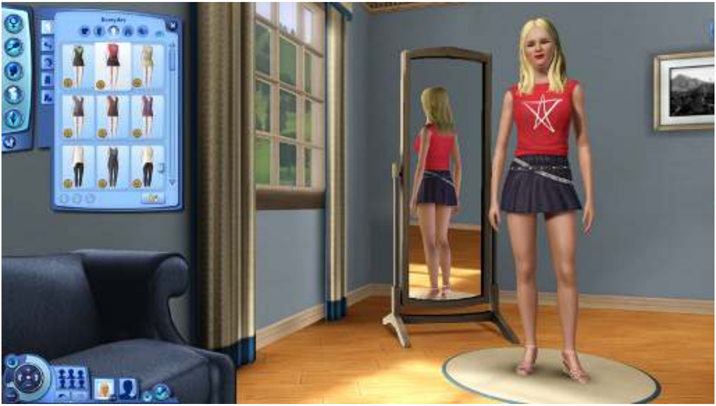






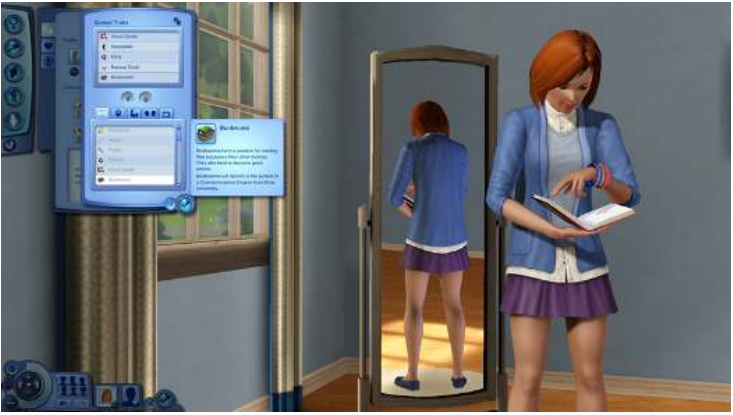






New Traits

One of the final choices in Create a Sim is to assign your Sim up to five different traits. These are the most important choices in Create a Sim because they can greatly affect your Sim's Lifetime Wish (the culminating dream of their life), can sway performance in classes or at work, affect skill development, and influence how a Sim interacts with others.



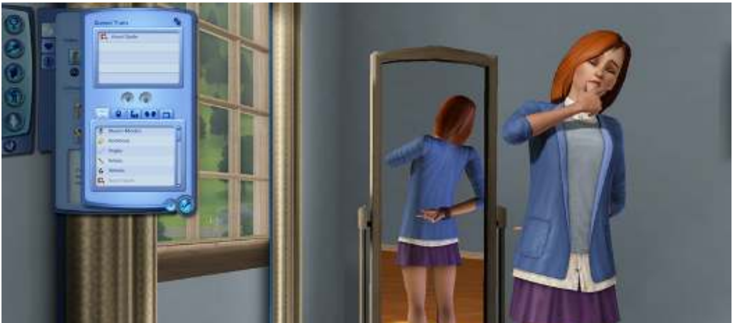
There are 63 possible traits to choose from in The Sims 3 base game. Traits include personality triggers such as Brave, Frugal, Loner, and Unlucky. They range from positive to negative, with a handful of relatively neutral traits somewhere in the middle. Because these five traits not only make up the core of your Sim's personality but also affect what Lifetime Wishes are suggested to them, consider how they might factor into the kind of life you'd like to live.

Caution

Focusing on a set of traits to support a major or new skill is great for that particular goal, but it comes at a cost. Your Sims are defined more by what they do rather than who they are.

University Life introduces several new traits to the equation: Avant Garde, Irresistible, and Socially Awkward. These traits are all focused on campus life and can influence the degrees your Sim earns as well as their social group status. And if you succeed socially, you can even unlock an extra trait slot! See "Social Groups" in the University Life chapter for more about this exciting possibility.

Avant Garde



- Description: Avant Garde Sims know what’s art and what’s not, and don’t mind letting other know. It’s tough to please an Avant Garde type! Avant Garde Sims will benefit in the pursuit of a Fine Arts Degree from Sim University

- Earliest Age Available: Teen

- Disallowed Trait: Can’t Stand Art, Easily Impressed

- Benefits: Sims with this trait can increase their Street Art skill faster, have an increased chance to create a Street Art masterpiece, and their works of art are worth more. They can write Poetry books at a level 2 writing skill and Satire books with a level 4 Writing skill. Offers the following exclusive socials: Describe Radical Idea, Condescend the Mainstream, Enthuse about Obscure Music, and Accuse of Being a Sellout.

- Shortcomings: None

- Unique Features: Avant Garde Sims start out with the Street Art Duffel Bag in their inventory and can use the Critique interaction on Art and Street Art objects.

Irresistible

- Description: Irresistible Sims are quite charming, although often times they may get more than they asked for! Dates will be easy to find, and others will flock to socialize with them, because they’re just so irresistible.

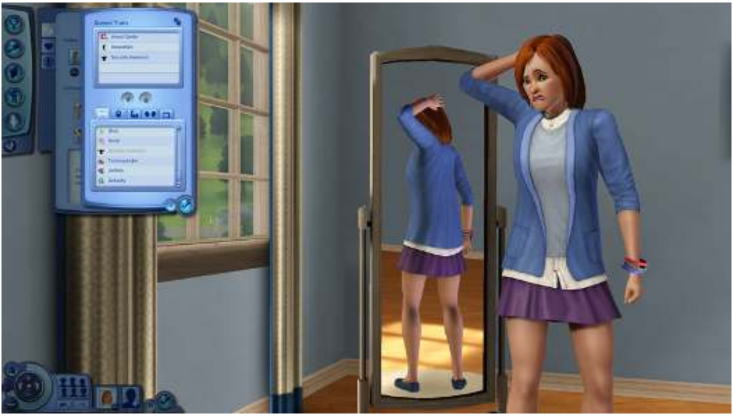
- Earliest Age Available: Teen

- Benefits: Sims with this trait can more easily progress through social interactions to get into romantic relationships. They are rarely rejected for favors or dates. Offers the following exclusive socials: Talk About Being Irresistible, Boast About Good Looks, Wink, and Blow Kiss.
- Shortcomings: None
- Unique Features: When a Sim has both the Irresistible and Charming traits, he or she is more likely to receive favors.

Tip

If you want your Sim to join several social groups, the Irresistible trait is helpful because it will help you advance in each of these groups.

Socially Awkward



- Description: Socially Awkward Sims try to fit in, but sometimes say the wrong thing at the wrong time. It's not easy being Socially Awkward, but it sure is awkward!
- Earliest Age Available: Teen
- Disallowed Trait: Charismatic
- Benefits: Socially Awkward Sims can increase their Science skill faster.
- Shortcomings: During Friendly, Funny, Romantic, or Mean socials, Socially Awkward Sims have a chance of triggering an Awkward result instead of the desired result. Therefore, they have difficulty getting into Romantic relationships.
- Unique Features: These Sims can experience four new Moodlets: Foot in Mouth, Missed the Opportune Moment, Messed Up the Punchline, and Accidental Compliment.

Tip

Once a Socially Awkward Sim is good friends or better with the Sim with whom he or she is socialized, the Awkward result is replaced with a positive reaction.

Note

Why would you want to select a trait that makes it harder to socialize when socials are an important part of the college experience? Giving your Sim a weakness can make it much more rewarding when you finally get past the awkward stage of a relationship. Plus this can help you gain influence in the Nerd social group, and gain Science skill faster.

New Lifetime Wishes

In Create a Sim, you select a Lifetime Wish. Each Sim has six possibilities. Five options are determined by the traits you give your Sim. The sixth option allows you to select any Lifetime Wish you want, regardless of assigned traits. Satisfying a Lifetime Wish takes a lot of work, but is worth a lot of Lifetime Happiness points, the currency used to purchase Lifetime Rewards.

In addition to maintaining the Lifetime Wishes of The Sims 3, University Life introduces several new Lifetime Wishes. The easiest way to access a specific Lifetime Wish is to select one or two traits that are directly related to it. For example, if you select the new Avant Garde trait, it’s likely that the Street Credible Lifetime Wish will appear among your suggested Lifetime Wishes.

Blog Artist

- Reach Level 10 in Social Networking Skill
- Create a Five Star Blog

A successful blogger captivates their audience and leaves them yearning for the next post. It’s not easy to combine witty observations and impeccable timing, but someone’s gotta keep the netizens entertained. The one who does will earn the title of Blog Artist.

Major Master

- Earn Three Degrees

For some, there’s no limit to the amount of learning they can endure, and the thrill of class is enough to keep earning degrees. They are called Major Masters. With a bag full of books and a caffeinated drink in hand, they’re a university warrior ready to learn!

Perfect Student

- Earn a University Degree with a Perfect GPA

Earning a university degree is an accomplishment all in itself. But to earn one with a perfect GPA takes as much brawn as it does brains. Late nights will be spent studying and a little luck will be needed to pass exams, but it's worth it for a perfect GPA.

Reach Max Social Influence with All Social Groups

- Reach Max Influence with All Social Groups

Being an influential Sim in one group is difficult enough, but reaching max influence across three groups? That's a challenge any social Sim will gladly accept! It won't be easy and there is much schmoozing to do, but rest assured there will be comrades to be found around every corner.

Tip

Use your new smart phone to keep track of your influence in each of the three social groups and find out what you need to increase influence with each group. For more about social groups, see "Social Groups" in the University Life chapter.

Scientific Specialist

- Reach Level 10 in Scientific, Medical, or Business Career
- Reach Level 10 in Science Skill

The universe is a mysterious place with even more mysterious rules governing it. Few can ever hope to understand such rules, but those who live vicariously by collecting and analyzing samples will earn the title of Scientific Specialist and tell the rest of us how the universe works.

Street Credible

- Reach Level 10 of Street Art Skill

- Create 7 Masterpiece Murals

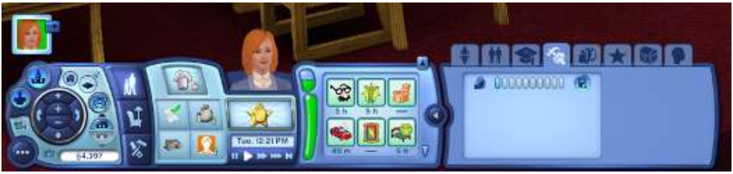
For a street artist armed with a spray can, the world is their canvas waiting to be painted. It takes a keen eye and a steady hand to create masterful art on the walls and ground, but a street artist wouldn't have it any other way.

New Moodlets & Wishes

There are many avenues to happiness and fulfillment (and a few back roads to misery, too). You'll get the most out of University Life by discovering the best ways to get your Sims feeling good about themselves. To do this, let's zero in on the smartest (and easiest) ways to deliver unto your Sims their dreams, such as helping them build careers, develop skills, or seek out exciting Opportunities.

New Moodlets

A quick way to check a Sim's current happiness—or lack thereof—is mood. Mood is displayed in the Mood meter that occupies the bottom-center of the screen, right next to the portrait of the active Sim. The Mood meter is shaped like an upside-down exclamation point. When the meter is green, your Sim is in a good mood. As the Sim dips toward neutral or tense feelings, the meter turns yellow. When the meter displays red, your Sim is seriously bummed or agitated about something going on in their life or the world around them. You need to immediately correct whatever situation or interaction is upsetting them or else mood will tank out. Not only will you not be able to bank Lifetime Happiness points, but you also risk spoiling Opportunities and relationships.



Pay close and constant attention to the Moodlet panel because moodlets contribute to your Sim's overall mood. Moodlets are the fleeting bits of emotion that come and go with the flow of time as well as the presence of external influences. Some negative moodlets require direct attention. Others, especially the positive moodlets, should be enjoyed and whenever possible maintained so you can extend or at least maximize their benefits. Neutral moodlets often act as indicators, such as hints as to hunger level. A neutral moodlet left unattended will sometimes devolve into a negative moodlet, which in turn spoils the day. Keeping an eye on neutral moodlets is an enormous time-saver, because having to change your actions to overcome a negative moodlet can cost several hours... and often some Simoleons!

Moodlets

Icon	Name	Effect	Duration	Description
	A Bit Juiced	5		A few swigs of juice have Sim feeling frisky! Risky behaviors don't seem so risky, and bad decisions seem better.
	Accidental Compliment	-5	60	What seemed like a backhanded and venomous comment turned sweet and complimentary. Sim is very confused on how that happened…
	Bad Test Taker	-10	240	It's one thing to do poorly on a test, but Sim absolutely tanked it!
	Being Watched	-10	1440	Rebellion is a blast, but being caught isn't. Sim better be careful engaging in risky behavior—someone is watching and ready to catch him or her!

Blogged Out	-5	120	All that blogging can take its toll and the only cure is a good break. Sim is officially blogged out!
Botinitus Minorous	0	240	Sim is feeling very strange after a recent experiment. He or she should get to a Science Lab while there's still time!
Boundless Creative Energy	10	240	Sometimes input from peers kick-starts the creative engine. Sim is inspired to fill the world with truth and light!
Brain Dead	-10	360	Sim is having troubles focusing on the world around him or her. This can't bode well for academic performance...
Brilliant Megaphonist	10	180	Sim is a first-rate practitioner of the Noisy Arts. A recent bout of megaphone ownage has him or her pumped up!
Caught Cheating	-10	2880	Academic fraud is a serious offense. Sim got caught, so Sim'll have to try to get Sim's name cleared.
Cheat Sheet	0	2880	Sim has a Cheat Sheet up Sim's sleeve like an Ace of Spades. Exams are obstacles no more, if he or she doesn't get caught cheating!
Clinically Critiqued	20	240	Artists can't have fragile egos. A good round of constructive criticism has Sim's mind in an enlightened state.
Coffee Breath	0	180	That raw Coffee Bean was delicious, but now Sim's breath smells like stale coffee beans.
Cotton Mouth	0	240	After donating saliva, Sim's mouth feels dry and tacky. It also tastes a bit like breakfast.
Cozy Fire			Sim is enjoying the warm glow of the bonfire. Add some wood to really add some heat to the fire!
Crashed Party	30	360	The juice kegger was great while it lasted. Maybe it was a little too awesome, since the cops had to shut it down!
Dumped By Text	-50	360	Dumpville—populated by Sim. Being dumped via text is the worst, and the best rebound is to kiss another Sim!
Eureka	30	360	There's nothing more satisfying than a scientific experiment going off without a hitch.
Exhibitionist	40	240	Showing off his or her body for art has given Sim the thrill of a lifetime!
Failing University	-20		Sim was given a great educational opportunity, and he or she is on the verge of squandering it!
Feeling Important	10	360	Sim can't get any more important. He or she gave insight into something, and Sims listened. Doesn't get any better!
Feeling Naked on the Inside	-30	240	Posing nude is liberating for some and excruciating for others. You found yourself in the latter camp.
First Class	20	120	Sim just finished Sim's first University class of the term! The butterflies were fluttering, but now Sim is settled down and ready for more.
First Lecture	20	120	University gives you access to the world's brightest minds! Sim just got out of Sim's first guest lecture and is jazzed about the knowledge he or she gained.

	Foot In Mouth	-5	60	Sim tried to say something nice but it just came out all wrong!
	For Science	10	120	Sim can't get enough of science, and neither can his or her friends! When great minds come together, anything's possible. Excelsior!
	Genius IQ	10	720	Sim is feeling a burst of increased brainpower. Classes and tests should be a breeze for Sim.
	Gift of Giving	50	360	Every day is a holiday when Sims act selflessly! Spontaneous gift-giving has lightened up Sim.
	Giggle Fits	30	240	Sim's recent exposure to the Advanced Humor Sciences has overwhelmed hir or her frontal lobes' self-regulating ability. Everything seems really funny.
	Got Away With It	0	2880	Sim cheated and got away scot-free! Just remember: it's only wrong if you get caught.
	Gotta Blog About	10	360	A day of idle pondering has Sim focused, and you're raring to flood the Internet Tubes with provocative thoughts!
	Grades Slipping	0		Sim's focus hasn't been devoted to Sim's studies. Sim's stressing over his or her falling grades.
	Happily Ever After	10	2880	All it took was a successful protest to restore happiness in the world. Lifetime Happiness will be in abundance for now!
	Herb Basil	10		Sim is feeling quite ambitious and opportunistic. Now's the time to show work who's boss and earn that promotion!
	Herb Bumbleleaf	10		Sim feels nearly invincible! He or she won't get caught tagging and cheating and can withstand fire for a few hours too.
	Herb Buzzberry	10		Getting more athletic has never been easier for Sim!
	Herb Chamomile	10		Sim feels rather social right now, and will have no trouble fitting in with any social group.
	Herb Cinnamon	10	120	Spicy. Saucy. Brave. Sim is feeling all of these right now, and ready to get romantic!
	Herb Ginseng	10		If there's ever a time for late night studying or antics, it's now! Sim won't be crashing due to low energy.
	Herb Greenleaf	10		Losing weight won't be difficult for Sim. Sim's feeling quite motivated to shed some pounds!
	Herb Lavender	10		Sleep is for the weak, and Sim isn't weak. he or she can spend more time doing stuff and less time sleeping.
	Herb Licorice	10		Sim isn't feeling hungry right now. Actually, he or she probably won't be hungry for a while!
	Herb Nausea	-25	120	Too many herbs made Sim nauseous! The thought of herbs makes him or her sick, so they should be avoided for now.
	Herb Peppermint	25		Everybody loves the fresh taste of peppermint, including Sim.

	Herb Wonderpetal	10		Sim is in quite the studious mood! A little studying and paying attention during class will go a long way!
	Hive Mind	0	360	Intense collaboration brings Sim together. Sim's abilities are boosted by his/her colleagues. The trickiest tasks just seem to get done.
	I Graduated From University	20	14400	It's great day for Sim! Not everyone can endure the rigors of university, so Sim is feeling rather proud.
	Improved Academic Performance From Protest	10	2880	A successful social movement has change and fresh energy in the air! He or she attacks his or her studies with renewed focus.
	Increased Understanding	10	2880	The successful protest sure did wonders! Everything suddenly makes sense for Sim and getting better at things just got easier!
	Junior Mascot	0		Sim has been given a rare mascot opportunity. Work on your Running Man dance, Horsey-style dance and precision backflips!
	Liquid Crash	-10	240	Anyone perfect must be lying; anything easy has its cost. An energy drink gave him or her a boost, but a hard crash follows.
	Liquid Energy	0	180	A surge of sugar from an energy drink has him or her riding high! All of your impulsive ideas suddenly seem like fantastic decisions.
	Lost a Trivia Challenge	-15	240	He or she couldn't name the taxonomic Order to which Llamas belong, and you're bummed out. The answer was “Artiodactyla.”
	Lost Identity	-10	720	Who am I? Where's my family? What do I like? A brain enhancing malfunction has warped Sim's brain and given him or her a new identity.
	Made Your Mark	20	1440	The paint is drying and Sim is getting away! His or her name is spreading, even if it looked like a silly scribble.
	Messed Up the Punchline	-5	60	Sim had the perfect laugh line, but he or she crashed and burned in the end.
	Minor Setback	-10	360	A failed experiment set Sim back, but you're determined to nail the next one!
	Missed the Opportune Moment	-5	60	Social success is all about timing, but Sim fell flat on his or her face this time. Another awkward moment for Sim.
	Murphy Clinophobia	-5	360	Falling murphy beds will leave a lasting impression on unsuspecting Sims. Sim is being extra cautious around dangerous murphy beds.
	Obsessed	15	480	A paramour's kiss floated Sim's way, and now he or she can't get that enticing Sim out of his or her head.
	Organic Cat Creation Buzz	30	180	The Red Berry Bean flooded Sim with B-Vitamins, X-Foliants, and Oxidaziants to create an explosion of flavor in your mouth.
	Organic Kona Lift Buzz	30	180	The mysterious Kona Bean has given Sim a serious buzz. He or she feels ready to run through walls!
	Organic Midnight Mud Buzz	30	180	The effects of the Midnight Bean left Sim's reflexes primed for any gaming challenge. Bring it on!
	Organic Old Joe Buzz	30	180	The decadent taste of the Cortado Bean left Sim feeling ready to face the world again! This time, with fewer bathroom breaks.

	Organic Slappucino Buzz	30	180	Sim is loving the effects of the Maui Bean yet doesn't feel a post coffee crash coming. He or she couldn't feel better!
	Phone Junkie	5	360	Being addicted to your phone isn't always a bad thing! Information and friends are at your fingertips 24/7.
	Phone Withdrawals	-20	240	Experiencing phone withdrawals is awfully painful for Sim. So much web surfing and socializing being missed right now!
	Plant Sim Dehydrated	-30		PlantSims need plenty of water to function, and Sim is running dry! Go get some water to keep those fluids moving!
	Plant Sim Hydrated	30		So many Sims pay close attention to nutrition, sleep, and exercise. Sim has your priorities straight: hydration is paramount!
	Plasmatic Platitudes	10	240	Sim feels a little deflated, but his or her soul is shining bright after donating plasma!
	Poisoned	-25	180	Sim doesn't feel quite right and that green skin isn't a good sign… Sim is hoping this is just temporary…
	Power Nap	10	120	This group project is nearly done, but an exhausted Sim needs one last energy surge to get over the top.
	Preparing for University	0	2880	Sim finished his or her Aptitude Test. He or she is excited to show off your acceptance letter and give out farewell hugs.
	Proud	10	240	Sim is proud to be shown a university acceptance letter. He or she is excited and couldn't be prouder!
	Prying Eyes	10	240	That nude-modeling stint was fun, but Sim may not want to make it a habit. This isn't a career.
	Radioactive Bug Bite	-20	240	Ouch! That bug bite sure did hurt! Sim feels something pulsing through his or her veins… What could it be?
	Rejected	-30	360	Sim miscalculated in a social situation. He or she tried to climb the social ladder by asking for an introduction, but ended in failure.
	Saw a Great Movie	10	240	Some films strike the perfect balance of great dialogue, engaging characters, and gripping plots. Sim is in cinematic ecstasy!
	Saw a Terrible Movie	-10	240	Terrible dialogue, limp characters, and a laughable plot: Sim loves the movies, but he or she wasted his or her time with this one.
	School Pride	15	120	Few things bring Sims together like celebrating a big sports win or the presence of the mascot. Sim burns with pride!
	Secretly Admired	10	180	Who sent that mysterious text? Sim is delighted to know that someone is secretly admiring him or her!
	Secretly Stalked	-10	180	Sometimes receiving a mysterious text is a good thing… Sim however is rather creeped out about it…
	Shared Great Idea	5	180	Sim just shared your brilliantly radical idea with the world, and blew someone's mind!
	Stolen Test Answers	0	2880	Academic subterfuge has Sim eyeing opportunities! There's no telling who'll want these answers.

Streaker	20		Running around in his or her birthday suit never gets old for Sim!
Studious Studier	10		Long hours of nosing in books has honed Sim's mind to a razor edge. He or she is ready for class!
Study Fatigue	-10		Hard work is important, but Sim has forgotten the most important lesson: all things, even study, in moderation.
Study Holic	15		Fanatical devotion to his or her studies has pushed Sim into a Zen-like state. Sim is itching to go to class and learn!
Super Juiced	30		Not just content to have some sweet sugary juice, Sim is kicking things up a notch. Watch out!
Taking the Day Off	0	960	Sim will enjoy the day off by getting another Sim to go to class for him or her!
There and Back Again	-5	720	Morbid ranting has put Sim on the reaper's watch list. Sim'd better be careful, lest something truly tragic happen…
Threw a Killer Party	40	1440	Sim is in a much friendlier mood after the great reception from his or her party.
Threw an Amazing Party	35	1440	After throwing that party, Sim is feeling great! Sim's starting to get the hang of hosting parties!
Threw a Raging Party	45	1440	Sim can't believe how epic that party was. Sim's in a great mood and can't wait for the next one!
Uninhibited	20	240	A mob mentality has taken root in the project group! Sim is ready to push the limits of good sense.
Urban Masterpiece	20	360	Struck by a lightning bolt of inspiration, Sim created a true Street Art Masterpiece. Society quakes beneath your feet.
Urban Work of Art	10	180	With some spray paint and a healthy dose of moxie, Sim beautified his or her neighborhood.
Victorious Protest	20	360	Making a difference through a successful protest sure feels great for Sim. Another one is definitely in order!
Wasted Great Idea	-5	180	Sim thought he or she had a brilliant thought, but nobody seemed to care… The good news? Ideas are free!
With Flying Colors	10	240	Whew! Sim didn't expect to pass that exam! He or she's pumped about nailing it!
Won a Trivia Challenge	15	240	With his or her intimate knowledge of Uzbekistan, Sim won a great intellectual victory! He or she's feeling fantastic.

New Wishes

As soon as your Sims begin, they start expressing wishes via the Wish panel at the bottom of the screen. In addition to their Lifetime Wish, which you selected in Create a Sim, Sims can have up to four active wishes at a time. When a Sim has a new wish, it appears in the arched bubble on top of the Wish Panel. Multiple wishes can stack up in that arched area, so use the arrows on either side to scroll through them and see what the active Sim desires at that given moment.

To promise a wish and add it to your Sim’s active wishes, left-click on the wish. To deny a wish, right-click on it. There is no punishment for denying a wish. A Sim will just forget about it—there are no grudges for canning a Gardening class wish or whatever. However, dismissing a wish doesn’t necessarily mean a new wish will immediately take its place. You may have to wait a while before your Sim conceives of a new wish. Exploring town or mingling with other Sims often encourages your Sim to develop new wishes, so if you need to nudge your Sim, get out there!

Caution

You cannot undo a wish denial, so think before you right-click on that little dream.

Wishes are not universal across age groups. Sims of differing ages will want different things. A child will never desire to join a specific career track, but instead will want to be talked to, played with, or receive a new object like a toy. Teen Sims start to mingle wishes with young adult and adult Sims, although you will see slight variations on wishes—many are socially oriented, too. Because Sims can undergo personality changes as they age, some wishes do not survive the move between age groups. For example, the desire to have a baby will disappear when your adult Sim moves into the elder age bracket.

To learn more about a wish, just move the cursor on top of it. The full details of the wish appear in a box. The box explains what the wish is, what needs to happen to fulfill the wish (you can sometimes get hints here), and how many Lifetime Happiness points the wish is worth once fulfilled. Wishes with loftier or more time-consuming goals are commonly worth more Lifetime Happiness points.

Wishes are spread across several categories, such as skill wishes or trait wishes.

Lifetime Rewards

When you max your mood into the bubble at the top of the Mood meter, you begin accumulating Lifetime Happiness points. Lifetime Happiness points are also earned by fulfilling wishes. Lifetime Happiness points are a precious commodity indeed, because they are then traded in for Lifetime Rewards, which are a series of special skills, traits, and objects with unique properties. Gather as many Lifetime Happiness points as possible—this is a great way to measure to the progress of your Sim and see how well they are doing in life.

Note

Lifetime Rewards exclusive to specific social groups appear in the picker only when you are playing as a Sim in that social group.

- Cost: 2,000
- Social Group Exclusive: Rebels
- Description: Increase your influence with the Rebels.

By purchasing this reward, you receive a boost to your influence with the Rebel social group.

Note

Social group influence rewards help you advance within each specific social group. This can help you unlock other rewards as a result.

Honorary Degree

- Cost: 50,000
- Description: Purchase a degree of your choice.

Earning a degree at Sims University takes time and costs money. However, if you save up your reward points, you can just buy a degree.

Note

This is a good reward to get if you are going for the Major Master Lifetime Wish where you need to earn three degrees. Build up reward points while earning your first two degrees and then purchase the third degree.

Opportunities

Opportunities are occasional events related to your skills and/or career. The rewards for completing Opportunities include Simoleons, promotions, skill gains, and more. University Life offers many new Opportunities connected to the new college campus lifestyles.

Note

Many Opportunities are time sensitive. If you are presented with an Opportunity with a time limit, such as participating in a cook-off, you are given the deadline right up front. Keep these deadlines in mind because many Opportunities actually require a little work. You cannot expect to complete an Opportunity with just 10 minutes left on the clock. To track your active Opportunities, use the Opportunity tab in the Status panel.

New Opportunities

Name	Description	How to Complete
Horror scopes? Oh, horoscopes!	The basics of fortunetelling is all in the horoscopes. Master reading the horoscope and your Sim will be well on their way to becoming a world renowned fortune teller.	Read “The Horrors of Horoscopes” and return to work to increase your job performance and relationship with your boss.
The Fortunes of Fortune Telling	Instead of blindly picking an event so far into the future that your client will just forget about, how about adding some finesse to your Sim’s fortune telling?	Read “Unfortunate Fortune Telling” and return to work to increase your job performance and relationship with your boss.
Divine Beings	Understanding the divinity of divine beings is key to anyone in a mystical profession. What makes one so divine? What is divinity for that matter? All will be revealed soon enough.	Read “Divine Divinity” and return to work to increase your job performance and relationship with your boss.
Importance of Palms	Palms. Is there a more crucial piece to telling a good fortune? Of course not! But this obvious piece to fortune telling isn’t always obvious to a burgeoning fortune teller. At least not anymore.	Read “Passing Palms” and return to work to increase your job performance and relationship with your boss.
A Lesson in Psychics	Fortune tellers may not have much need for normal physics, but the meta style of physics are of utmost importance. A deep understanding of metaphysics lays the path to your client’s fortune.	Read “Fabrication of Metaphysics” and return to work to increase your job performance and relationship with your boss.
Tricks of the Tarot	Knowing how to read tarot cards is an important part of any professional fortune teller. The perfect blend of showmanship and deciphering is a mystery to many…	Read “Tricky Tarots” and return to work to increase your job performance and relationship with your boss.
Mastering Motifs	It’s not easy painting the right motif to draw upon the fortune of your client. Use too much and your client will laugh it off and too little makes the fortune unbelievable. It needs to be just right.	Read “Minnie Mystic’s Mystical Motifs” and return to work to increase your job performance and relationship with your boss.
Guiding the Elements	The other tips and tricks to amazing fortune telling? They’re all fake. The elements are the true key to otherworldly fortune telling. Master the elements and your Sim will master fortune telling.	Read “Psychic’s Guide to the Elements” and return to work to increase your job performance and relationship with your boss.
Fictional Fortunes	Your Sim is becoming a master of accurate fortune telling. Just one problem – not all fortunes are good! Nobody likes to hear a bad fortune and the key to repeat business is ending on a happy note.	Read “Turning Bad Fortunes Good” and return to work to increase your job performance and relationship with your boss.
Help Investigation	The case of the missing Golden Llama is getting ice cold and the local police could sure use your Sim’s help! Only a psychic can dissect the scene of the crime to reveal the criminal mastermind.	Go to the Police Station and offer your psychic services.
Give Private Reading	Your client is very important, so your Sim better deliver a favorable fortune!	Give a Private Reading.
Stay Late	Murphy’s Law has no boundaries. Of course nobody needed their fortune told until the end of your Sim’s shift. And fortunes aren’t going to tell themselves.	Stay late to help read fortunes.
Forsake My Fairy Charms	Some will do anything for love, even if it means giving up being a fairy for your loved one.	Go to the Arboretum to Forsake the Fae and lose your fairy powers.
Forsake My Vampire Guile	If true love was meant to be, then losing your Sim’s vampiric powers is in their destiny. It also means no more need for Vampiric Sunscreen!	Enter the Vault of Antiquity to forsake your Sim’s vampiric powers and become a human Sim.
Forsake My Witchitude	Your Sim has a decision to make: lose the fur and become a human or keep the beast within. The choice won’t be easy but true love’s destiny will show the way.	Go to the Day Spa to Forsake Werewolf Powers and become a normal, not so hairy human Sim.
Forsake My Werewolf Powers	In the name of love, your Sim can lose their witchy ways and fancy spells to become a normal every day human Sim.	Go to the Science Lab to Forsake Witchitude and lose all those magical spells to become a human Sim.
Becoming a Fairy (step 1)	Not everyone has the opportunity to become a fairy, but for a lucky few it’s the chance of a lifetime!	Find a Bloodstone, Moonstone, Sunstone, and Yellow Sapphire and bring them to the Arboretum.

Becoming a Fairy (step 2)	Just a small taste of being a fairy was quite thrilling for your Sim. The first step was a small one, but the next step in becoming a fairy won't be so easy!	Return the following four Nice Quality or better harvestables to the Arboretum: Beeswax, Spotlight Mushroom, Glow Orb Mushroom, and Ghost Chili.
Becoming a Fairy (step 3)	If Pollen Punch is any indication, it's totally gonna be worth it to take the next step in becoming a fairy!	Find the following four Metals and return them to the Arboretum: Iron, Palladium, Silver, and Gold.
Becoming a Fairy (step 4)	This is it! Your Sim is so close to becoming a fairy they can feel the pixie dust on their fingers!	Bring the following four butterflies back to the Arboretum: Moth, Monarch, Gold, and Red.
Alchemic Mastery (step 1)	Any Sim can become a great alchemist, but achieving Alchemic Mastery is something few individuals can achieve. It won't be easy but for those who dare its quite an accomplishment!	Find four insects of any kind and return them to the Science Lab.
Alchemic Mastery (step 2)	Buckle up because now things are getting serious! Your Sim handled the first challenge with aplomb, but will they be able to continue in their quest for Alchemic Mastery?	Return the following three Nice Quality or better harvestables to the Arboretum: Wolfsbane, Mandrake, and Red Valerian.
Alchemic Mastery (step 3)	Precious gems and metals hold the key to unlocking Alchemic Mastery. Nothing can stop your Sim now in separating themself from a common run of the mill alchemist.	Return any two of each Gem or Metal to the Vault of Antiquity.

New Socials

The many new socials in University Life greatly increase the number of conversation options available to your Sims. All the original socials from The Sims 3 are still available, but this new set of socials is added to the mix so your Sims have even more to gab about—and more avenues for building relationships. Several socials are related to the three social groups on campus. Others are available depending on skill or academic choices and more.

Note

Most socials affect LTR (Long Term Relationship). That's the measurement of your overall relationship with another Sim. The STC (Short Term Commodity) of a social influences LTR. For example, if you use multiple Friendly STC socials and they are well received, that improves the LTR with the other Sim in the conversation, which we call the Target Sim in the following chart of new socials.

The following table includes socials added to University Life. Use it to help guide conversations. Here's how the table breaks down:

- Social: Name of social as seen in the conversation menu
- Commodity: Commodity associated with the social
- Actor/Target Age: Ages in which the social is applicable
- C = Child
- T = Teen
- Y = Young Adult
- A = Adult
- E = Elder
- Social Available When?: What prompts the use of the social
- Social Group Actor?: Social is exclusive to Actors in this social group
- Social Group Target?: Social is exclusive to Targets in this social group
- Special Success Result?: If social is successful, the following special condition or reward happens.

New Careers & Skills

New Careers & Skills

University Life introduces new careers and skills to The Sims 3. These provide new livelihoods and experiences for your Sims. Many of the skills and careers in University Life are attuned to campus life. At the University, going to school is a career in itself. But socializing is an important part of campus life also. Sims can gain Influence with the three social groups, and by advancing to the top levels of theses groups, Sims can unlock the three new careers of Art Appraisal, Sports Agent, and Video Game Developer. Plus there are three new skills: Science, Social Networking, and Street Art.

Note

There are also two new hidden skills: Bowling and Ping Pong, which are based on activities that Sims can enjoy while at Sims University.

New Careers

While you are at Sims University, you are focusing on the Academics career as you work toward a degree. However, once you return to your home, you have access to three new careers that must be unlocked either at the University or in your home town.

Most of your work at Sims University takes place in the buildings where classes are held.

The three new careers are by invitation only. Each one is related to one of the three social groups. Once you max out your Influence in one of the social groups, you will receive a job offer once you are back home.

There are multiple ways to advance a career. Promotions are the most common benchmark of success and always come with a one-time Simoleon bonus, but there are social aspects to each career that involve getting to know co-workers, which has the potential to widen your circle of friends. While at work, you can set the "tone" for your performance (more on this in a moment), which affects how you interact with co-workers or approach the job itself. As you advance, your schedule changes and your salary rises. Typically, there are perks or benefits for hitting certain promotions.

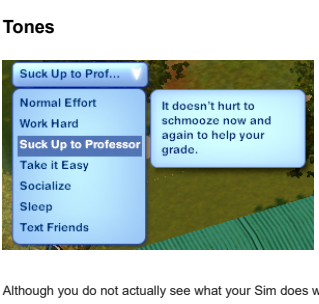
When you return from Sims University with a degree, you can post your resume. A menu appears on the screen after you are back home. Just select to post your resume and it will automatically go out to prospective employers. If you have a degree when posting your resume, you'll start your career at a much high level then you would have normally. For more information on degrees and careers, see the University Life chapter. For careers related to your degree, you can begin at the highest level in the career.

Tip

Going to work in a good mood boosts your chances of promotion. Do something fun the night before work so you have some great moodlets when you go to the job.

You can be fired from a career. If you stop showing up for work, your employer will call you and let you know that your services are no longer needed. You can also perform so poorly on the job that you're handed a pink slip. So, keep a good eye on the Performance meter in the Career tab of the Status panel. It's also a good cheat sheet for the requirements that the next promotion is based on.

Tones



Although you do not actually see what your Sim does while on the job (at least for standard careers versus professions or being self-employed), you can select general behavior for that work day through tones. Tones include behaviors such as working hard, getting to know co-workers, and sucking up to the boss. Many of these tones play into earning promotions at work, so look at the provided promotion requirements for each career to see what tones are best for the next step in that career.

Not all tones are available from the first day. In some careers, additional tones are earned when you reach specific promotions or choose a specific career path. The Academics career has its own unique tones as well.

RETIRING

Later in life, Sims can retire from a career and make a daily pension. This pension is smaller than the wages normally made at that promotion level, but it is a great way to pull in daily income for necessary food and objects while pursuing skills.

Academics

The Career panel is replaced with an Academics panel while at Sims University.

Academics is the only career you can have at Sims University. It begins when you enroll at the University and consists of attending classes, lectures, and experiences in your area of study. Unlike normal careers, you do not earn a salary. Instead, you pay your tuition up front at the start of the term when you enroll. This section focuses on the work of earning a degree. For more information on enrolling and college experiences, check out the chapter on University Life.

- Location: University Campus buildings
- How Begun: Enroll in University
- Work Week: M, T, W, Th, F
- Salary Progression: Unlike traditional careers, you do not earn a salary or progress through different levels of academics. Instead, you work to earn a grade and units toward your major. Click on the Academics tab to get the status of your studies.

Class Tones

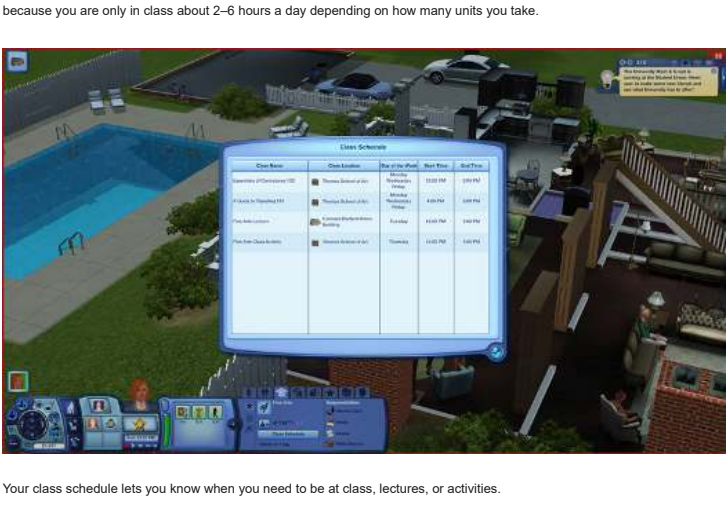
Tone	Benefit
Normal Effort	Just show up to class and pay attention. No more, no less.
Work Hard	No slacking allowed. You're here to learn! Adds Stress and decreases Fun.
Suck Up to Professor	It doesn't hurt to schmooze now and again to help your grade.
Take It Easy	Enjoy a stress free class and still manage to learn a little something.
Socialize	Hang out and catch up with your friends in the classroom. Increases Social.
Sleep	Sleep through the class. Increase Energy.
Text Friends	Texting is far less conspicuous than chatting during class. Increases Social.

Exam Tones

Tone	Benefit
Normal Effort	You're feeling confident in passing the exam. No special tricks needed.
Try Hard	Put your best effort into nailing the exam. Adds Stress and decreases Fun.
Beg Professor for a Good Score	Make up for a lack of studying by pleading your case to the professor.
Take It Easy	You got it. Cruise through the exam and hope for a good score. Increases Fun.
Socialize	Exam is just another word for hanging out with your friends. Increases Social.
Sleep	Sleep through the exam. You may not pass, but you gain Energy.
Cheat on Exam	Use everything at your disposal to cheat through the exam, but risk getting caught.
Text Friends	Socialize by texting friends while playing some attention to the exam. Increases Social.

Academic Development

After enrolling at Sims University, picking a major, and arriving at the campus, you receive an Academic Schedule. This is essentially when you have to be in class or at a lecture. The hours of class are much shorter than a traditional career because you are only in class about 2–6 hours a day depending on how many units you take.



Your class schedule lets you know when you need to be at class, lectures, or activities.

To graduate with a degree, you must complete four responsibilities. They are Attend Class, Study, Exams, and Skills/Objects. Attendance is a major part of this. Students are expected to attend their classes, lectures, and activities to maintain their academic performance. Missing one or more of these can cause your performance to drop. In addition, students must study from a textbook, computer, or smart phone. These are easy ways to maintain your academic performance while on the go and prevent your grades from slipping. Exams are always on Friday at the end of the term. They can have a significant impact on your Sim's final academic performance. In addition, you can increase academic performance by improving related skills and interacting with specific objects.

You can't see what is going on during class; however, you can set the tone. Monitor your progress on the Academics panel.

Once the term officially begins on Monday, an Academic Performance meter appears on the right side of the Academics panel. If you want to get an A for the term, then you need to fill the meter so it is close to full with green. The meter begins halfway up. Complete your requirements to raise the meter. If it drops below half, you are in danger of not passing the term.

Tip

If you want to ace your exams, be sure to be in a good mood and have a high academic performance when you arrive.

Lectures and Activities

Lectures can be boring. However, get involved to avoid falling asleep.

In addition to classes, you usually have one day of lecture and one day of activities each week. Lectures are held in the Student Union building. Unlike classes where you can set the tone, during lectures you can select a number of socials such as Taking Notes or Asking Questions by clicking on your Sim and selecting a social of your choice. Select the white boards to Watch Presentation. These socials can increase your academic performance, while sleeping or chatting with other students can decrease it. Activities usually involve working with an object. For example, when pursuing a Fine Arts degree, your activity for the week is sketching. This practical experience usually takes place on Thursdays.

Academic Objects

When you first enroll at Sims University and select a major, you are given an object that you can use to help study and advance toward a degree in that major. Use this object on a regular basis to get a good grade and pass your courses. Here are the objects specific to each major.

Business—Portable Business Planner

Technology—Brain Enhancing Machine

Science & Medicine—Anatomy Skeleton

Communications—Mobile Radio Station

Fine Arts—Sketchbook

Physical Education—Anatomy Skeleton

Studying and Skills

Take some time to study for your classes.

Work on the skills you need to complete your degree.

When you enroll and select a major, you receive a textbook for your course of study. Take time to read it during your down time. This can help ensure that you get an A in the class. In addition, you can always use your smart phone to study wherever you might be. Finally, use your own laptop or computer, or one of the computers in the Student Union, to study for your classes. Yes, you can do something on computer besides playing video games.

Most majors also have related skills. Work on those skills to increase your academic performance. You can also use those skills in future endeavors. While there is a lot to do at Sims University, be sure to focus on your academics. There will still be time for fun.

Art Appraiser

In the Art Appraiser career, Sims verify the authenticity of artwork. Then they can either choose to detect forgeries, or create them. This is a good job if you also earned the Fine Arts degree at the University and have been working on art-related skills such as Painting. Unlike most jobs, this career is only offered to you once you have increased your Rebel social group Influence to its maximum level.

- Work Location: Criminal Warehouse, other locations throughout town
- How Hired: Invited upon maxing out Rebel Social Group Influence and returning home from Sims University
- Work Week: Varies by level of career
- Salary Progression: The Art Appraiser career path starts at a higher-than-average beginning salary level and the pay increases as the Sim approaches the higher levels of the career, eventually earning a better-than-average amount.

Art Appraiser Career Path

Level	Title	Weekly Base Pay	Work Days	Hours in a Day	Metrics	Special Benefit?
1	Eager Artist	900	M, T, W, Th, F	6	Mood
2	Savvy Scanner	1,000	M, T, W, Th, F	5	Mood, Art Work Scanned	Scan Work of Art unlocked

5	Master Transporter	1,750	M, T, W, Th, F	5	Mood, Art Work Scanned

Art Appraiser Career Tones

Tone	Benefit
Business as Usual	Put an average amount of effort at work and receive an average amount of recognition for your work.
Work Hard	Work hard to increase performance, but increases Stress.
Take It Easy	Take it easy at work to reduce Stress.
Meet Co-workers	Meet your co-workers.
Hang with Co-workers	Build relationship with your co-workers.
Suck Up to Boss	Build relationship with the boss.
Practice Painting Skill	You can spend job time working on this skill. This option is only available at level 7 and higher.

Career Development

You begin the art appraiser career as just an artist. However, once you reach the second level, you gain the ability to Scan Works of Art. As part of your job, you will go around scanning art. By scanning art, you can further your career and receive promotions. At level 4, you get the ability to Pick Up Side Work. Continue scanning art for promotions and use your new ability to transport art around the town. Your Sim can continue to advance in the career; however, as he or she reaches level 6, you must decide which direction you want your Sim's career to take. You can go into the Appraisal branch or the Acquisitions branch.

Appraisal Branch

Level	Title	Weekly Base Pay	Work Days	Hours in a Day	Metrics	Special Benefit?
6	Apprentice Appraiser	2,000	M, T, W, Th, F	5	Mood, Painting Skill
7	Snooty Surveyor	2,800	M, T, Th, F	4	Mood, Painting Skill	Advanced Art Training unlocked
8	Conservation Specialist	3,000	T, Th, Sa	4	Mood, Painting Skill
9	Authenticator	3,300	M, W, F	3	Mood, Painting Skill
10	Master Authenticator	5,400	M, W, F	3	Mood, Painting Skill

This branch of the career takes you in the direction of authenticating art and looking for counterfeits. When you reach level 7, you unlock Advanced Art Training, which you can do at work or on your own. When unlocked, this training will allow you to create paintings from any previous painting skill level. For example, a player with painting skill level 7 will have the option to create paintings from skill levels 1-6. So now you can go back and recreate some of your favorite masterpieces using the "Paint at skill level" interaction. However, you must eventually reach level 10 in Painting. One of your tasks is to find counterfeit art and take it to the Criminal Warehouse to verify it, then return it to its original location. Later you can check on the security of art displays by going to the Criminal Warehouse and planning a Pretend Heist. After doing this at a location, return to the warehouse to write up a report about the security flaws. To get promoted in this branch, you need to keep your mood up and improve your Painting skill.

Acquisitions Branch

Level	Title	Weekly Base Pay	Work Days	Hours in a Day	Metrics	Special Benefit?
6	Apprentice Counterfeiter	1,600	T, W, Sa, Su	5	Mood
7	Cartoon Counterfeiter	2,800	W, Th, Sa, Su	4	Mood	Advanced Art Training unlocked
8	Signature Sneak	3,800	T, W, Th, Sa	4	Mood
9	Forger	3,600	T, Sa	5	Mood, Painting Skill
10	Master Forger	5,000	W, Su	5	Mood, Painting Skill

This branch tends toward the criminal elements of art. You travel to locations to find artwork. Bring it back to the Criminal Warehouse and create a counterfeit of the art. Then return the original to the location. You can also do an Art Heist. Check on the security at the location where you want to steal the art. Go back to the warehouse and prepare a counterfeit. Then during the heist, you replace the original with the counterfeit so no one knows the original is missing. For this branch, you also need to complete the Advanced Art training and work on your Painting skill and mood to get promoted.

Sports Agent

If you like sports, what could be better than a career as a Sports Agent? For this job, your Sim is the agent of a professional sports team. While you start out as just a PR Assistant, you can work your way up to the Team Owner. This career is only offered to you once you have increased your Jock social group Influence to its maximum level.

- Work Location: Stadium
- How Hired: Invited upon maxing out Jock Social Group Influence and returning home from Sims University
- Work Week: Monday through Friday
- Salary Progression: The Sports Agent career path starts at a slightly higher-than-average beginning salary level and the pay increases substantially as the Sim approaches the higher levels of the career.

10	Team Owner	9,000	M, T, Th	3.5	Mood, Relationship with Clients, Charisma Skill, Social Networking Skill	Acquire a Large Gold Sports Sculpture

Sports Agent Career Tones

Tone	Benefit
Business as Usual	Put an average amount of effort at work and receive an average amount of recognition for your work.
Research Sports Statistics	Work hard to increase performance, but increases Stress.
Play Sports on Smart Phone	Take it easy at work to reduce Stress.
Meet Clientele	Meet your clients.
Hang with Clientele	Build relationship with your clients.
Compliment Boss' Dry Cleaning	Build relationship with the boss.

Career Development

While this career may not be glamorous in the beginning, it gets much better as you are promoted. All of your work takes place at the Stadium. This career also offers several Opportunities related to your current level of employment. Early on, all you need is good mood to be promoted. However, you soon need to improve your relationships with your clients. Use this tone at work to help get promoted. Later on, you need to learn and then improve both the Charisma and Social Networking skills. If this is your dream job, it is a good idea to work on these skills while at Sims University. A degree in Communications may come in handy as well.

Video Game Developer

What if you could get paid to play video games—no, I really mean it. That is one of the tasks you must do in the Video Game Developer career. As with the other two jobs included in University Life, this career is also by invitation only. This time you need to max out your Influence with the Nerd social group.

- Work Location: Business Center
- How Hired: Invited upon maxing out Nerd Social Group Influence and returning home from Sims University
- Work Week: Varies by level of career
- Salary Progression: The Video Game Developer career path starts at a higher-than-average beginning salary level and the pay increases as the Sim approaches the higher levels of the career, eventually earning a better-than-average amount.

Business as Usual	Put an average amount of effort at work and receive an average amount of recognition for your work.
Crunch Time	Work hard to increase performance, but increases Stress.
Browse Web at Work	Take it easy at work to reduce Stress.
Office Party	Meet your co-workers.
Office Meetings	Build relationship with your co-workers.
Suck Up to Boss	Build relationship with the boss.
Work Research	Adds to online gaming hours and builds Social Networking skill.
On the Job Training	Builds either Painting or Logic skills depending on branch.

Career Development

This career requires good mood as well as putting in hours of playing video games if you want to be promoted. You also need to build up your relationships with your co-workers. When you reach level 4, then you have to pick which branch you want to go into. Both end up at the same place—Game Studio Head—but you can take different routes to get there. Select either Artist or Engineer branch and keep going.

Artist Branch

Level	Title	Weekly Base Pay	Work Days	Hours in a Day	Metrics	Special Benefit?
4	Pixel Pusher	1,900	M, T, W, Th, F	6	Mood, Game Hours, Build relationship with Co-workers, Painting skill
5	Character Modeler	2,250	M, T, W, Th, F	4	Mood, Game Hours, Build relationship with Co-workers, Painting skill	Work at Home unlocked, receive a Laptop
6	Senior Animator	3,025	M, T, W, Th, F	5	Mood, Game Hours, Build relationship with Co-workers, Painting skill
7	Art Director	3,600	M, T, W, Th, F	6	Mood, Game Hours, Build relationship with Co-workers, Painting skill	Discounts on Electronics
8	Lead Designer	4,400	M, T, W, Th	5	Mood, Build relationship with Co-workers, Writing skill, Social Networking skill
9	Executive Producer	6,280	M, T, W, Th	6	Mood, Build relationship with Co-workers, Writing skill, Social Networking skill
10	Game Studio Head	8,800	M, W, F	6	Mood, Build relationship with Co-workers, Writing skill, Social Networking skill	Hold Video Game Convention available at Theatre

This branch focuses on the graphics and art included in video games. To be promoted within the Artist branch, you need to keep up your mood and spend time playing games, but now you must also develop your Painting skill. If you have a Fine Arts degree from the University, this is a good branch to pursue. Eventually, you need to work on your Writing and Social Networking skills if you want to make it all the way to the top.

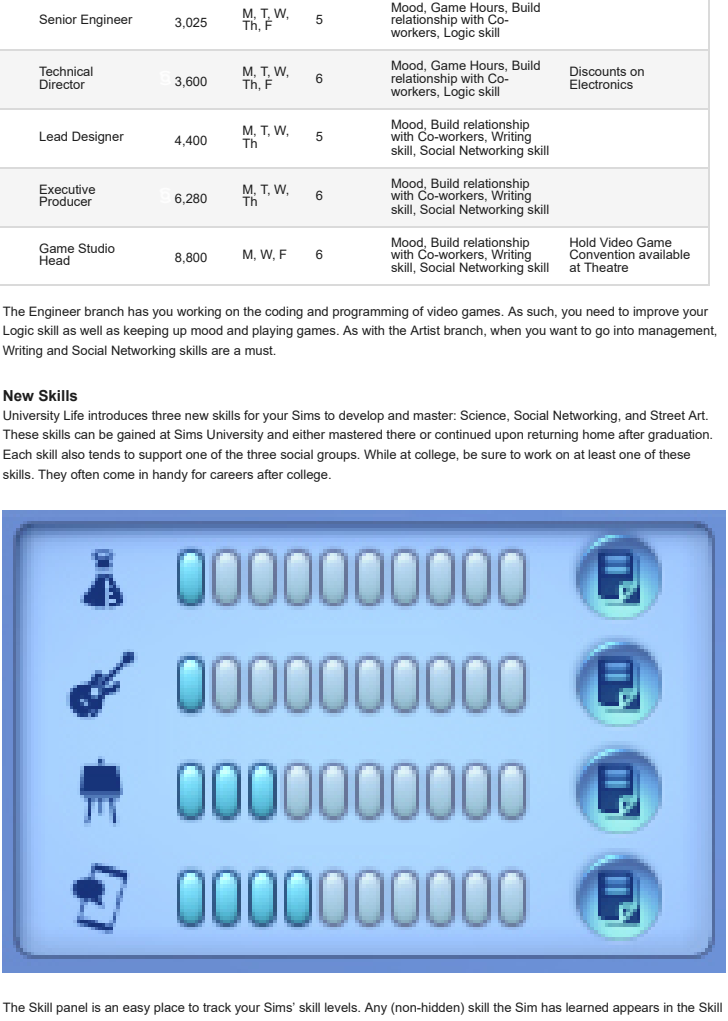
Engineer Branch

Level	Title	Weekly Base Pay	Work Days	Hours in a Day	Metrics	Special Benefit?
4	Code Monkey	1,900	M, T, W, Th, F	6	Mood, Game Hours, Build relationship with Co-workers, Logic skill
5	Game Programmer	2,250	M, T, W, Th, F	4	Mood, Game Hours, Build relationship with Co-workers, Logic skill	Work at Home unlocked, receive a Laptop
6	Senior Engineer	3,025	M, T, W, Th, F	5	Mood, Game Hours, Build relationship with Co-workers, Logic skill
7	Technical Director	3,600	M, T, W, Th, F	6	Mood, Game Hours, Build relationship with Co-workers, Logic skill	Discounts on Electronics
8	Lead Designer	4,400	M, T, W, Th	5	Mood, Build relationship with Co-workers, Writing skill, Social Networking skill
9	Executive Producer	6,280	M, T, W, Th	6	Mood, Build relationship with Co-workers, Writing skill, Social Networking skill
10	Game Studio Head	8,800	M, W, F	6	Mood, Build relationship with Co-workers, Writing skill, Social Networking skill	Hold Video Game Convention available at Theatre

The Engineer branch has you working on the coding and programming of video games. As such, you need to improve your Logic skill as well as keeping up mood and playing games. As with the Artist branch, when you want to go into management, Writing and Social Networking skills are a must.

New Skills

University Life introduces three new skills for your Sims to develop and master: Science, Social Networking, and Street Art. These skills can be gained at Sims University and either mastered there or continued upon returning home after graduation. Each skill also tends to support one of the three social groups. While at college, be sure to work on at least one of these skills. They often come in handy for careers after college.



The Skill panel is an easy place to track your Sims' skill levels. Any (non-hidden) skill the Sim has learned appears in the Skill panel. A meter next to the skill shows the Sim's level. Hover the cursor over the meter to see how close the Sim is to the next level. Click on the page to the right of each skill measurement to read the Skill Journal. The Skill Journal offers a detailed look at that specific skill, such as how long the Sim has been working at the skill and how many of a certain object/item related to that skill the Sim has made.

The Skill Journal also displays skill-specific challenges associated with that skill. Challenges are requirements that, when met, result in improved results or financial rewards for activities related to that skill. Each skill challenge is associated with a title.

Use these tips to speed skill development:

- Sims in a good mood develop a skill slightly faster.
- Use community equipment when just starting out to save a little cash. For example, when working on your Science skill, use the Research Stations in the Student Union.
- Unless you feel pressed for time to start developing a new skill, save books on the subject for skill levels higher than 2. Reading a book reduces the amount of time needed to attain the next level—within reason.

Science Skill

While there have been Science careers since the original The Sims 3, there has not been a Science skill. Not to worry, that oversight has been corrected. By developing the Science skill, you can get a boost in performance and salary at Science and Medical careers. Eventually you can get to the point where you can clone things such as minerals, plants, fish—and even other Sims!

- Acquire By: Use Science Research Station, take Science class, read Science books
- Development Tools: Science Research Station, Group Science Project at University, reading Science books (3 levels), taking Science classes at University or in town
- Age Availability: Teen, Young Adult, Adult, Elder

Development

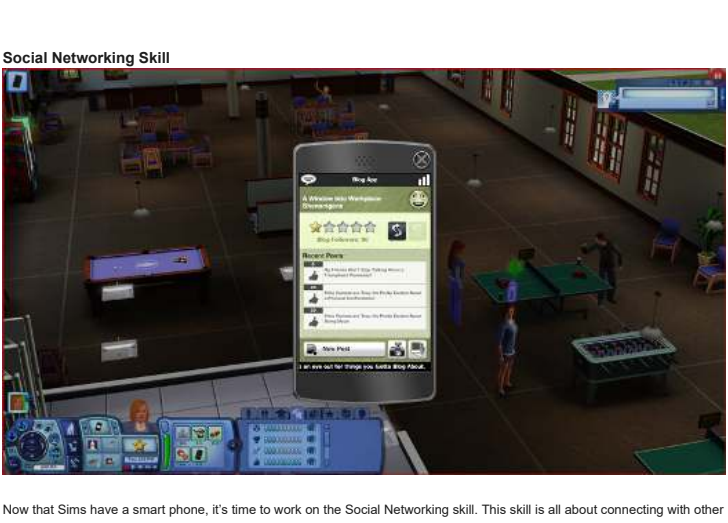
You can improve the Science skill by reading books or taking classes on the subject. You can also use the Science Research Station or complete a Group Science Project while you are at Sims University. Find collectibles and analyze them to further increase your skill. Not only can you earn Simoleons for collectibles, as you go collecting, you have a better chance of finding higher quality specimens. You can even work on your Science skill at parties by using scientific socials to test the mind, psyche, and reflexes of other Sims.

Level Progression

At each level of the Science skill, you gain access to new interactions and can even receive items. At the start, you can research Science. Below are the awards for each level.

- Level 1: Can use Ink Blot Test, Postulate Theory, and Stimulus Response socials.
- Level 2: Can now Research samples, Sell Scientific samples, and receive a variety of samples.
- Level 3: Can now Analyze Minerals and receive a rock and metal for your inventory.
- Level 4: Can now Analyze Plants and receive a herb and seed for your inventory.
- Level 5: Can now Correlate Scientific Data.
- Level 6: Can Analyze Insects and receive a beetle and butterfly for your inventory.
- Level 7: Can Analyze Fish and receive fish for your inventory.
- Level 8: Can now Take DNA Sample from Sims and receive some DNA samples for your inventory.
- Level 9: Can now Create Clone.
- Level 10: The Group Science Project is now available in your inventory.

Social Networking Skill



Now that Sims have a smart phone, it's time to work on the Social Networking skill. This skill is all about connecting with other Sims through blogs, texting, and just using smart phone apps. This skill can come in very handy for some of the new careers—especially at the higher levels. While this skill is great for Jocks, the other social groups can also benefit from this skill.

- Acquire By: Texting, Browsing the Web, reading a book on Social Networking
- Development Tools: Creating Blogs, Posting to Blogs, using Smart Phone apps, reading Social Networking books (3 levels)
- Age Availability: Teen, Young Adult, Adult, Elder

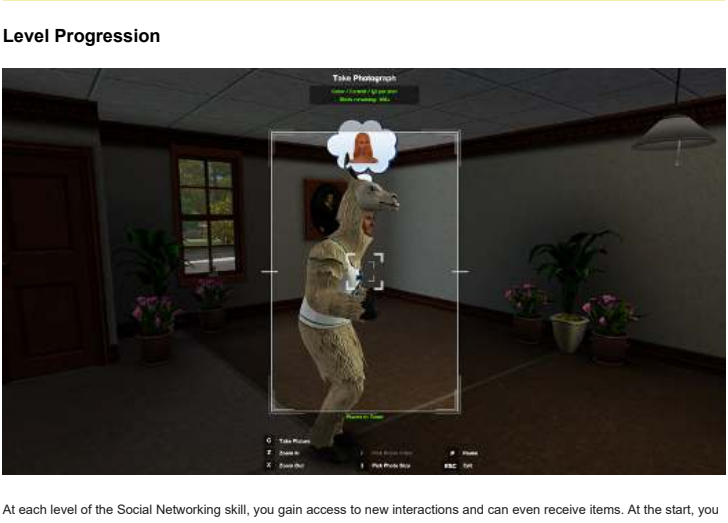
Development

It is easy to develop your Social Networking skill. While you can read books on the subject, you can also get onto your smart phone and start using it. Post videos, text other Sims, and create blogs. Blogging is one of the more important aspects of Social Networking. There are three different types of blogs you can create. Post items to the blog and wait for other Sims to become followers. If your current blog is not gaining followers, try something different that will appeal to more Sims. Eventually you can even begin to earn Simoleons with your blogs as you also improve your Social Networking skill. Successful blogs earn donations from followers, or you can get even more Simoleons if someone buys out your blog from you.

Note

The nice thing about the Social Networking skill is that you can work on it anywhere because you always have your smart phone with you in your inventory (it replaces the cell phone from previous games). In fact, no matter what your major at the University or social group, everyone can work on this skill.

Level Progression



At each level of the Social Networking skill, you gain access to new interactions and can even receive items. At the start, you can check your Social Status. Below are the awards for each level.

- Level 1: You get the Blogger App and can create Personal Blogs.
- Level 2: You get two new phone skins.
- Level 3: You can now create Reviewer Blogs and get a couple more skins.
- Level 4: You get the Sim Finder App.
- Level 5: You can now create News Blogs and get two more skins.
- Level 6: You get two new skins.
- Level 7: You get the Relationship Transmogrifier App with 3 relationship bits (Acquaintance, Disliked, Friend).
- Level 8: Get more bits for the Transmogrifier App (Romantic Interest, Stranger) and two new skins.
- Level 9: Get more bits for the Transmogrifier App (Enemy, Good Friend) and two new skins.
- Level 10: Get more bits for the Transmogrifier App (Best Friend, Partner) and two new skins.

Street Art Skill

Street art is painting on sidewalks or walls. While some may consider this graffiti—and at early levels it is—as you advance in this skill, you can create works of art for the public to enjoy. This skill is a complement to students earning a Fine Arts degree and can even be used to earn some money while at Sims University by getting commissions for art works. The downside is that not everyone appreciates street art and doing too much of it at one spot at one time can lead to your being arrested and paying a hefty fine.

- Acquire By: Purchasing a Street Art Bag (Avant Garde Sims automatically get one), take a class in street art
- Development Tools: White boards, statues, flat surfaces, reading Street Art books (3 levels)
- Age Availability: Teen, Young Adult, Adult, Elder

Development

While you can read books on street art, the best way to develop this skill is to practice it. Start off tagging walls and then progress to larger and more elaborate works. In addition, use white boards to practice your skill without the fear of being caught. There are also some statues that you can tag or paint to continue improving your skill. Every few moment, whip out the spray paint and leave your mark. As you advance, you can clean up your earlier works and leave behind more professional art.

Level Progression

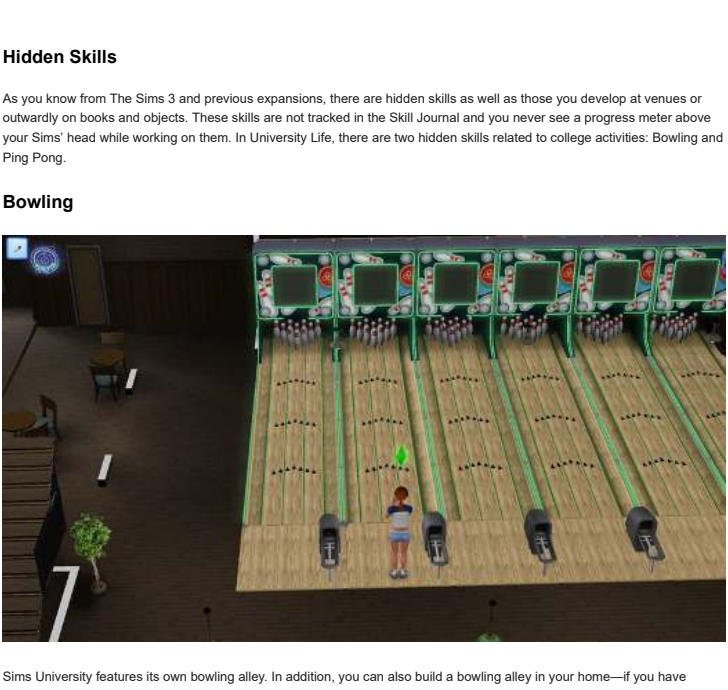
At each level of the Street Art skill, you gain access to new interactions and can even receive items. At the start, you can research, do small tags, and create Medium Ground Murals. Below are the awards for each level.

- Level 1: Can now paint Small Wall Murals.
- Level 2: As you are creating Wall or Ground Murals, nearby people will start giving you tips.
- Level 3: Can now do Medium Tags.
- Level 4: Can now paint Medium Wall Murals.
- Level 5: Can now create Large Ground Murals.
- Level 6: Earn some money by visiting City Hall or University Administration building to Check for Street Art Commissions (you can't be arrested while painting a commissioned work of street art).
- Level 7: Can create Large Wall Murals.
- Level 8: You now get a large increase in tip amounts.
- Level 9: You now have a much great chance of creating a masterpiece of Ground street art.
- Level 10: You now have a much great chance of creating a masterpiece of Wall street art.

Hidden Skills

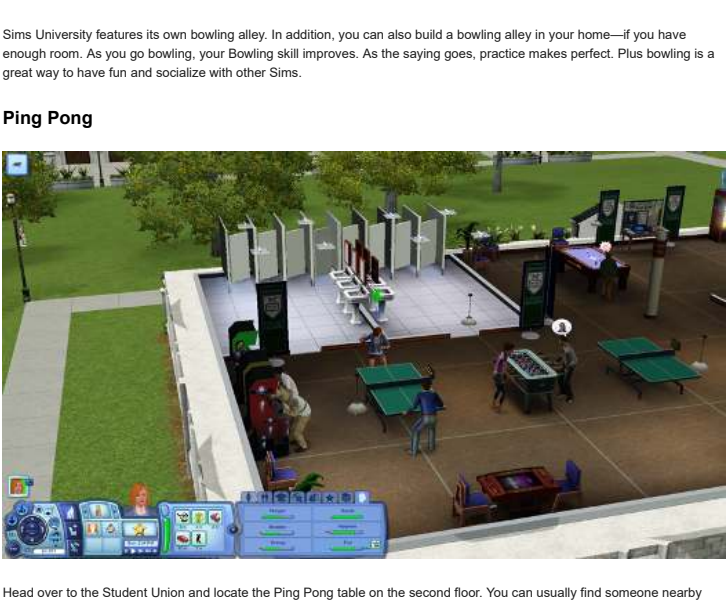
As you know from The Sims 3 and previous expansions, there are hidden skills as well as those you develop at venues or outwardly on books and objects. These skills are not tracked in the Skill Journal and you never see a progress meter above your Sims' head while working on them. In University Life, there are two hidden skills related to college activities: Bowling and Ping Pong.

Bowling



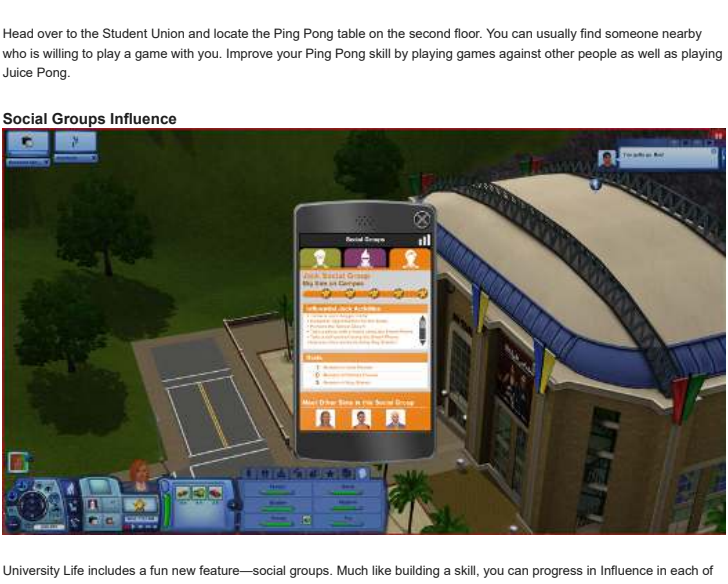
Sims University features its own bowling alley. In addition, you can also build a bowling alley in your home—if you have enough room. As you go bowling, your Bowling skill improves. As the saying goes, practice makes perfect. Plus bowling is a great way to have fun and socialize with other Sims.

Ping Pong



Head over to the Student Union and locate the Ping Pong table on the second floor. You can usually find someone nearby who is willing to play a game with you. Improve your Ping Pong skill by playing games against other people as well as playing Juice Pong.

Social Groups Influence



University Life includes a fun new feature—social groups. Much like building a skill, you can progress in Influence in each of the three social groups: Jocks, Nerds, and Rebels. However, Influence is not a skill, and it does not appear on the Skills panel. Instead whip out your smart phone and Check Social Groups. An app appears on your phone with screens for each social group. Here you can see what level you have progressed to with each group, learn what you need to do to improve your Influence with that group, and see related stats for that group. Social groups are not only a lot of fun, they also provide some cool rewards and unlocks. For example, by reaching level 10 of Influence in a social group unlocks a dream job related to that group.

Let's take a look at each of the social groups and learn what it takes to develop Influence for each, as well as what you can unlock.

Jocks

While this social group is called Jocks, it isn't just about sports. Instead, it is more of a social group that really likes to socialize—or in other words—PARTY!

Jock Social Group Influence Levels

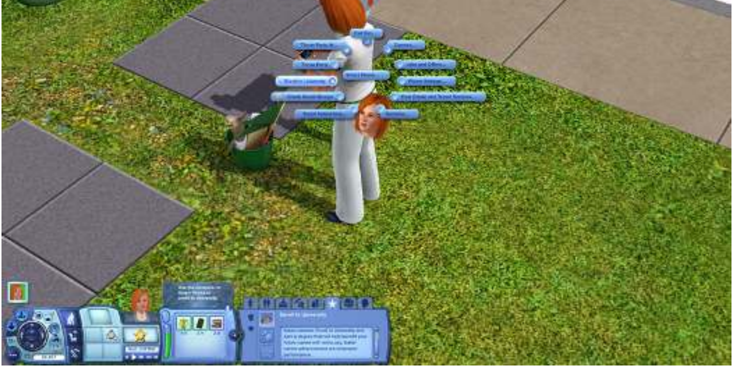
In Pursuit of Higher Education

In Pursuit of Higher Education

University Life offers a variety of new features for The Sims 3. They begin as soon as you install the expansion and either create a new Sim, take control of an existing household, or continue with your previously played Sims. Some of the new additions include an upgrade of your cell phone to a smart phone, the inclusion of social groups, new careers and new skills, and of course an entire new town—Sims University—where you can go to work on a college degree to further your career and professional life. Some of these additions have already been introduced and discussed in previous sections. However, this chapter really focuses on living in Sims University and going to college as well as some of the new tools you have to improve the lives of your Sims.

Smart Phone



The new smart phone has several new abilities to help you at home as well as at college.

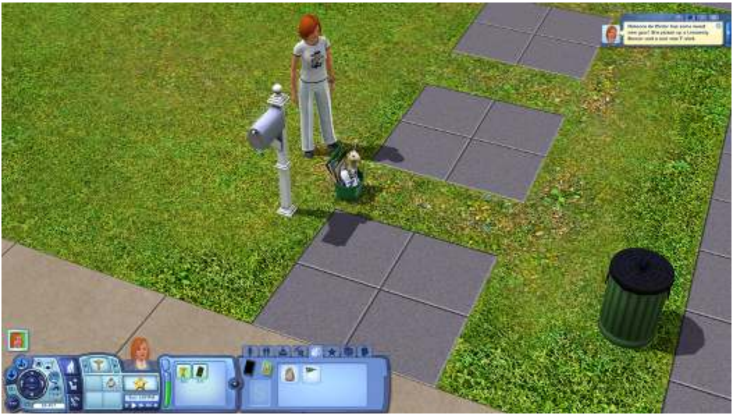
When you return to your home or create a new game after installing University Life, you no longer have a cell phone. Don't despair, you have not lost your mobile communication ability. Instead, your cell phone has been upgraded, free of charge, to a new smart phone. This new phone has some incredible features. Sims can now browse the web from their smart phones, send text messages to other Sims, stream videos, check social groups, study, and engage in Social Networking. In fact, Social Networking is a brand new skill that you can learn and develop. It is discussed in greater detail in the previous chapter. However, with Social Networking, you can use your smart phone to blog and earn new apps for your phone to take your socializing to the next level.

Note

Be sure to check out the new features on your smart phone. While you might be used to your old cell phone, the smart phone has so much more to offer. It is especially useful at Sims University where you can use it in-between classes to study rather than going home or to the library. Also frequently use your smart phone to check on your progress with the three social groups. This app helps you keep track of what you have done, what you need to do, and at what level your Influence is with each social group.

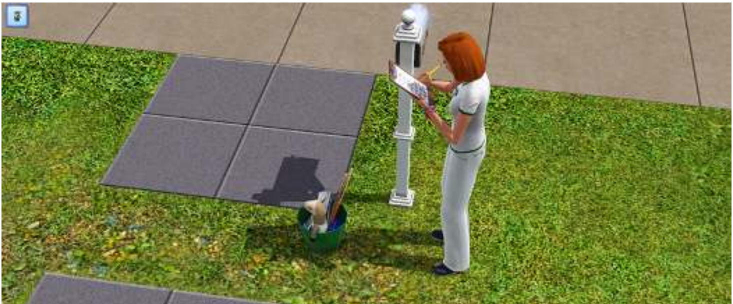
Enrolling at Sims University

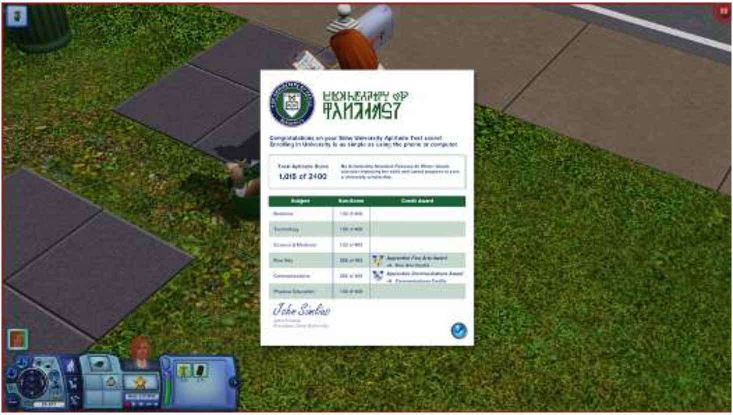
Get excited about llamas bearing gifts. This is your ticket to the university. If you have a Sim who is a teen or older, the llama mascot will pay a visit to your home bearing a basket of goodies. Be sure to talk to the mascot because this gives you your first chance to begin working on one of the social groups. Notice that when you place the cursor over another Sim, the box that appears with their name is now colored to illustrate to which social group they belong. The Jocks are Orange, the Rebels are purple, and the Nerds are light green. This information box also lets you know how many people of each of the three social groups that Sims knows. Socializing with a Sim in a specific social group helps you begin building Influence with that group.



Put on the school gear in the basket and get ready to apply to the university.

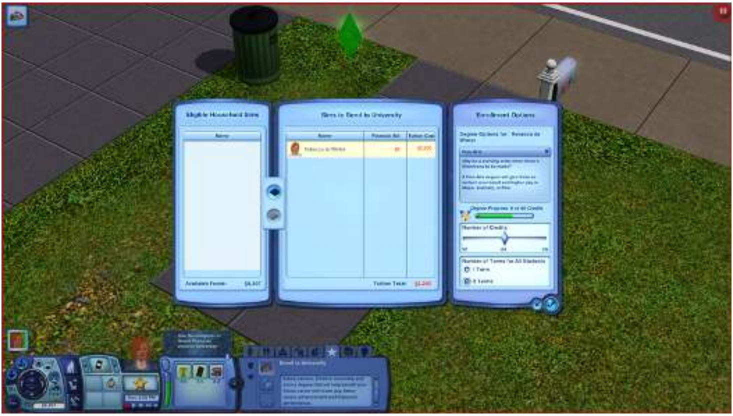
After talking to the llama mascot, and maybe even doing a school cheer if he or she is a Jock, take a look inside the basket. You get some cool new gear including a university banner as well as a T-shirt. Go ahead and put it on and show some school spirit. There is also a University Aptitude Test in the basket. Select the Sims in your household you want to go to college and have them take the test. This does not take long, and no studying is required. Instead, this test considers the Sim’s traits and skills. Depending on these attributes, your Sim may get credits in one or more majors before you ever even set foot onto campus.





Take the University Aptitude Test and then review the results. This helps you determine a good major for your Sim.

In addition to providing credits for majors in one or more of the six areas of study, the Aptitude Test can also qualify your Sim to receive a scholarship to help pay for tuition. Review the test results, which are returned to you immediately upon completion of the test. Now it is time to get the ball rolling. When you are ready to begin your pursuit of higher education, use a computer or your smart phone to enroll in the university.



The university enrollment window is where you arrange for your higher education.

As you begin the enrollment process, a new window pops up on the screen. Here you select which Sim from your household will be attending Sims University. If you have received any scholarships, these will appear along with the cost of tuition. On the right side of the window, you select your options. First pick one of the six majors to study. Depending on the results of your Aptitude Test, you may already have six units in one or more majors.

After selecting a major for a degree, you then must determine the number of credits you want to take each term. You can select 6, 12, or 18. For every 6 credits, you will be taking one class. Therefore, the more credits you sign up for, the more time you will spend in class and studying. Each term is one week long. You can enroll for one or two terms (one or two weeks) which you will complete before you return home. In order to graduate, you must earn 48 credits in one degree. Therefore, it will take you at least three terms to complete a degree because the most you can earn is 36 credits in one enrollment of two terms. The more credits you take and the more terms you attend, the higher your tuition.

Note

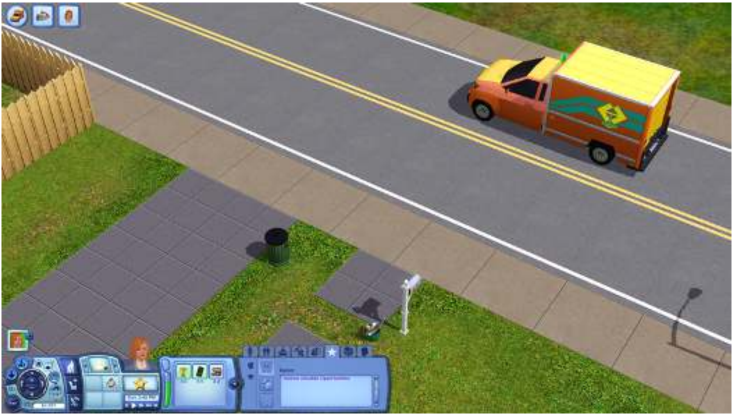
If you do not have enough credits at the end of your choice, you will not earn a degree but must enroll in the university again and earn the remaining credits you need to graduate.

Degree's

Degree	Description	Careers Benefitted
Business	Unlock the world of wheeling and dealing for Simoleons and power.	Business and Criminal
Communications	Sims who love interaction with others are great candidates for Communication.	Journalism, Political, and Fortune Telling
Fine Arts	Why be a starving artist when there are Simoleons to be made?	Music, Culinary, and Film
Physical Education	Degrees in Physical Education are meant for Sims who can't sit at a desk all day.	Professional Sports
Science and Medicine	Learn all about the building blocks of life and even do some good for the world.	Science and Medicine
Technology	Embrace the high tech lifestyle—technophobes need not apply!	Military and Law Enforcement

Tip

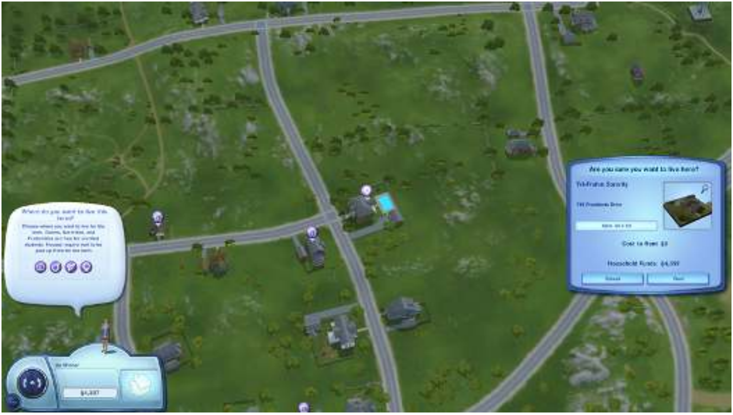
When deciding on the number of terms you want to take and the number of credits per term, you need to consider your purpose at Sims University. If you just want to get your degree as quickly as possible and get back home to a job, then max out on your credits by taking 18 each term. This does not leave large amounts of time for socializing and doing other activities at Sims University. However, if you want to really work on your social groups, then consider taking only 6 or 12 credits per term so you have more free time. Taking fewer credits per term also gives you more time to study so you can get high grades in your classes.



Once you enroll, be ready to leave immediately. A moving van arrives shortly to take you to Sims University.

If you want to take anything with you to Sims University, be sure to pack it up before you complete the enrollment. For example, if you have some nice furniture or other items you want to take with you, put it in your personal inventory or your family inventory from the Buy menu. Then after you complete the enrollment, you are all ready for the moving van to come pick you up and drive you to Sims University. When the terms are over and it is time to come home, be sure to pack up your things again so you can bring them home with you.

Housing

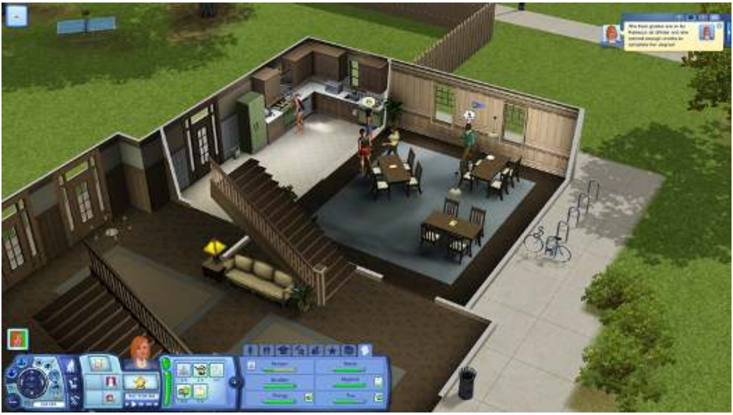


Pick a place where you want to live while attending Sims University.

When you first arrive at the college town of Sims University, you must select the location where you want to live. You have a choice of three different dorms, a fraternity or sorority depending on your gender, and several homes that you can rent. Dorms, the sorority, and the fraternity all offer free rent for students while they are in college. The homes' rent varies in price from reasonably inexpensive to very expensive. The rental agreement is just for the one or two terms you selected when you enrolled. When you come back, you can select the same housing again or try something different. For more information on the various housing options and lots, check out the Tour of the University chapter.

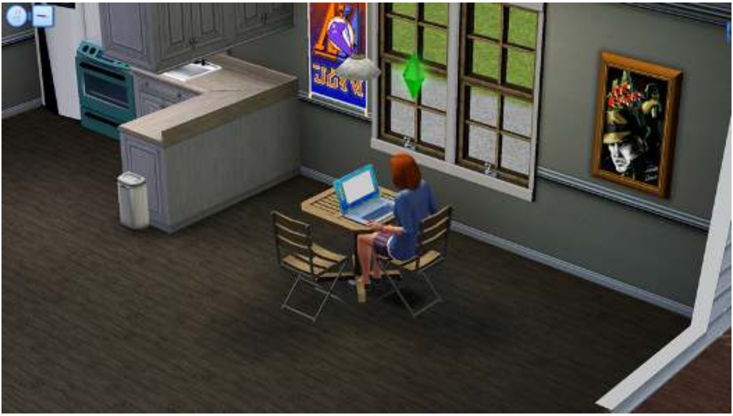
Tip

If it is your first time at Sims University, try either the dorms or the fraternity/sorority. You do not know anyone in the campus town, and these housing options provide lots of access to Sims for socializing. The dorms are coed so you can meet Sims of both genders while the fraternity and sorority only have male and female residents respectively. However, that does not mean Sims of opposite genders won’t show up for the parties. When you come back to the university for a second or subsequent degree, consider renting one of the homes. By then you probably have more money and will likely want to take lot of credits and concentrate on your studies rather than other college activities.



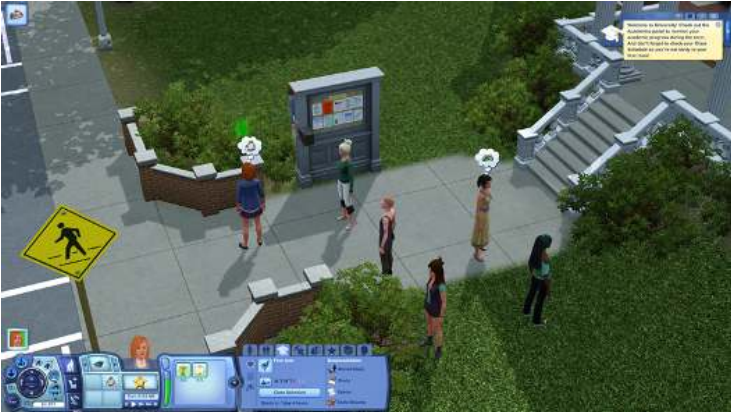
Dorms are great places to meet several Sims of both genders. All three are located right on campus so it is a quick walk to your classes.

Want to socialize a bit more on the wild side? The fraternity and sorority have nice amenities and frequent parties.



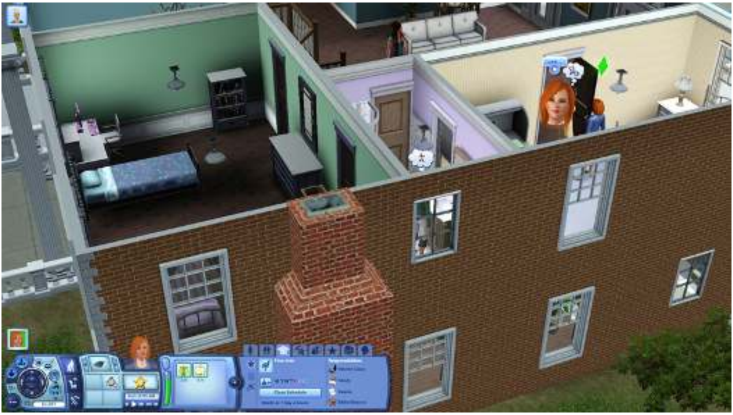
If you prefer to live on your own or with just a few roommates, then rent a home. Choose from several in a variety of price ranges.

Getting Settled



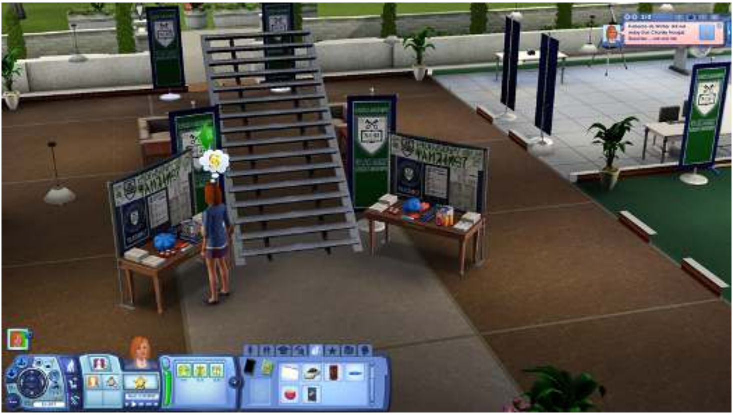
Mingle with your new roommates and get to know them.

When you first arrive at Sims University, the moving van drops you off at your new home. If you are staying at one of the dorms or the sorority or fraternity, your new roommates are outside mingling. First thing, figure out which room you want for yourself. Pick a room with a single bed so you can have it all to yourself. Click on the bed and assign it to your Sim. You can also choose to assign the other beds to your roommates as you choose. You can also lock the door to your room so that only your Sim and any others you choose may enter your room. This will give you some privacy if you don't want other Sims wandering into your room and starting conversations when your Sim should be sleeping, studying, or doing some other action.



Select a bed for your Sim and then lock your door if you want some privacy.

University Meet and Greet



Be sure to pick up the freebies on the tables at the entrance. Free stuff is always a good thing.

- Shortly after arriving at your home, you receive a notification that the University Meet and Greet is starting at the Student Union building. Your Sim will automatically head over to this event unless you choose to cancel the action. It is a good idea to attend the Meet and Greet—especially your first time at Sims University. When you arrive at the Student Union, notice a couple tables near the staircase. They hold some free stuff you can pick up to add to your inventory. You can get a flying disc, a kicky bag, a candy bar, a soda, and a university poster. In addition, you can read about your school schedule and learn about the curriculum for your major. You can also choose to talk to your professor. This is always a good idea because building a good relationship with your professor can help you get a good grade. Who knows, you might even be invited to one of the professor's parties. That is always a good way to score some extra credit as well as socialize with other Sims.

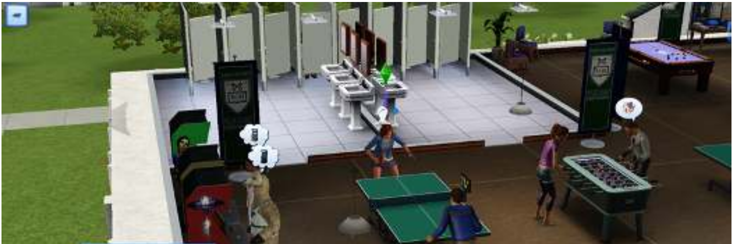
Check out some of the literature on the Meet and Greet table to learn more about how academics work and to get more details on your specific major.

After checking out the Meet and Greet table, take a look around the Student Union. The downstairs has a science research room, a computer room, and the lecture hall. No matter which major you chose, you always have a lecture once a week. The lecture hall is where you must report for this class.

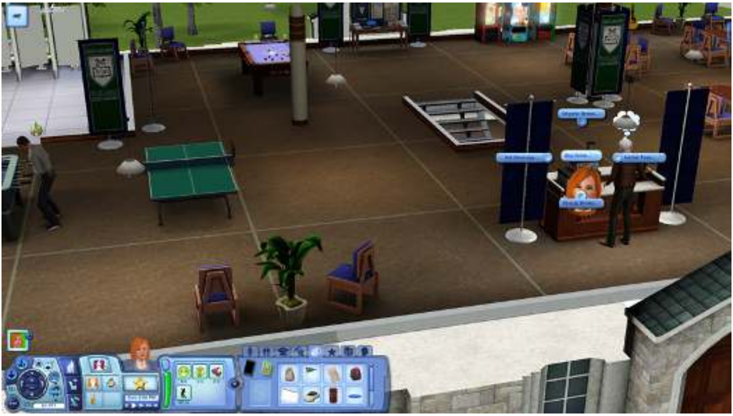


Have some fun upstairs at the Student Union.

After taking a tour of the ground floor of the Student Union, head upstairs to see where all the fun happens. This floor is a great place to go blow off steam, relax, socialize, and just have a good time. Several other Sims have come to the Meet and Greet. Get to know them and play a game of foosball or ping pong with your new acquaintances. This can help your Influence with the Jock social group right away. Or play a video game to begin working on your Influence with the Nerd group. If you want to start up Influence with the Rebels, go to the Barista and order an organic brew. No matter which social group you are interested in joining, you can get a good start at the Meet and Greet. Also search out Sims in those groups and begin conversations with them to further increase your Influence.

Tip

While at the Meet and Greet, you may be able to select a wish you can complete to increase your Lifetime Happiness. Often it is something simple like Eat Candy or Drink Soda. Because these items are free at the Meet and Greet table, be sure to pick one up and complete the wish before you leave.



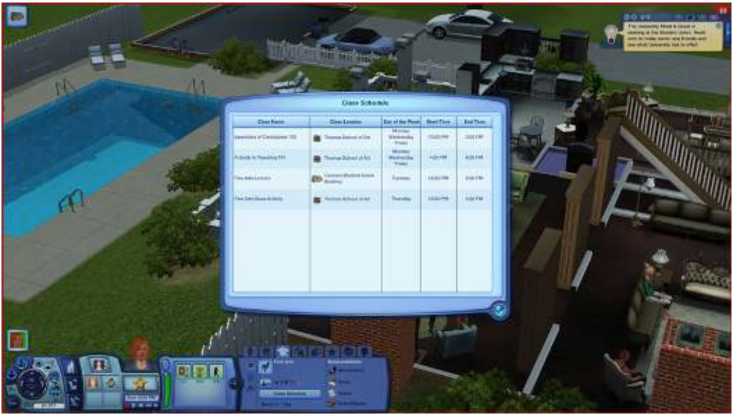
While the Barista is not always at the Student Union, he or she is there serving beverages during the Meet and Greet.

If you succeed in making some acquaintances at the Meet and Greet or other places in town, you might get invited to a party. The sorority and fraternity usually have a party the first night for their residents. Be sure to get some juice to drink and get to know your roommates a bit better. However, don't stay out too late the first night at Sims University. You have class bright and early Monday morning. Get back to your home and get to bed. Going to class can take a lot out of you, so you don't want to begin the day already tired.

Tip

Because getting a good night’s sleep is very important if you want to get good grades and have enough energy to do some fun activities as well, consider purchasing a new bed. The beds that come with the dorms and the sorority and fraternity, as well as the lower rent homes, are very basic. A bed with a good energy level and a stress relief bonus can really pay for itself in the fast paced life at college. You can always take the bed home with you when the term is over by placing it into your family inventory.

Class Schedule



Be sure to check your class schedule so you know when you have to be in class.

When you are at Sims University, the Career tab for your Sim is replaced with the Academic tab. This lets you know how long until your next class starts as well as your level of academic progress. However, at the start, you will want to click on the Class Schedule button. This brings up your class schedule for the term. You have some type of class or activity every day of the week from Monday through Friday. These five days make up one term. On Mondays and Wednesdays you have your normal classes. The number of classes is determined by how many credits you are taking that term. There is one class for every six credits. Each class is two hours long and you have two hours in-between classes. On Tuesdays and Thursdays your Sim has either a lecture or a class activity—one of each during the week. Each lecture or class activity is two hours long and you only have one per day no matter how many credits you are taking. When Friday rolls around, you return to each of your classes for the final exam. Don't miss these Friday exams or you risk failing your classes for the term.

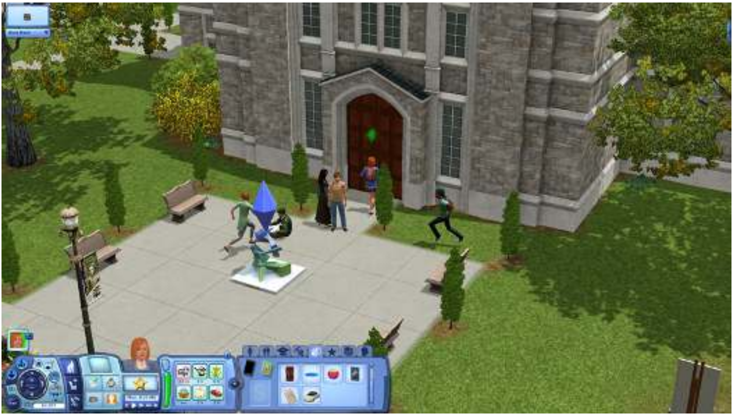
Tip

Study your class schedule on Sunday so you know what to expect on Monday as well as the rest of the week. You need to plan time to take care of your needs such as eating, sleeping, hygiene, and even socializing as well as leaving time to study. The more credits you take, the more important it is to make sure you fit it all in during the week.

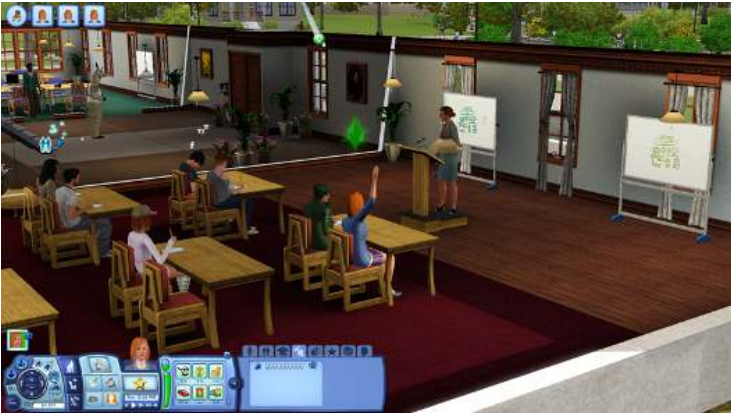
Going to Class

If you get a late start, your Sim will have to run to get to class on time.

When Monday morning arrives, be sure to get to class on time. Classes are your career while at Sims University. You go into a building and the only control you have over your Sim is to set the tone. You can put in normal effort, work hard, suck up to the professor, take it easy, socialize, sleep, or text friends. If you select the Academic tab, you can see how your academic progress is going. It increases when you go to class and put in normal effort as well as by studying. It increases even more when you work hard, but it decreases when you sleep in class, socialize, or skip class altogether. The position of the meter at the end of the term determines the grades you receive. If you want to get A's, be sure the meter is near the top when Friday rolls around. Also look for Opportunities related to your major that can give you extra credit and help increase your academic progress.



Once you enter a building for a class, all you can do is set the tone of your effort until class is over. While you have classes two days every week, one day per week—either Tuesday or Thursday, you have a lecture. All lectures take place at the lecture hall inside the Student Union. It is very easy to get bored during a lecture and fall asleep. Therefore, you have to work to stay awake and increase your academic progress. Select actions such as Attend Lecture, Ask Questions, and Take Notes to help you stay focused on the lecture. Even though it is only two hours, some lectures can tend to drag.

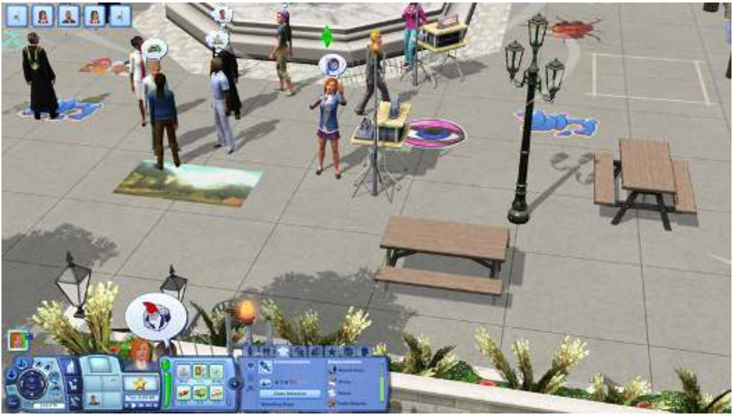


Stay awake during lectures by participating as much as possible. An organic brew or energy drink can also help.

On either Tuesday or Thursday, whichever day you do not have a lecture, you must report to the campus for your activity class. Here you will use the academic object that was given to you when you enrolled and selected a major. These two hours of activity class not only increase your academic progress, they also improve a skill related to your major. Here are the academic objects you get for each major:

- Business—Portable Business Planner

- Technology—Brain Enhancing Machine
- Science & Medicine—Anatomy Skeleton
- Communications—Mobile Radio Station
- Fine Arts—Sketchbook
- Physical Education—Anatomy Skeleton



Activity classes have you use objects related to your major to help build skills.

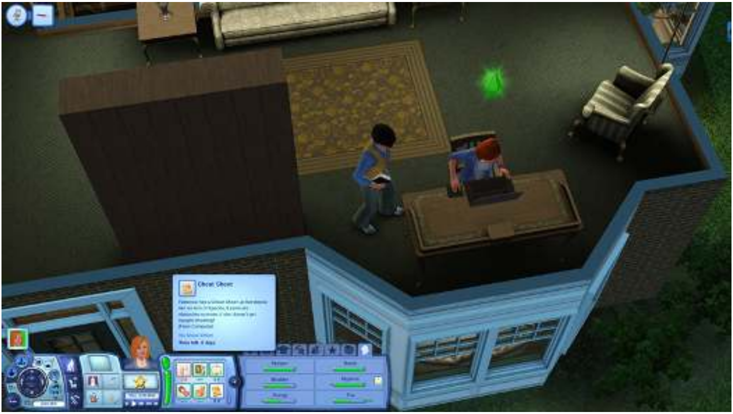
For example, if you are studying either Science and Medicine or Physical Education, during your activity class, you will be using your anatomy skeleton to study. This also increases the Science skill. Communications students head to the quad and use their mobile radio stations to broadcast on the ether and increase their Charisma skill. In addition to using your object for the activity class, you should also use it outside of class during the week to study and prepare for the exams at the end of the week.

Before you know it, Friday morning rolls around. Whether you are ready or not, it is time to take your exams. Once again you return to the buildings where your classes were held. This time the tones are a bit different because they reflect the effort you are putting on your exams. You can select normal effort, try hard, beg professor for a good score, take it easy, socialize, sleep, text friends, or even cheat on exam. The key to doing well on exams is to be in a good mood and have had a good night's sleep and breakfast so your Sim stays in a good mood and focuses on the exam rather than thinking about how hungry he or she is. At the end of the exam, you get a result letting you know how you did. These results can provide positive or negative moodlets. So if you pass your first exam with flying colors, the positive moodlet will actually help you pass the next exam as well.

Tip

When you earn a degree, you can begin a new career at a higher level than normal. How high you get to start on the pay grade is determined by your grade for your degree. Get an A for your degree to start out a career as high as possible. It really does pay to study and work hard for good grades.

Cheating



Even if you don't show up to class or study, there is still a way you can pass a class with a good grade—cheating. There are several ways you can cheat. First, you can talk to another Sim and convince them to go to class for you. This will prevent you from losing any academic progress while skipping the class. Next you can try to cheat on the final exams. To do this, you need either a cheat sheet or the stolen test answers. A day before the test, use a computer to create a cheat sheet. Or talk to another Sim and either ask them for the test answers or dare them to get the tests answers for you. You can also search for the test answers on a computer. Once you get the stolen test answers, they appear as a moodlet that lasts for two days. A cheat sheet functions the same way. When you go into an exam, select the Cheat on Exam tone to use the cheat sheet or stolen answers.

In addition to getting the answers ahead of time, there are two other ways you can cheat. If you use a Brain Enhancing Machine, you can get the Genius IQ moodlet, which lets you cheat on exams. The other way is to eat a Wonderpetal Herb which increases your intelligence for a while and gives you the Wonderpetal moodlet. Both of these methods can help you pass the exam.

The downside of cheating is getting caught. When cheating, there is a chance you will get caught and the kicked out of the class. You then have the option of going to the Administration building to try to clear your record.

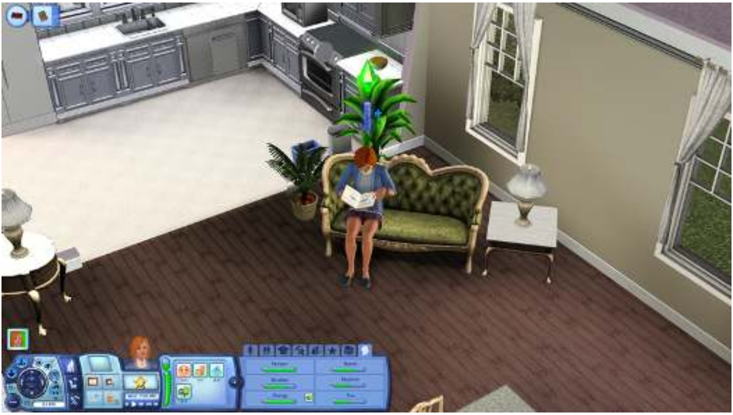
Sims with a level 4 or higher Influence in the Rebel social group have a better chance of not getting caught cheating. The higher your level in this skill, the less likely it is that you will get caught.

Free Time

When you are not in class, you have free time to use as you choose. While you still need to take care of your Sim's needs, including sleep, eating, hygiene and so forth, you also need to consider your purpose at Sims University. If you want to get A's in your classes, then you need to do some studying. Sims wanting to move up in the social groups will have to engage in appropriate activities. To stay balanced and well rounded, you also need to do some socializing and have fun or your Sim will become stressed and not perform well in class or on the end of the term exams.

What you do during your free time can affect several aspects of campus life.

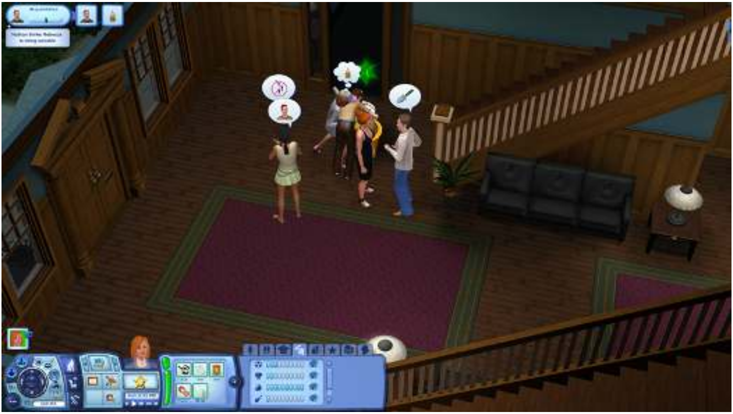
Studying



Take time to study for your classes so you get a good grade.

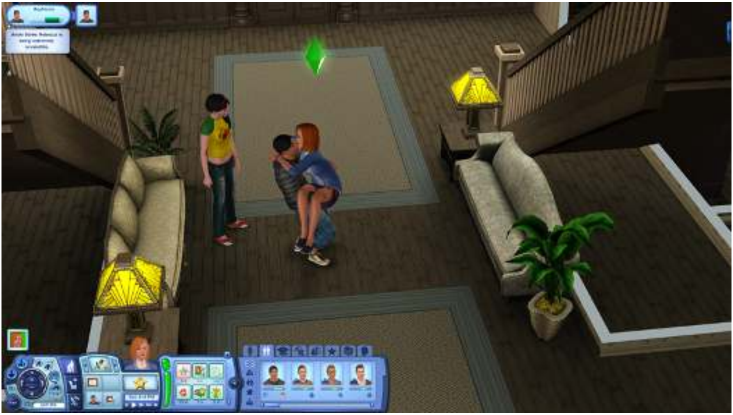
While you can still pass your classes without studying, if you want to get an A, it is important to take some time during the week to study. You can study in a number of different ways. The old tried and true method for studying is to break out the textbook you got when you enrolled in a major and read it. Though it may seem archaic, it works. In addition to reading books, you can also study using a computer. Finally, you can use your smart phone to study. Because you have it with you at all times, you can always take time to study wherever you are.

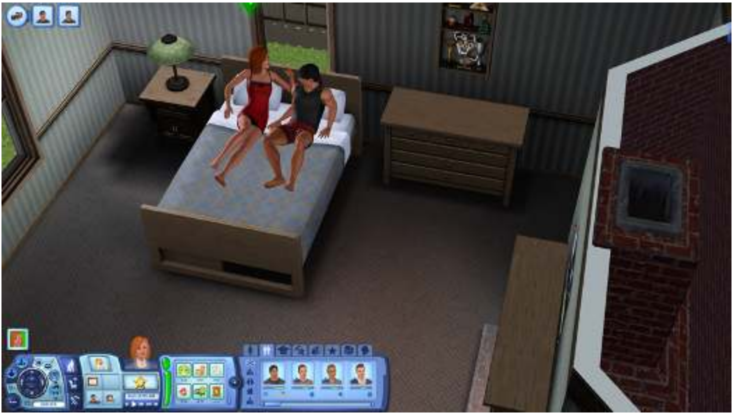
Socializing



Get out and meet other Sims to meet your social needs.

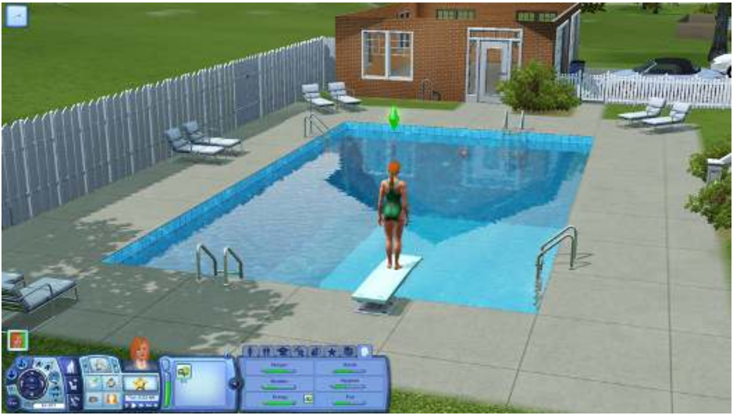
While focusing on classes, studying, and taking care of basic needs, it is easy to neglect your social needs—especially if you live alone in a home rather than in a household with roommates. It's important to take time to socialize because this will improve your mood and keep your Sim happy. And a happy Sim will perform better in class and on exams. Sims University can also be a great place for romance. A roommate or classmate might just click with your Sim. Build on that relationship and try to turn that Sim into a boyfriend or girlfriend. Having a steady romantic relationship can help keep your Sim happy and you always have someone with whom you can do some productive socializing.





Work on your romantic relationships at parties or within your households. Dorms can be a great place to foster a relationship with another Sim.

Activities and Fun



A swim is a great way to have fun and lose the stress from a long day of classes. Visit the swimming pool in town or use the pool in the backyard if you live in the sorority.

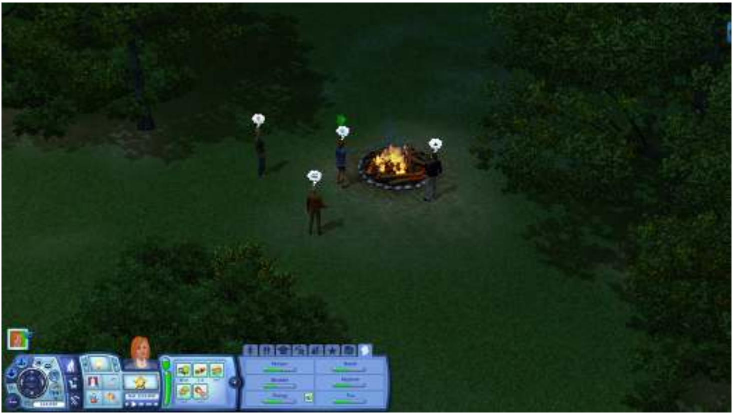
In addition to your social needs, your Sim also needs to have fun. Working hard in class can quickly stress your Sim and lower his or her mood. Therefore, be sure to include some fun activities during the week. Dorms, the sorority, the fraternity, and some of the homes have objects that you can use for fun. Go for a swim or work out on a treadmill or other exercise equipment. Watch TV or play a video game. You can also visit some of the venues in town such as the bowling alley, comic book store, gym, or movie theater to have some fun.

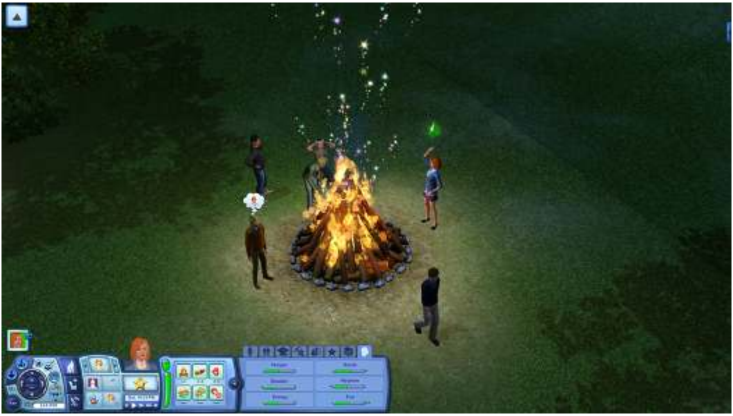
Some activities can provide enjoyment or socializing while also building up skills. These can be a great way to accomplish two objectives with one action.

Tip

If you are looking for an activity to do, don't forget about social groups. Use your smart phone to check on social groups. Select the group with whom you want to increase Influence and use the list of activities to help you pick something that will also help you advance within that social group. For example, playing video games increases your Influence with the Nerds.

Parties and Other Jock Activities





Parties may start out slow, so interact with the guests and objects such as the bonfire to get the party raging.

The Jocks social group enjoys having and attending parties. As you meet Sims at the university and in the town, they will invite you to parties that they are throwing. In fact, there is usually a party every night somewhere in town. Not only do students throw parties, some of your professors also like to have parties and invite their students. It is always a good idea to go to your professor’s parties and participate because you can actually get extra credit by attending. When another Sim is throwing a party, you will receive an invitation. You can choose to either accept or decline the invitation. Then as the time for the party approaches, you receive a reminder.

While attending parties is fun, it is even better to host a party yourself. Just take out your smart phone and use it to organize a party. You can throw a house party, birthday party, juice kegger, bonfire party, or destination party. Using your smart phone, select the type of party, the time, the dress code, and the Sims you would like to invite. Make sure you have everything you need at the party location before it starts, such as food, furniture, or other objects. Then once guests start arriving, make sure they are all having a good time. Socialize with them and keep the party lively.

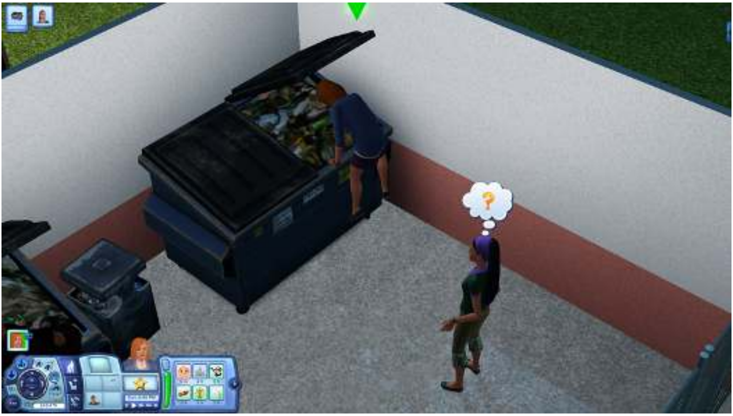
Bowling is another activity that Jocks enjoy.

In addition to parties, Jocks like to socialize and play sports or games. Try playing collegiate sports, ping pong or juice pong, bowling, and talking to other Jocks to build up your Influence with the Jocks. The more interactions you have with Jocks, the more Jock acquaintances and friends you make, and the greater your Influence. Even playing with the kicky sack or the flying disc builds up your Influence.

Protesting and Other Rebel Activities

A rowdy protest isn't a success unless you have several fights.

Rebels can enjoy a good party. However, they much prefer a protest. Protests are fairly easy to organize. Start off by announcing a protest at a podium or with a megaphone. The Roasted Toasted Beans Coffee Shop and the lecture hall in the Student Union can both be used for this purpose. You then have to decide what you are protesting, what type of protest you are having, and the time and location for the protest. There are three types of protests: standard protect, rowdy protest, and hunger strike, and more than 30 different topics to protest. Once the protest has been announced, you need to get to work. If you want people to come, interact with other Sims and hand them flyers about the protest. Then get to the site of the protest before it officially begins. A podium appears at the site at the start. Interact with the podium to give an impassioned speech, rile the crowd, or lead a chant. If it is a rowdy protest, you can even choose to get into a fight with another Sim. Keep interacting during the entire protest so that it will be a success.



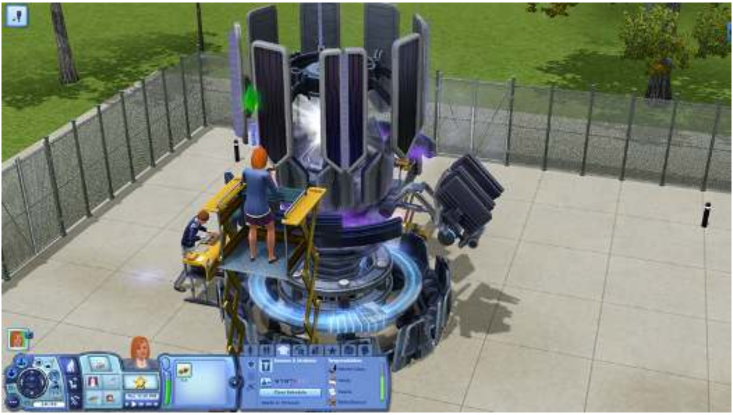
By dumpster diving, you can find some good items and increase your Influence with the Rebels. However, you will need to take a shower afterward.

Protests can be thrilling. However, you can also gain Influence with the Rebels in other ways. Go dumpster diving to find furniture or other items you can take home with you. Other ways to move up with the Rebels is to use herbs (eat them, add them to food or drinks, burn them, etc.), dare other Sims to do things, get a drink from the Barista, use a megaphone, and create street art all over the town.

Geeking Out with the Nerds

Take a trip to Keith’s Komics to get your Nerd on.

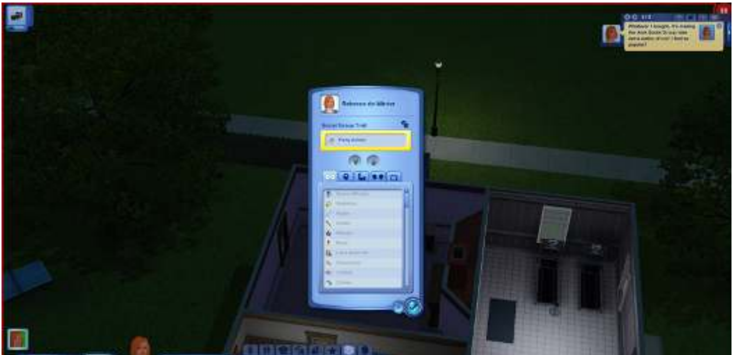
Nerds like to get out and attend parties just like the other social groups. However, they gain Influence with their social group through a number of different actions. Luckily, most of these interactions can take place at the comic book store. Talk about comics, read comic books, play video games, use computers, play arcade machines—all of these things increase your level of Influence with the Nerd social group. In addition, while at a bonfire party, try throwing a test tube into the fire to see the results.



Science experiments also are fun for Nerds.

If you are working on a degree in Science and Medicine or Technology, then your studies help increase your Influence among the Nerd social group. Use the Brain Enhancing Machine or do the Group Science Project and you not only help get better grades, you also increase your Influence and Science skill. Finally, socially interact with Nerds and other Sims to brag about your gamer skillz or issue trivia challenges for even more Influence.

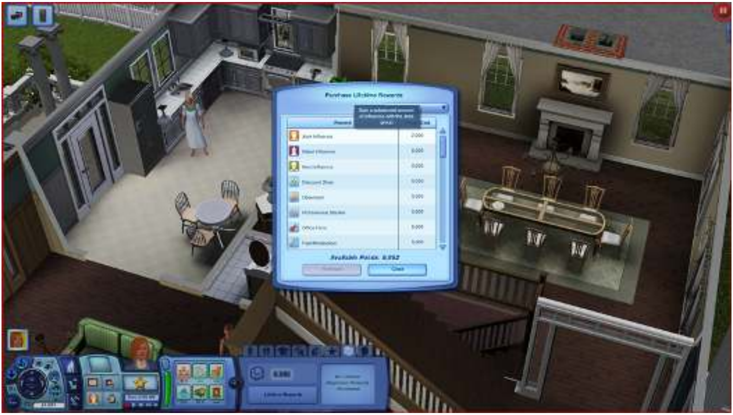
Social Trait



When you reach level 8 in Influence for one of the social groups, you unlock a Social Trait. This sixth trait can be any trait you want. If you later reach level 8 for a second social group, you gain the ability to change your Social Trait; however, you do not get a new trait slot. This sixth trait makes it worthwhile to work on improving Influence with the social groups.

Note

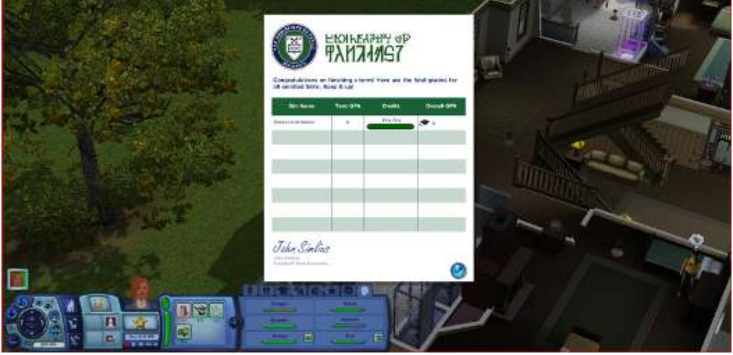
This expansion allows you to unlock two new traits: Academic and Social. Depending on which one you unlock first, the Social Trait could be the sixth or seventh trait.



Tip

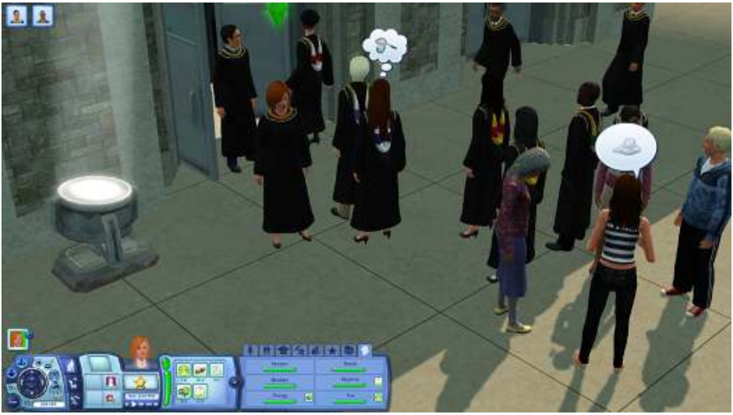
If you have earned a lot of Lifetime Happiness points, you can spend them on increasing your Influence with one of the social groups. It is relatively cheap at only 2,000 points for a good boost. This can be a good way to get a head start on a social group or to max it out after you have been working at it for a while.

Graduation and Returning Home



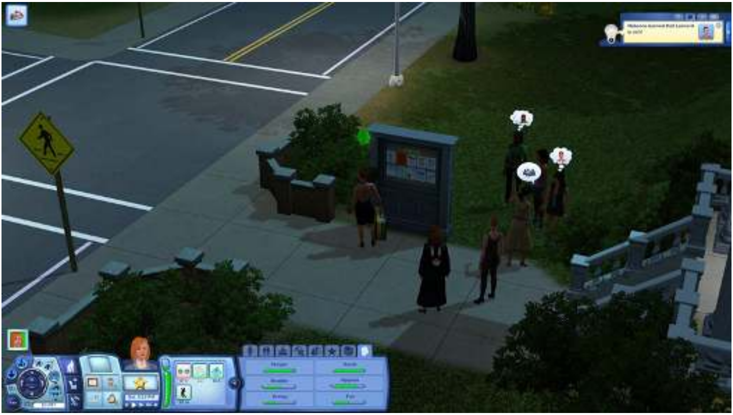
How did you do in your classes?

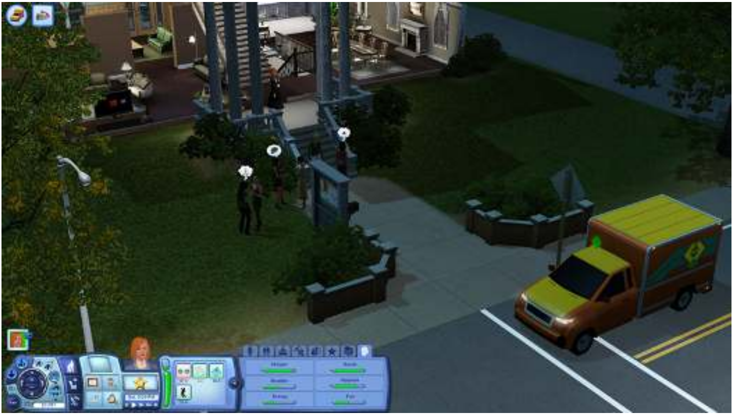
After taking your exams on Friday, your professors add up your points and you receive your report card for the term on Saturday morning. The report card not only gives your grade for the term, but it also shows if you have earned enough credits to graduate. You need to have earned 48 credits in your major to graduate. If you haven't, and you signed up for two terms, you can begin the next term on Monday. If this is the last term for which you are enrolled, you head home and then can re-enroll for more terms until you earn enough credits to graduate.



Graduation is at the stadium. Your Sim will have earned that cap and gown.

Once you have earned 48 credits, the next step is to invite Sims to attend your graduation ceremony. You can select any of your acquaintances at Sims University as well as family from home. The actual graduation ceremony takes place on Saturday evening. Head to the stadium to participate and receive your diploma. This is a great opportunity to take some photos with your friends using your smart phone.

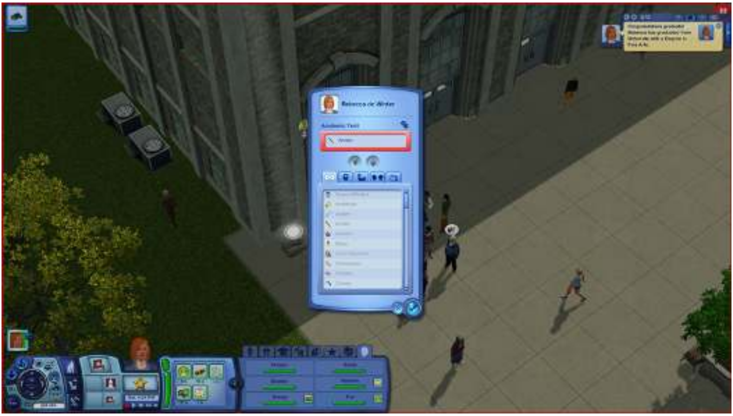




Get packed up and say good bye to your roommates. The moving van has arrived to take you home.

On the Saturday you will be heading home, be sure to pack up any possession you want to take with you. If you purchased furniture, either sell it, leave it, or put it into your family inventory. The latter is a good idea even if you are planning on coming back because you may decide to live somewhere else for a change. Then on Saturday evening, the moving van pulls up in front of your residence and takes you back to your home.

Academic Trait

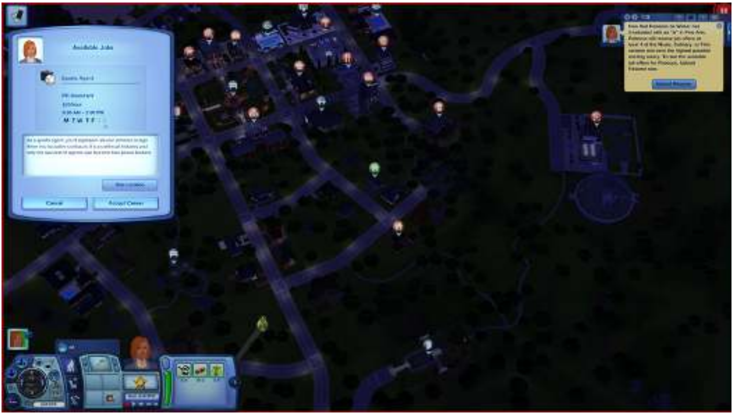


When you earn your first degree, you unlock the Academic Trait. This sixth trait can be any trait you want. If you earn a second degree, instead of gaining another trait, you are allowed to switch your Academic Trait for another trait of your choice.

Note

This expansion allows you to unlock two new traits: Academic and Social. Depending on which one you unlock first, the Academic Trait could be the sixth or seventh trait.

Dream Careers



Social Groups can help you get a dream career.

If you reached level 10 Influence in one of the three social groups, as soon as you arrive home, you will receive a job offer for one of the three new dream careers. Jocks are offered a job as a Sports Agent. Nerds are offered a job as a Video Game Developer. The Rebels' dream job is an Art Appraiser. Social groups are the only way to unlock these job offers, so be sure to put in the time increasing your Influence with a social group.

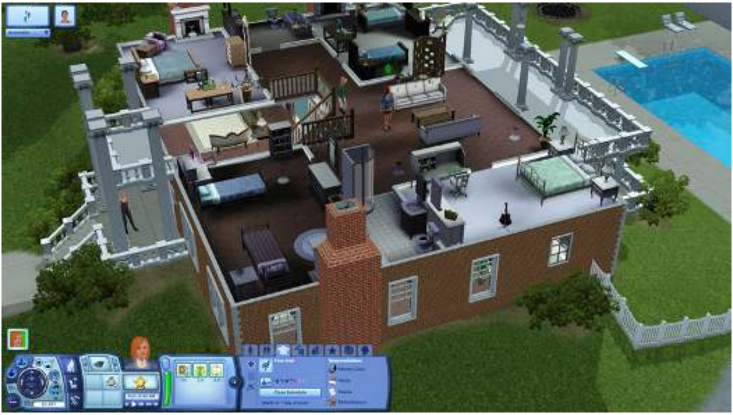
Tip

Sims University is not only a great place to visit and earn a degree, but also a return destination. There are six degrees available and if you ever want to change your career, come back to Sims University and earn a second or third degree. You might even want to try to get A's in all six degrees. Good luck and go Llamas!

A Week in the Life of a College Sim

Going to Sims University can be somewhat overwhelming at first. There are so many things to do and so little time. You have classes to attend, books to study, practice to complete, parties to attend, and so much more. When is a Sim supposed to sleep, eat, and take care of other needs? Not to worry. This section provides some guidelines to help you survive college and earn your degree without becoming a basket case.

Sunday



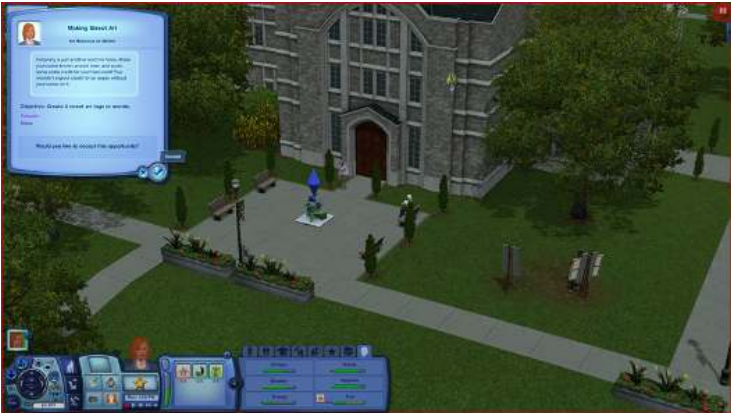
You arrive at the university on Sunday. Get settled in because classes start bright and early Monday morning.

After enrolling at Sims University and selecting a place to live, you arrive at your residence Sunday morning. You have a few hours to get yourself settled in. If you are living in a dorm or either the sorority or fraternity, be sure to pick a bed and assign it to your Sim. If you want a specific roommate to share a room with you, assign that Sim another bed in your room. Also lock the door to your room unless you want other Sims waltzing in at will. By the time you have met the other Sims that you live with and had a chance to socialize, it is afternoon and time to go to the University Meet and Greet at the Student Union.

It is a good idea to go to the Meet and Greet—especially if this is your first time at Sims University. Pick up all the freebies at the table and then meet your professor. Building up a relationship with your professors can go a long way toward passing your classes with flying colors. As you improve your relationship, you might even be invited to the professor's home for a party—a chance for extra credit! Check out all of the features that the Student Union offers, such as the work rooms downstairs and the recreation area upstairs.

While you are at the Meet and Greet, or somewhere later that afternoon, you should be invited to a party of some type if you have spent some time getting to know other Sims. It is a good idea to go to this first party. Here you can socialize and begin building up relationships with other Sims. This is also a good time to begin increasing Influence with a social group. Don't stay too late at the party. You want to be home and in bed before midnight so you get a good night's sleep—especially if you have an 8:00 a.m. class.

Monday



Accept Opportunities that present themselves. These can be great ways to get extra credit toward your degree or for developing a skill.

This is your first day of class. Be sure to get up and take care of any of your Sim's needs. Have some breakfast, even if it is a quick meal. Mondays are class days. You have two hours of class for every six credits you are taking. Therefore, if you are taking 18 credits, you have six hours of class. With two hours between each class, you can plan on being at the university for 10 hours—two hours is not enough time to head home to take care of needs. Those Sims taking fewer credits don't need to stay on campus as long. However, they can spend some of that additional time studying for their degree.

Work hard your first day in classes. Though you may get stressed, you want to get as much academic progress as possible. The sooner you get the academic progress meter to the top, the easier it is to maintain it. Look for Opportunities or Wishes that come up. These can help you focus on what is important both academically and socially. Plus you get some rewards. If you get invited to a party, check to see how your Sim is doing before accepting. If your Sim is wiped out from a long day in classes, pass on the party and get home to get a meal and go to bed.

Academic Tones

Just like a career, academics has tones that you can adjust to control the level and type of effort your Sim is putting in at school. Normal effort will reduce your energy and fun levels while increasing your academic progress. Working hard provides more progress, but at a greater cost because your Sim can become stressed. Another way to gain academic progress is to suck up to your professor. This works better as your relationship with your professor improves. This is less taxing on energy and fun. If you are not worried about your academic progress, but need some fun, take it easy. Your academic progress will decrease, but fun increases. Socializing lets you get to know the other students in class and increases your social level, though academic progress decreases. Sleep has the same detrimental academic effect, but does provide energy for your Sim. This can be better than skipping a class altogether because you were too tired. Finally texting friends lets you socialize during class, but does not lower your academic progress as much as socializing, nor does it affect your relationship with your professors. Similar tones are available during final exams on Friday.

Tuesday

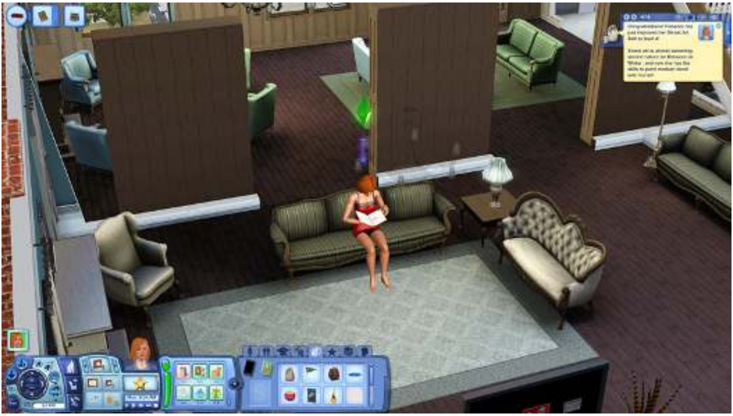
Go for a swim or other fun activity on Tuesday to have fun and reduce your stress.

Tuesday is the day for your lecture class in most schedules. It’s sometimes swapped with Thursday’s activity class. No matter how many credits you are taking, you only have two hours of class on Tuesday. At times class will be at 8:00 a.m. while for some schedules it may not be until noon. You definitely want to attend your lecture class. Unlike regular classes, you don’t set a tone and wait around for two hours. Instead, you can pick from a variety of socials while at the lecture. The key is to get involved and avoid falling asleep.

Because you have most of the day free on Tuesday, it is easy to waste it. Schedule your unscheduled time. If you are living alone or even with others, take time to serve meals. Not only can you build your Cooking skill, you can also put away the leftovers and then eat them on Wednesday and other days. Eating leftovers can save time. If your Sim is tired, take a nap. For Sims who are stressed and need some fun, visit one of the social group hangouts: Keith’s Komics for Nerds, B’s Bowlarama for Jocks, and the Grotto for Rebels. This allows you to have some fun while also working on your Influence with a social group.

Finally, be sure to take some time to study. This can involve reading your textbooks, studying on the computer or your smart phone, or using objects related to your major. As mentioned earlier, you want to get your academic progress meter up to the top as quickly as possible. If you are not too tired, attend a party to socialize, have fun, and get rid of any remaining stress.

Wednesday



Get in some studying before or after classes—or even during the time between classes.

Head back to a day of classes on Wednesday. Usually this day is a lot like Monday. Your main focus is on increasing your academic progress. Depending on where your academic progress meter is, you might be able to just work normally instead of hard. However, you can’t afford to slack off now. Use the time in-between classes for studying. After taking care of academics, make sure your Sim’s needs are met and then any additional time can be used for socializing and fun. After Wednesday, it is downhill to the end of the term.

Pay attention to your Sim’s mood. You want to maintain a good mood because this can make many other actions go a lot smoother. Eating herbs, putting them in food or drinks, or consuming beverages made with herbs can affect your mood as well.

Thursday

Work on a skill related to your major today.

All Sims have only one class on Thursdays, no matter how many credits they are taking. Most schedules have an activity class today—unless it is swapped with Tuesday for the lecture class. Activity classes are all about applying your education and working on skills. Here you will be using the object given to you when you enrolled in a major. Because it is only a two-hour class, be sure to attend. Continue working on the skill or with the object after class is over if you want to build up the skill even further.

By now your academic progress should be very high if you have been working on it during the week. Therefore, you deserve some fun. Use today to work on Influence with the social groups. If you are a Jock, throw a party. Rebels can start a protest. Nerds can play video games or read comics. Also take care of all of your Sim's needs. You want to get your Sim's mood as high as possible today.

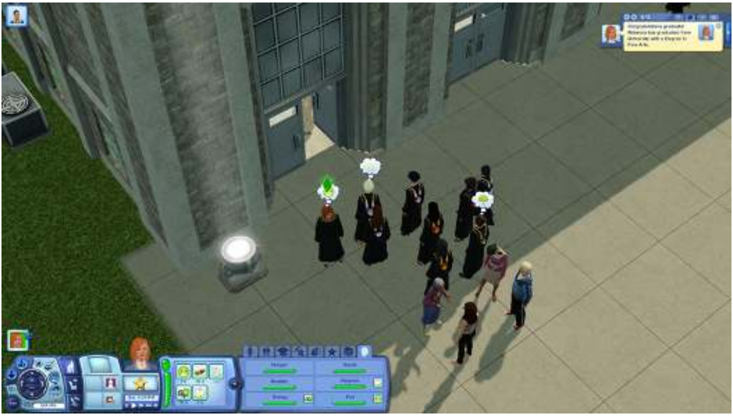
Friday

Celebrate the end of the term with a party.

Friday is the last day of the term. You go to class just like you did on Monday and Wednesday. However, on Friday you spend two hours taking exams in each class. If you worked hard all week, you can cruise through the exams with normal effort and not worry about lowering your grade. Otherwise, you need to try hard or beg your professor for a good score (this is where having a good relationship with your professor can come in handy). Mood plays an important role in your exams. If your Sim is in a good mood and you have a high academic progress, you can rest assured you will get an A for the course. However, a bad mood can lower your grade no matter how high your academic progress.

Once the exams are completed, the term is over. Time to party! Have a party, go to a party, or go to a hangout and have fun. Stay up late because you can sleep in on Saturday.

Saturday



Graduation ceremonies are held on Saturday for those Sims who have completed all the credits for their degrees.

If this is the last term for which you enrolled, you will be heading home today. Otherwise you have Saturday and Sunday all to yourself before the next term begins on Monday. Graduating Sims need to invite friends to their graduation and then attend the ceremony themselves to receive the degree for which they worked so hard. If you are leaving, this is the time to pack up any objects such as furniture or art that you have in your college residence so you can take it home with you. Those returning home leave Saturday evening.

Sims staying for a second term should use Saturday and Sunday to get ready for is also a good idea to do some studying over the weekend or your academic progress will begin to decrease. Be sure you get plenty of rest Sunday night so youare ready to start another busy week.

Packing and Moving

If you purchase new objects for your college residence, be sure to take them home with you.

When you leave for college, consider taking some of the items from your home with you. If you have a nice bed, a computer and desk, decorations, or other items, you may want to put them into your family inventory before the moving van arrives so you can take them to school. Select items that will affect your mood or needs. For example a good bed helps you sleep better. Decorations improve your mood by making your living area pleasant and attractive. While at school, you may also want to purchase some items. When Saturday rolls around and you are getting ready to return home, be sure to pack up the objects you bought or brought from home so you don’t lose them. Or sell them if you no longer want them.

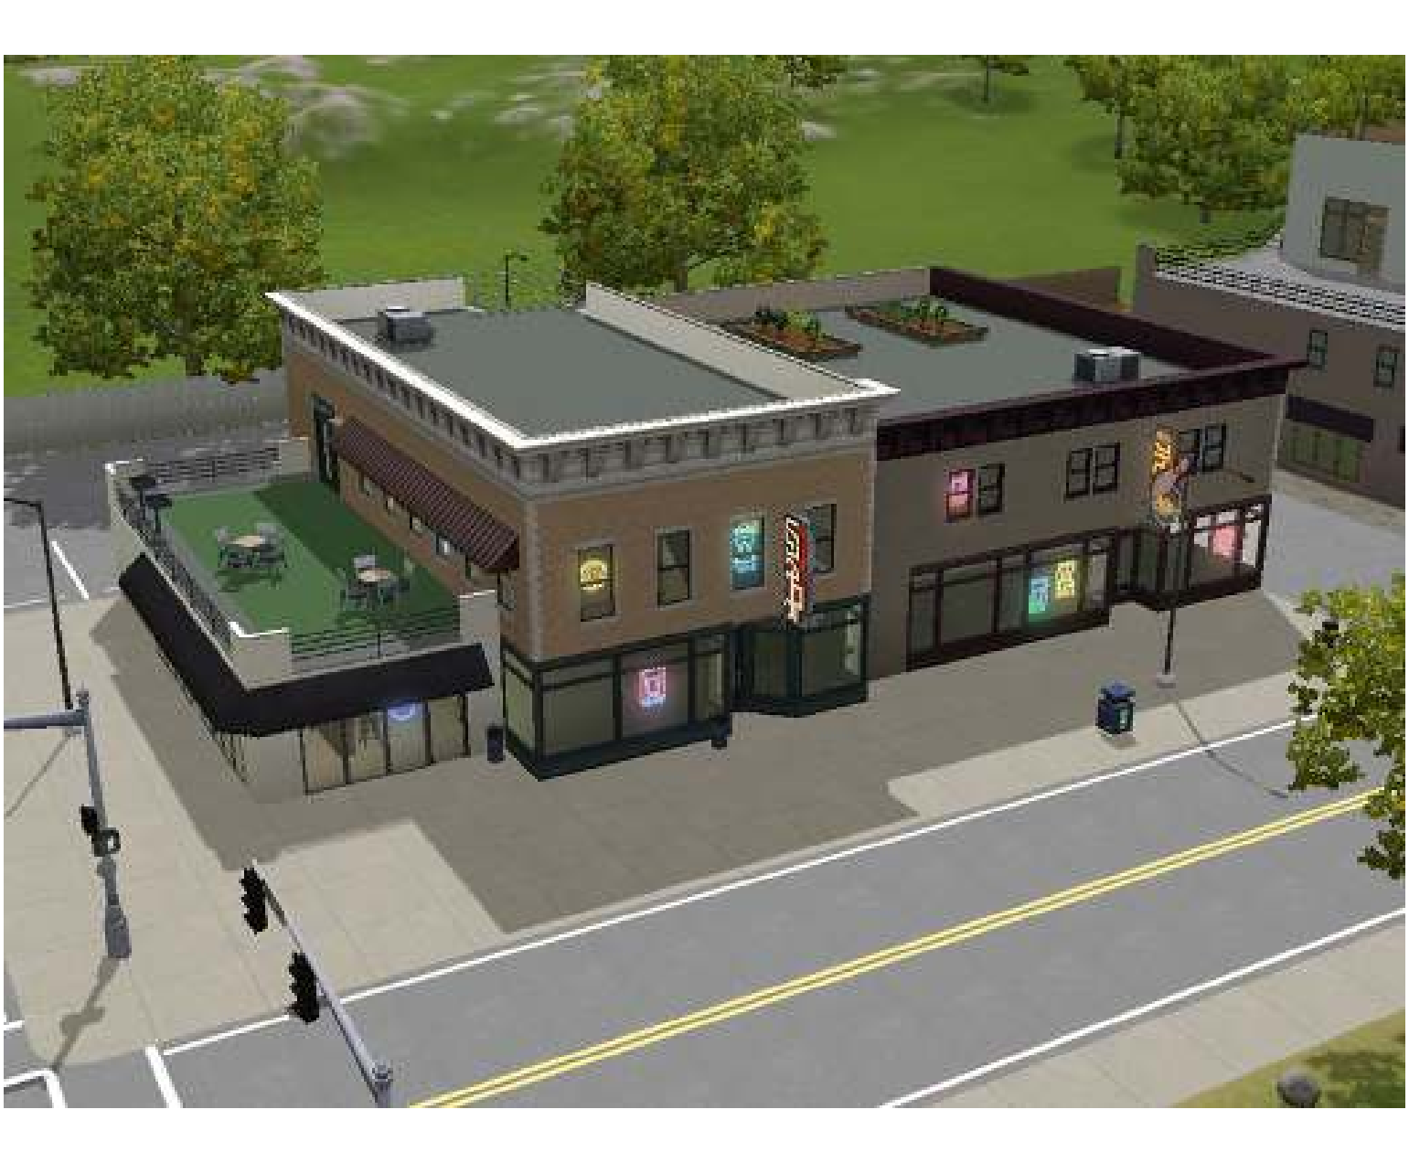
New Venues

New Venues

The college town of Sims University is different from any of the other towns or locations in The Sims 3 or any of the expansions. In addition to Academic buildings that make up the campus itself, there are also new types of buildings that provide new opportunities. Though we have a full tour of Sims University in the next chapter, use this section to dig deep into the newly crafted venues for The Sims 3: University Life.

Campus Living
While you spend a lot of time in class and studying for your major to ensure that you get a good grade, you still need to socialize and have fun to maintain a healthy balance for your Sim. As such, Sims University offers some great new places to blow off steam. Three of these are designed for the three different social groups and provide activities to help you advance within one of those specific groups.

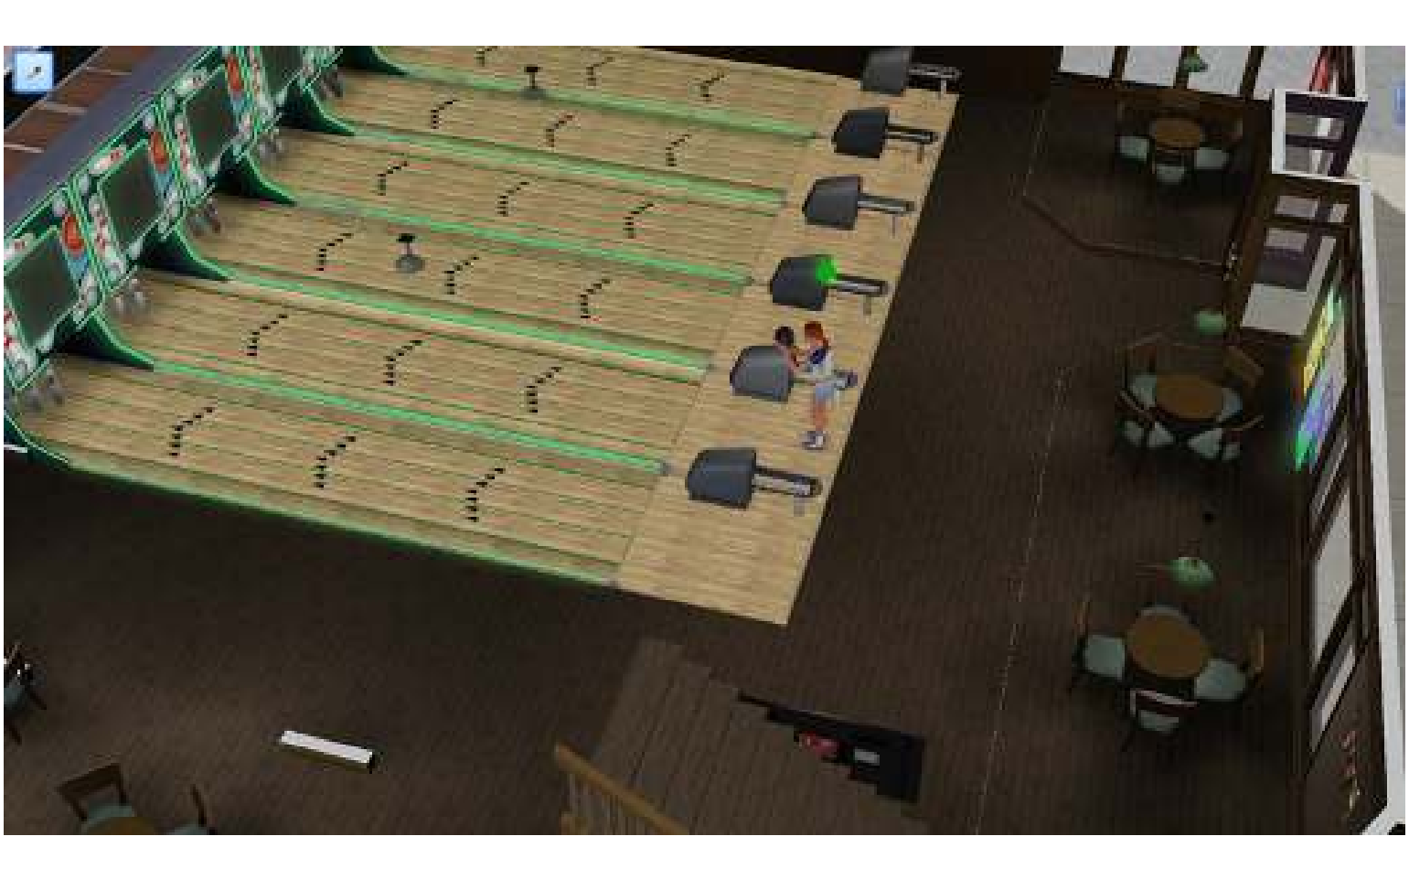
B’s Bowlarama



- Address: 1025 University Drive
- Venue Type: Jock Hangout and Arcade
- Operating Hours: 10 AM to 4 AM

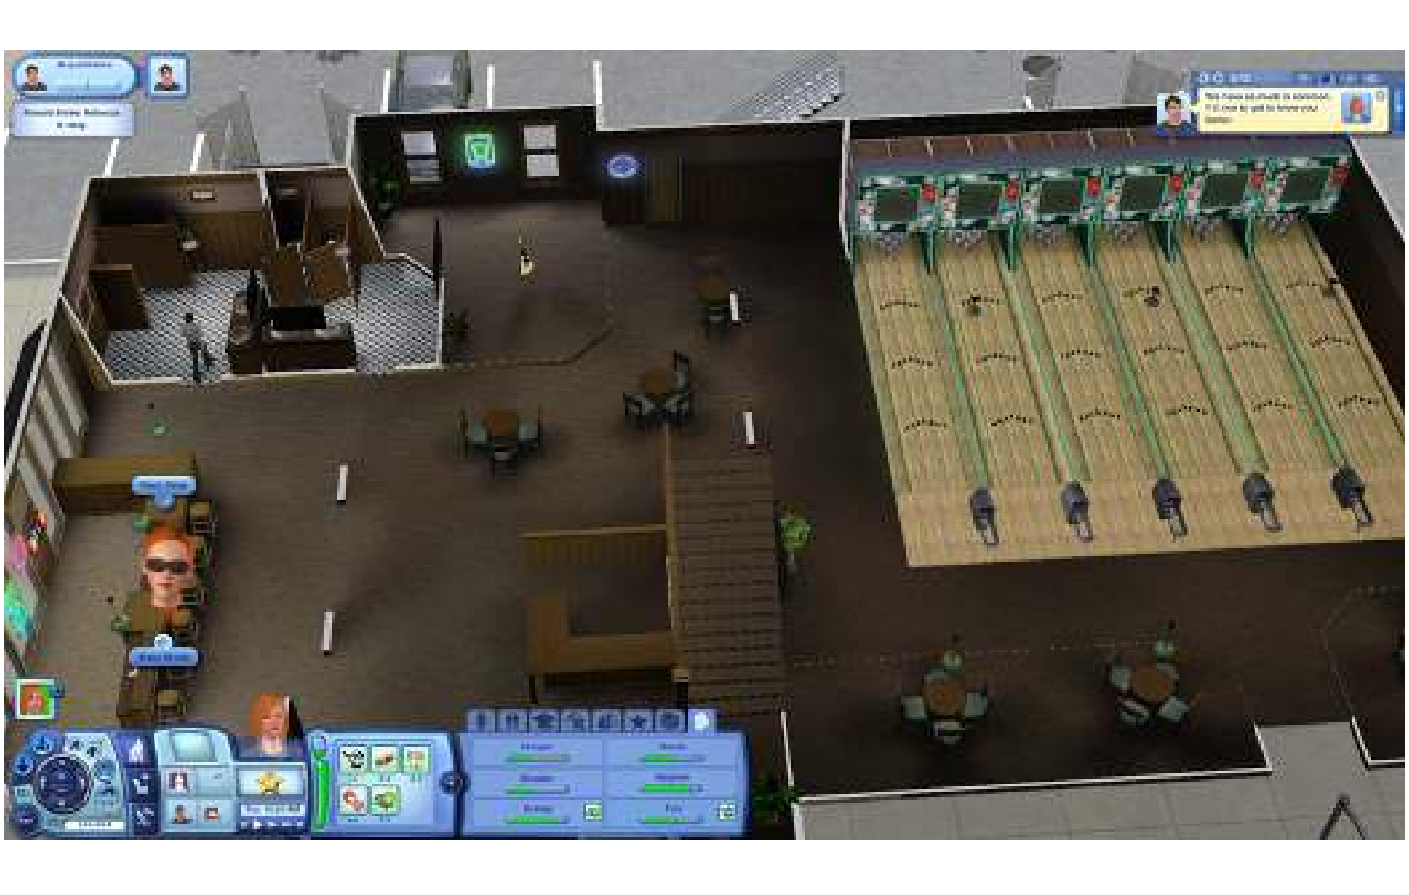
B’s Bowlarama is the first bowling alley in The Sims 3. It provides a great place to relax for Jocks or other Sims who want to work on their bowling skill along with other activities.

Primary Use

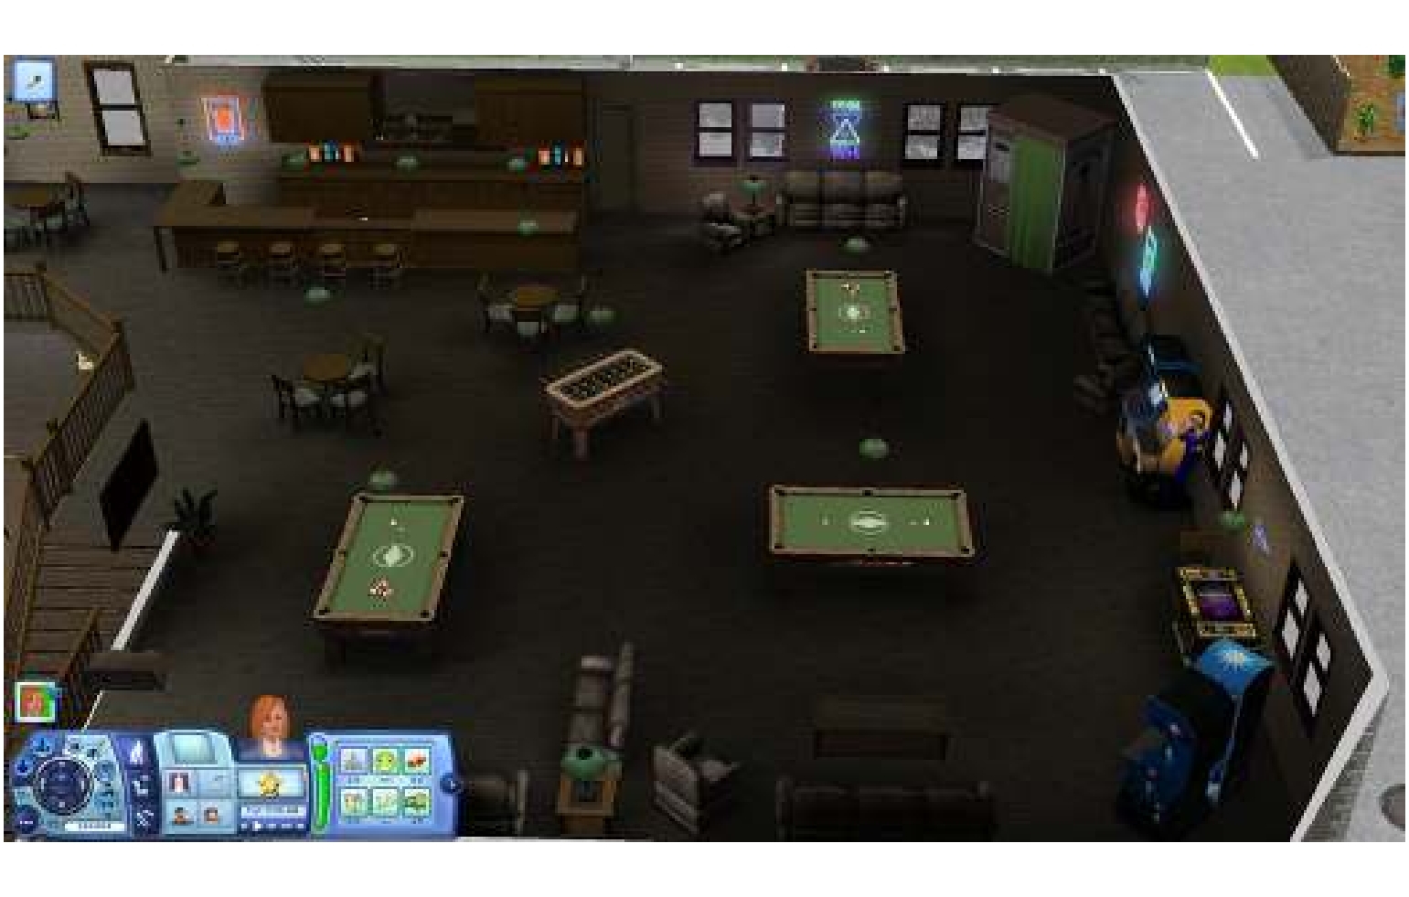


The main function of B’s Bowlarama is an arcade where Sims can come to socialize and have fun. The first floor features six bowling lanes. Use them to play a game of bowling either by yourself or with another Sim. As you play, you begin to work on the hidden Bowling skill. The more you play, the higher your score can get. Bowling is a great way to increase your Influence with the Jocks and increase your Fun level. This is also a good place to meet other Jocks.

Additional Activities

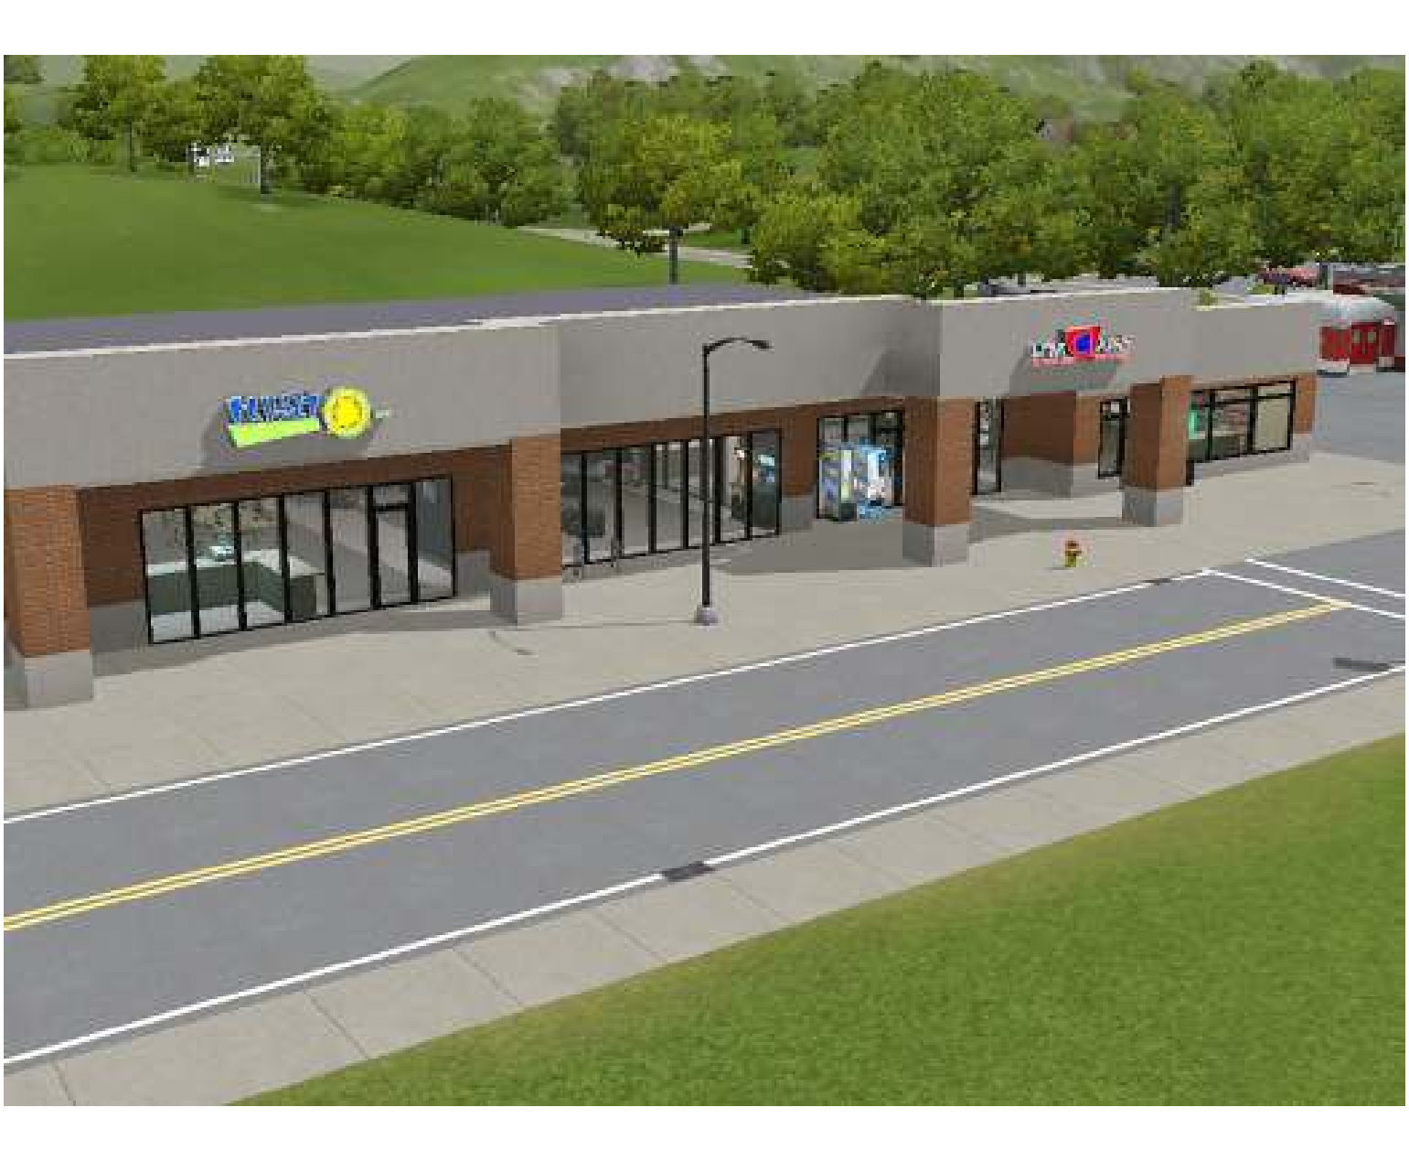


In addition to the bowling lanes, the downstairs of B’s Bowlarama has a bar where your Sim can buy a drink or make drinks. A small stage with a guitar allows Sims to perform for the crowd, and several tables and chairs are perfect for having a conversation with another Sim while enjoying a juice.



Head upstairs for even more fun. Here you can find several billiards tables as well as a foosball table, another bar, a photo booth, and several arcade games. There are several more tables and even some couches for socializing. If you are working on Influence with the Jock social group, B’s Bowlarama is a great place to hang out while you are not in class or studying.

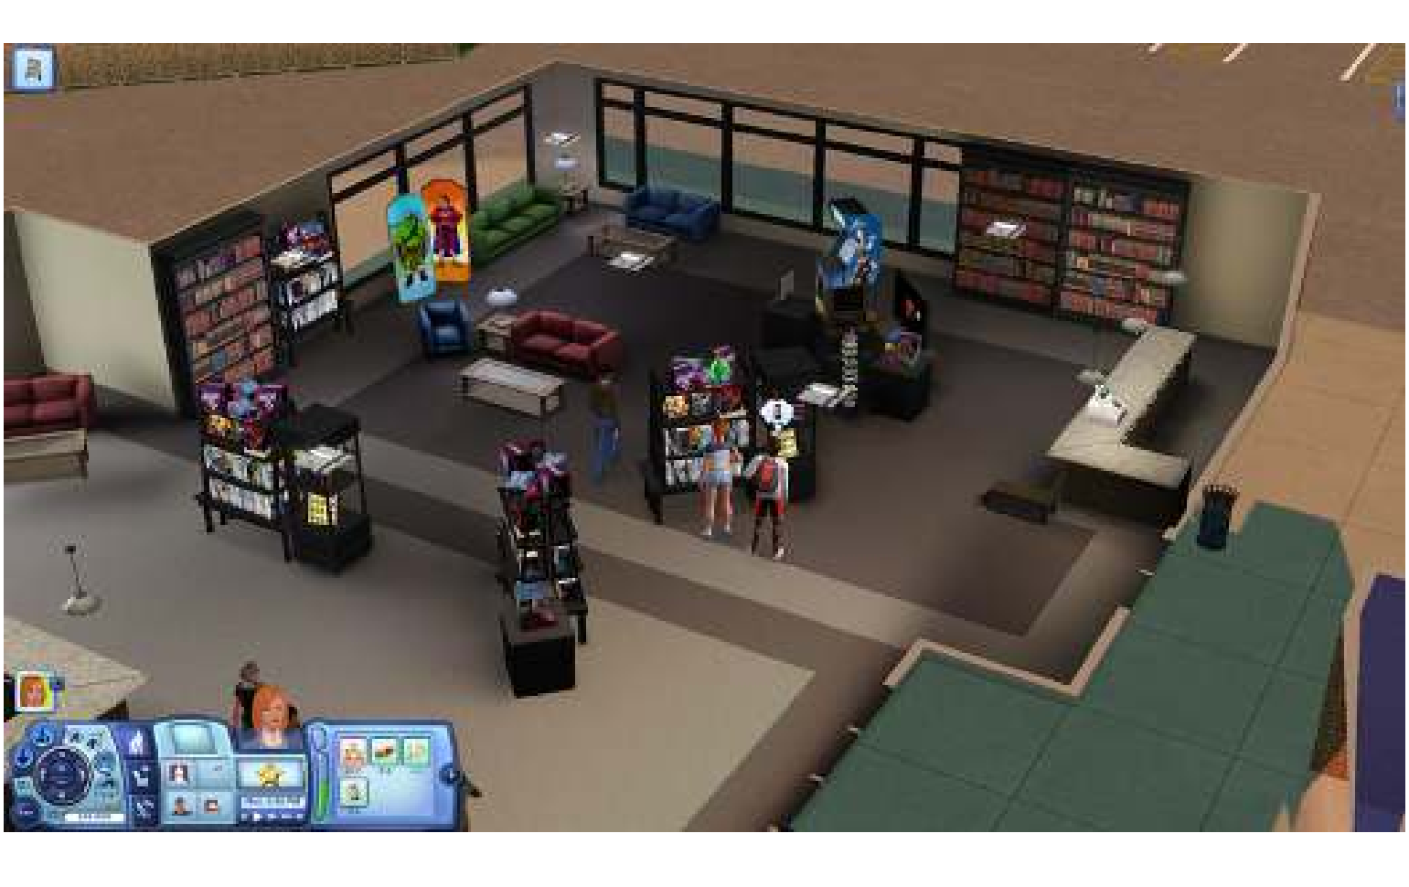
Keith’s Komics



- Address: 516 S. Bend Ave.
- Venue Type: Nerd Hangout and Commerce
- Operating Hours: 8 AM to 2 AM

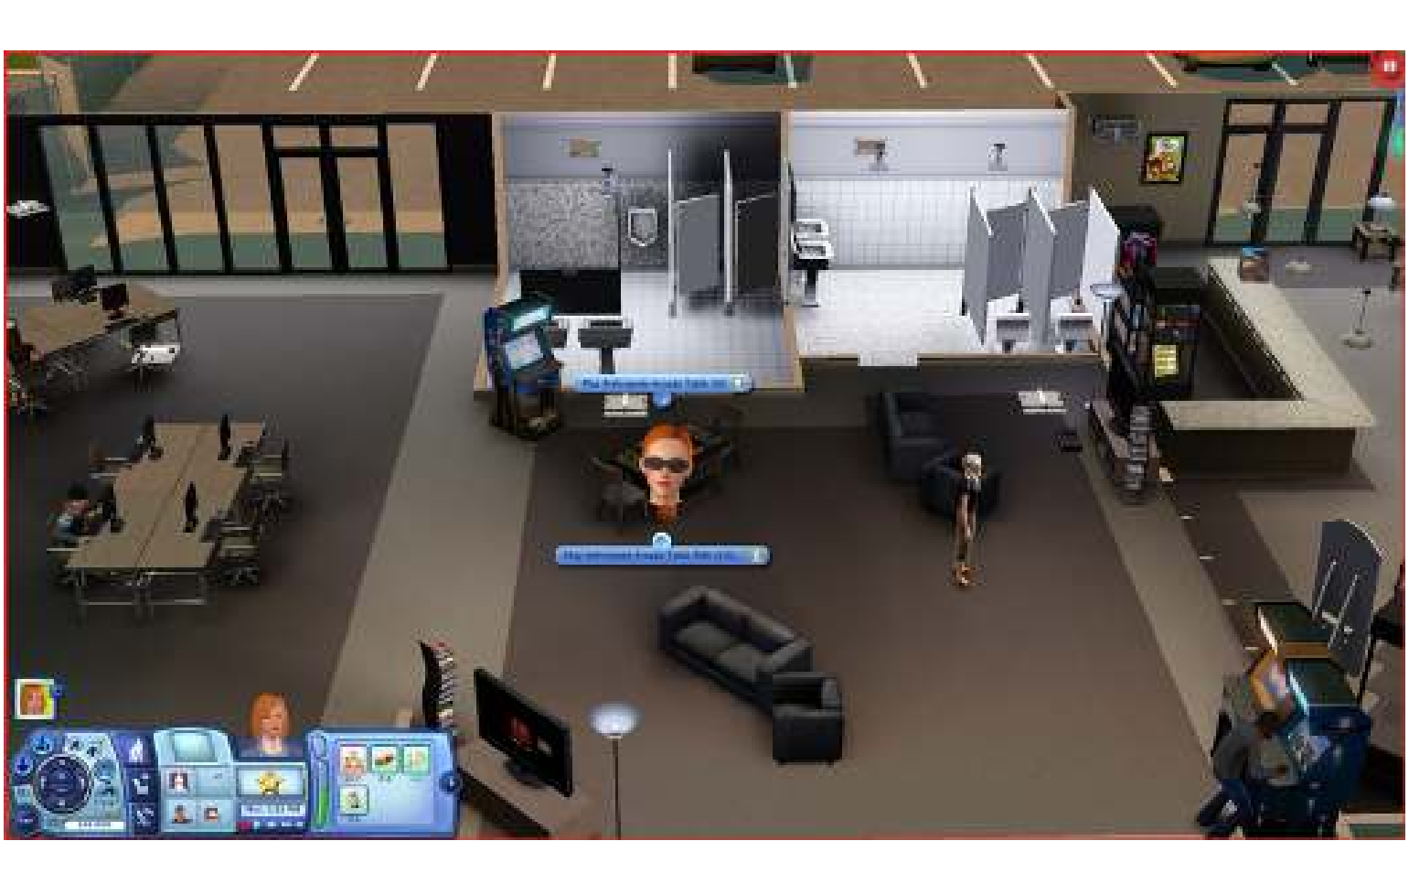
Keith’s Komics is the hangout for the Nerds in this college town. If you are working on increasing your Influence with the Nerd social group, be sure to stop in and get your fix of all things nerdy.

Primary Use



The main reason people visit Keith’s Komics is to read and buy comic books. There are several displays of comics where you can select from a variety of comics to read in the store. Be sure to check out each of the display racks because each has a different selection for your comic reading pleasure. If you prefer to take your comics with you and read them at home or another location, go to the cash register and buy some comics to add to your inventory. Every self-respecting Nerd should have some comics on hand at all times. In addition to comics, the shop also has bookshelves with books you can read on site, similar to a library.

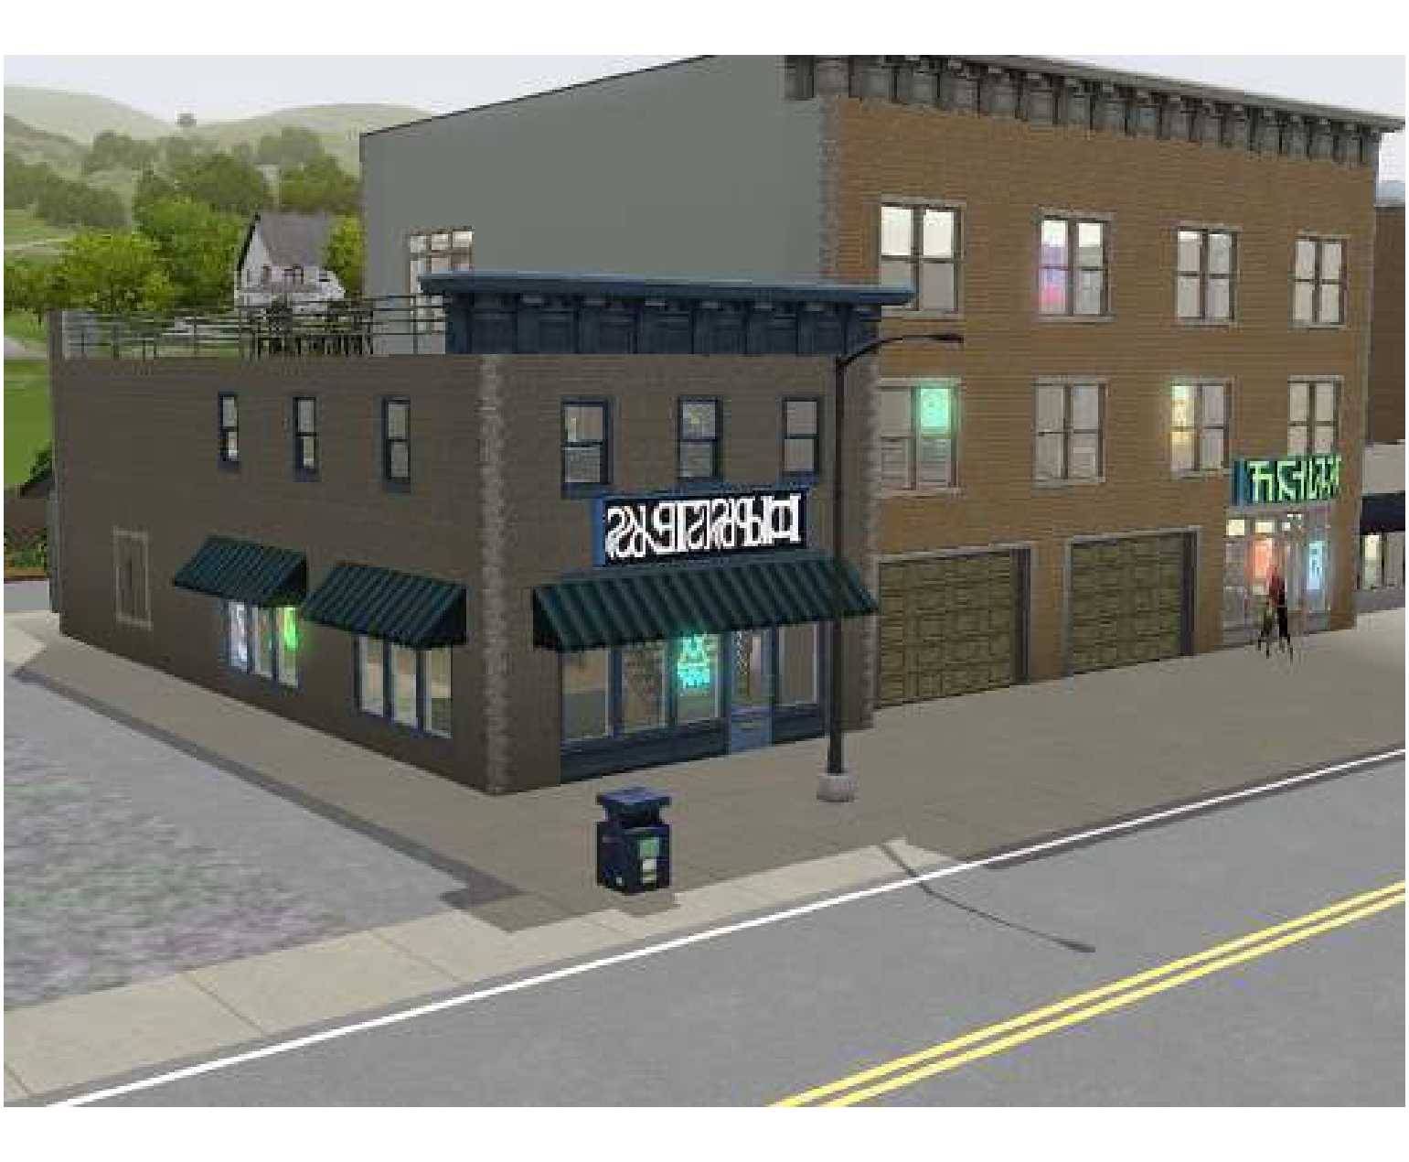
Additional Activities



While Nerds like comics, they also enjoy other activities. Keith’s Komics has your nerdy Sims covered. Check out the computers, which you can use for studying, browsing the web, chatting, playing video games, and other activities. If you don’t have a computer of your own, this is a great place to use one. If you would like to relax and have some fun, watch TV while sitting on the couch or play one of the several video game machines.

Keith’s Komics provides a wonderful environment for reading comics and blowing off some steam after a tough day of classes. It also tends to attract other Nerds and is a great place to socialize with Nerds and possibly find a romantic interest who shares a love of sci-fi, superheroes, and fantasy. If you want to max out your Influence with the Nerd social group, spend a lot of time at the comic book store.

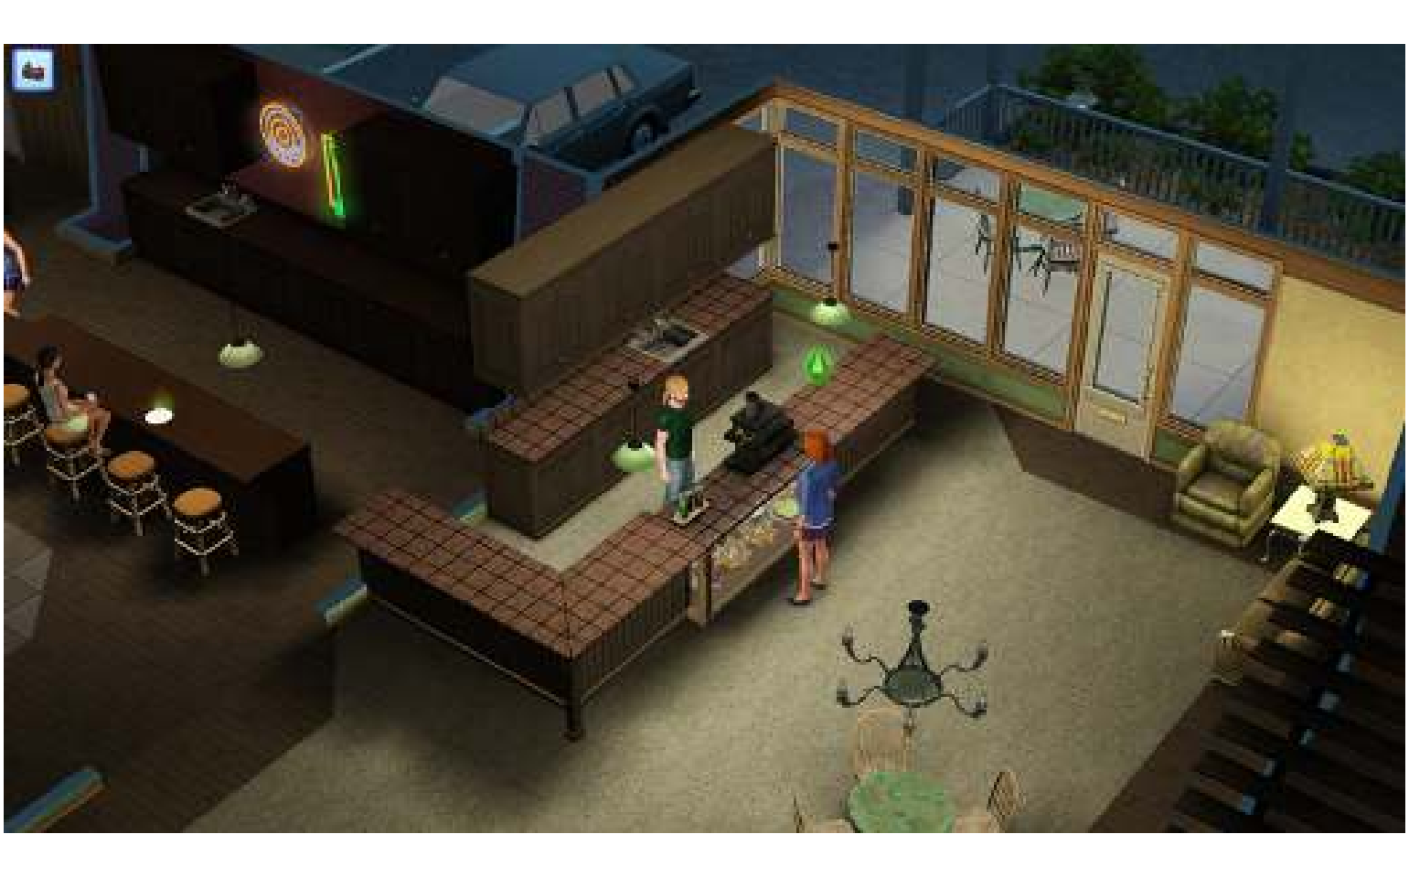
The Grotto



- Address: 1029 University Drive
- Venue Type: Rebel Hangout and Bar
- Operating Hours: 6 AM to 1 AM

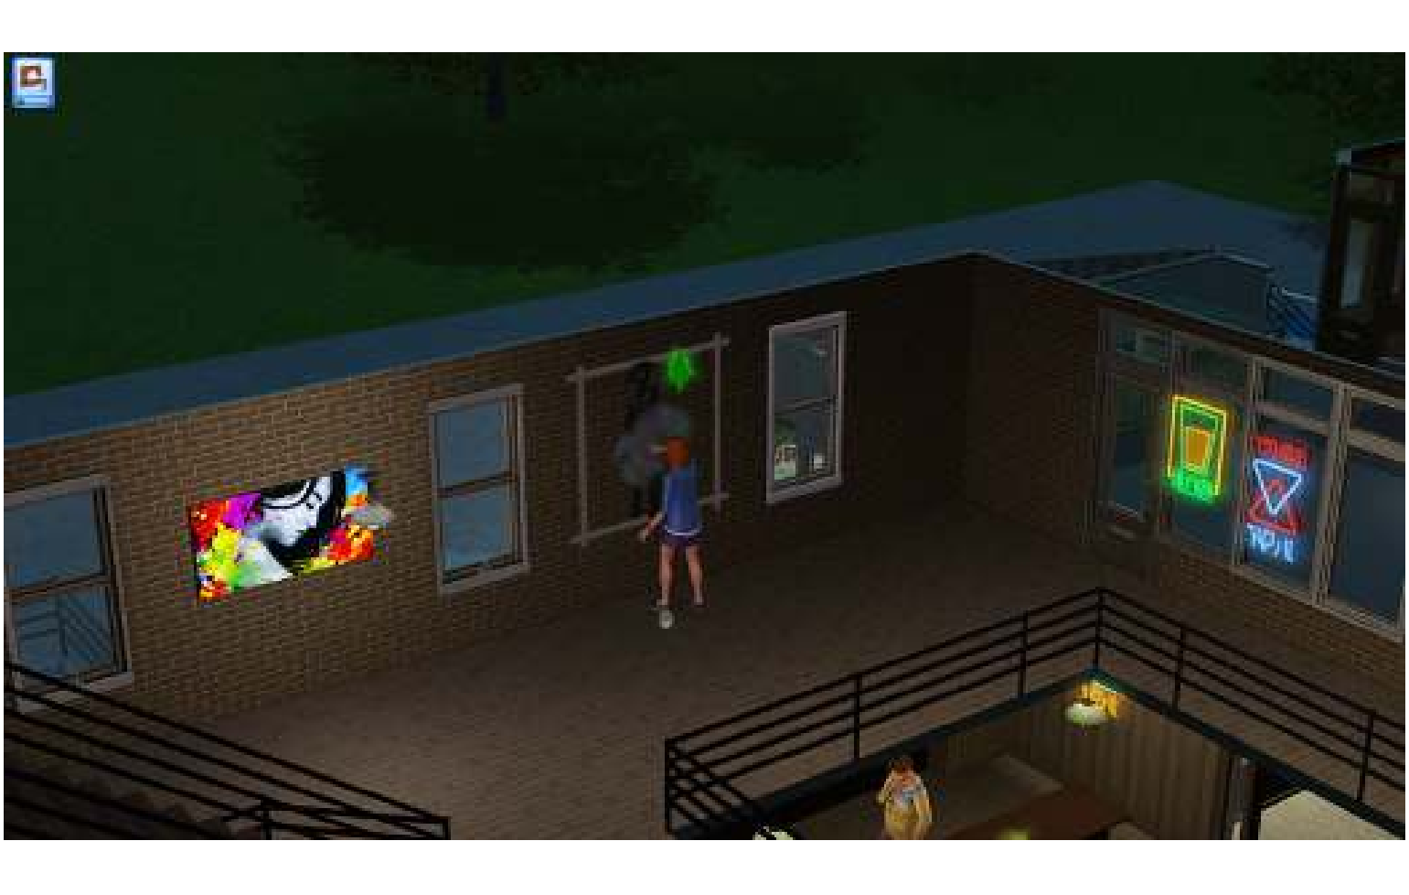
The Grotto is the hangout for the Rebels. If you are working on increasing your Influence with the Rebel social group, be sure to stop in and discuss the problems of the world with the other Rebels.

Primary Use

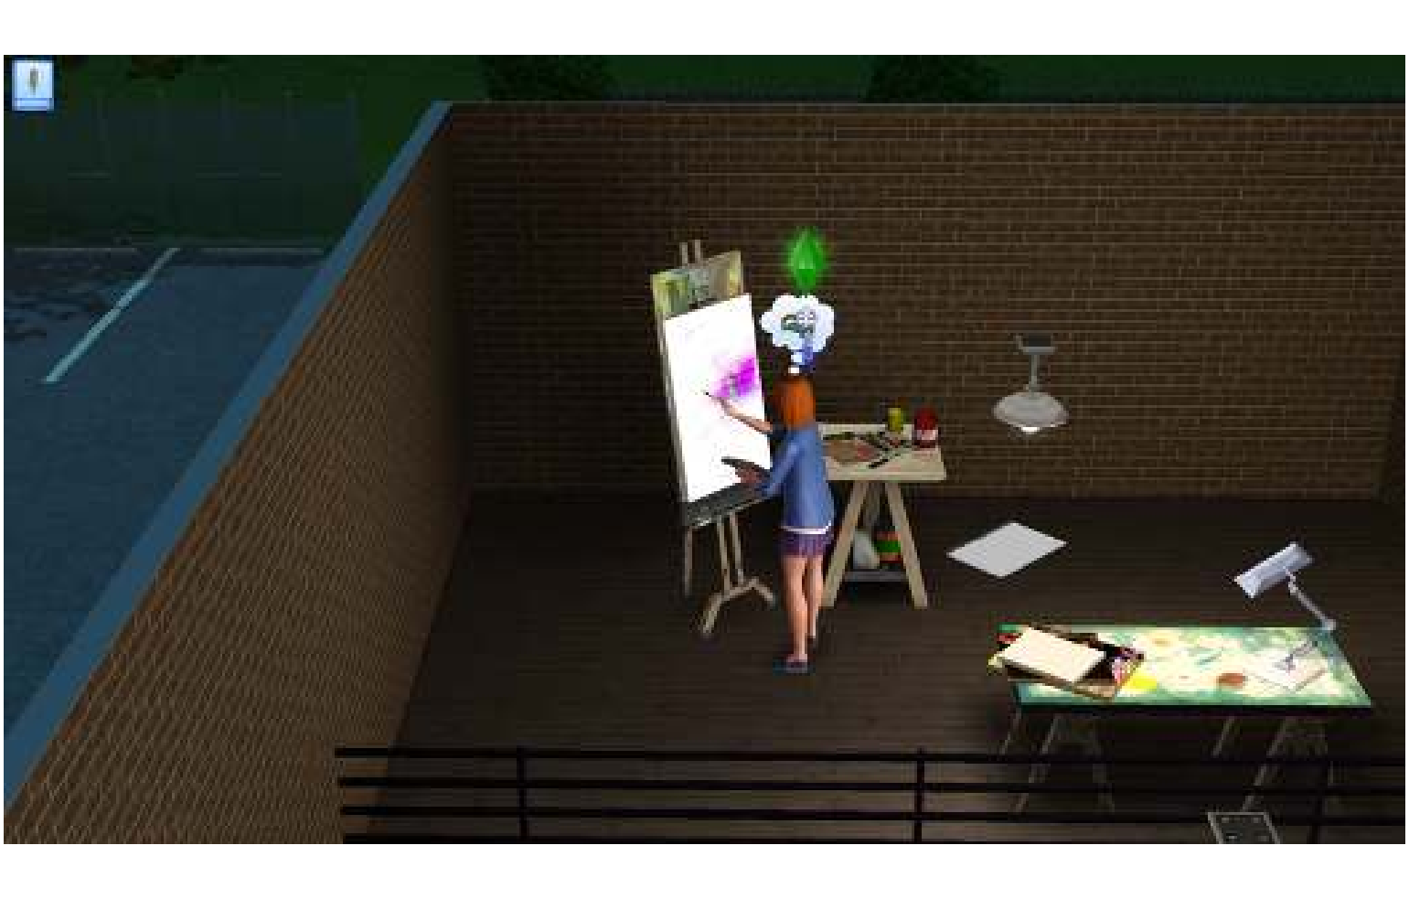


The Grotto serves up juice drinks as well as other snacks and beverages. Enjoy your drinks at several tables and couches while you socialize. Listen to music and even dance while you are there, associating with a mixed clientele of Rebels as well as Sims from other social groups.

Additional Activities

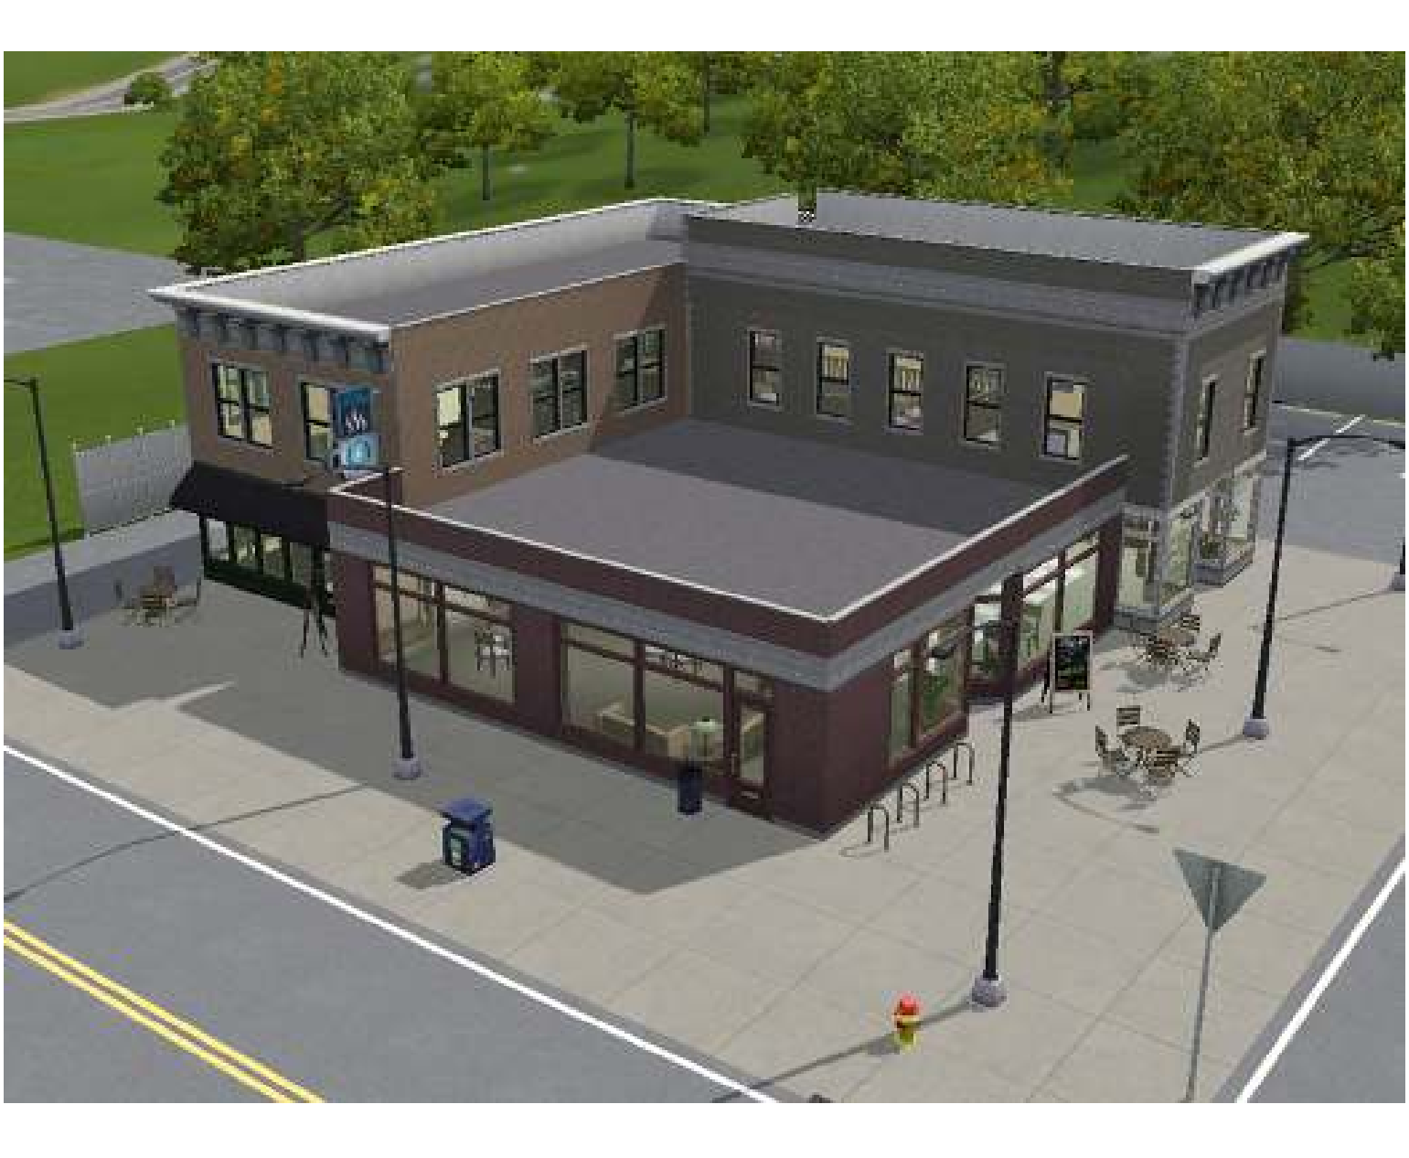


If you are studying Fine Art, have the Avant Garde trait, or are working on the Street Art skill, the Grotto is a great place to visit. Go upstairs and use the walls to paint murals without the fear of being arrested and fined. The Grotto not only allows street art on their walls, they encourage it. Other art-minded Sims can perform guitar on the small stage to improve their Guitar skill and get some exposure.



Those working on their Painting skill can practice their art on a canvas upstairs.

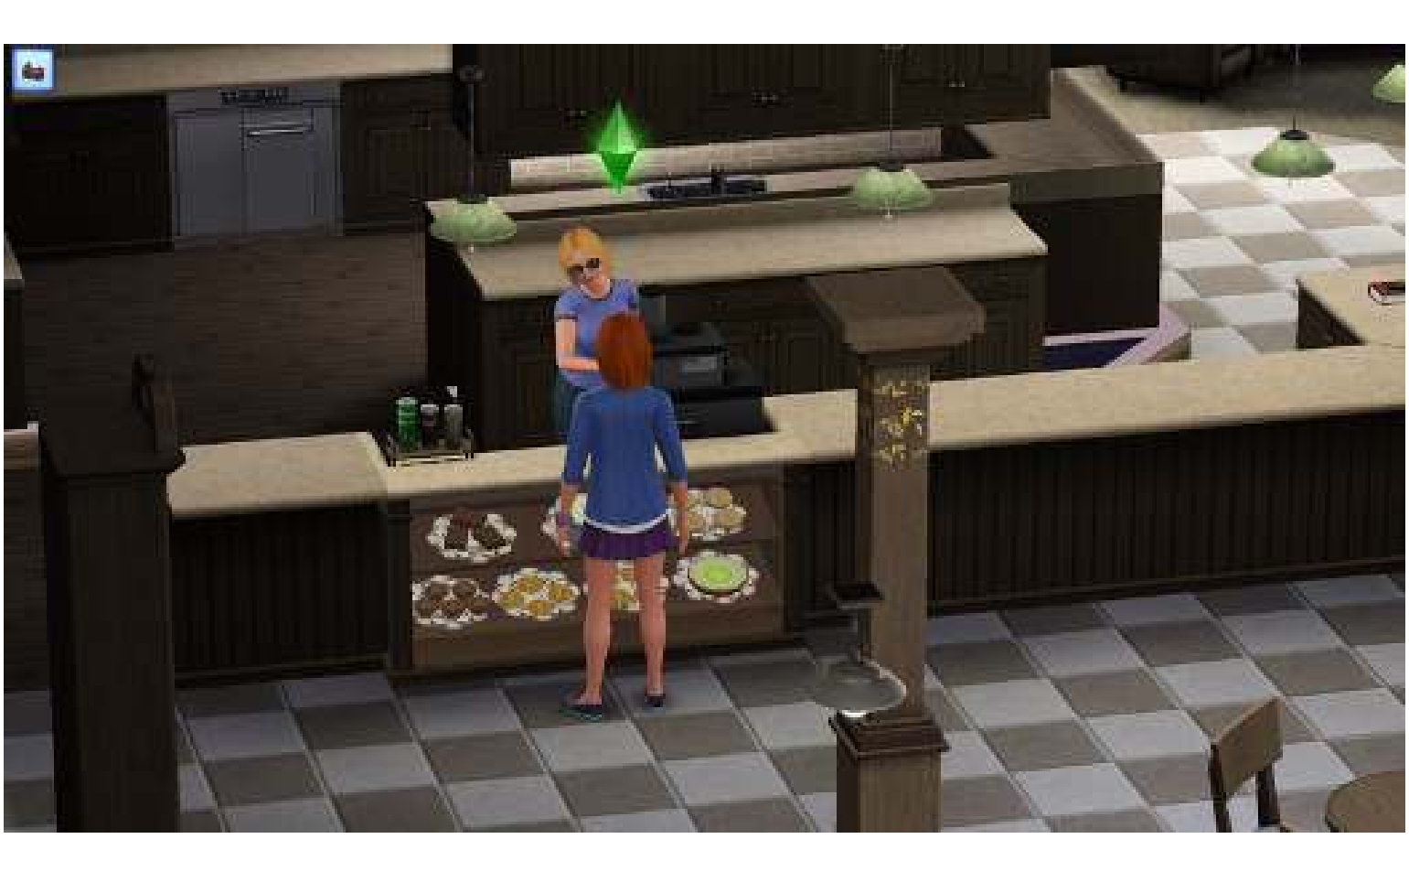
Roasted Toasted Beans Coffee Shop



- Address: 1041 University Drive
- Venue Type: Coffee Shop
- Operating Hours: 5 AM to 1 AM

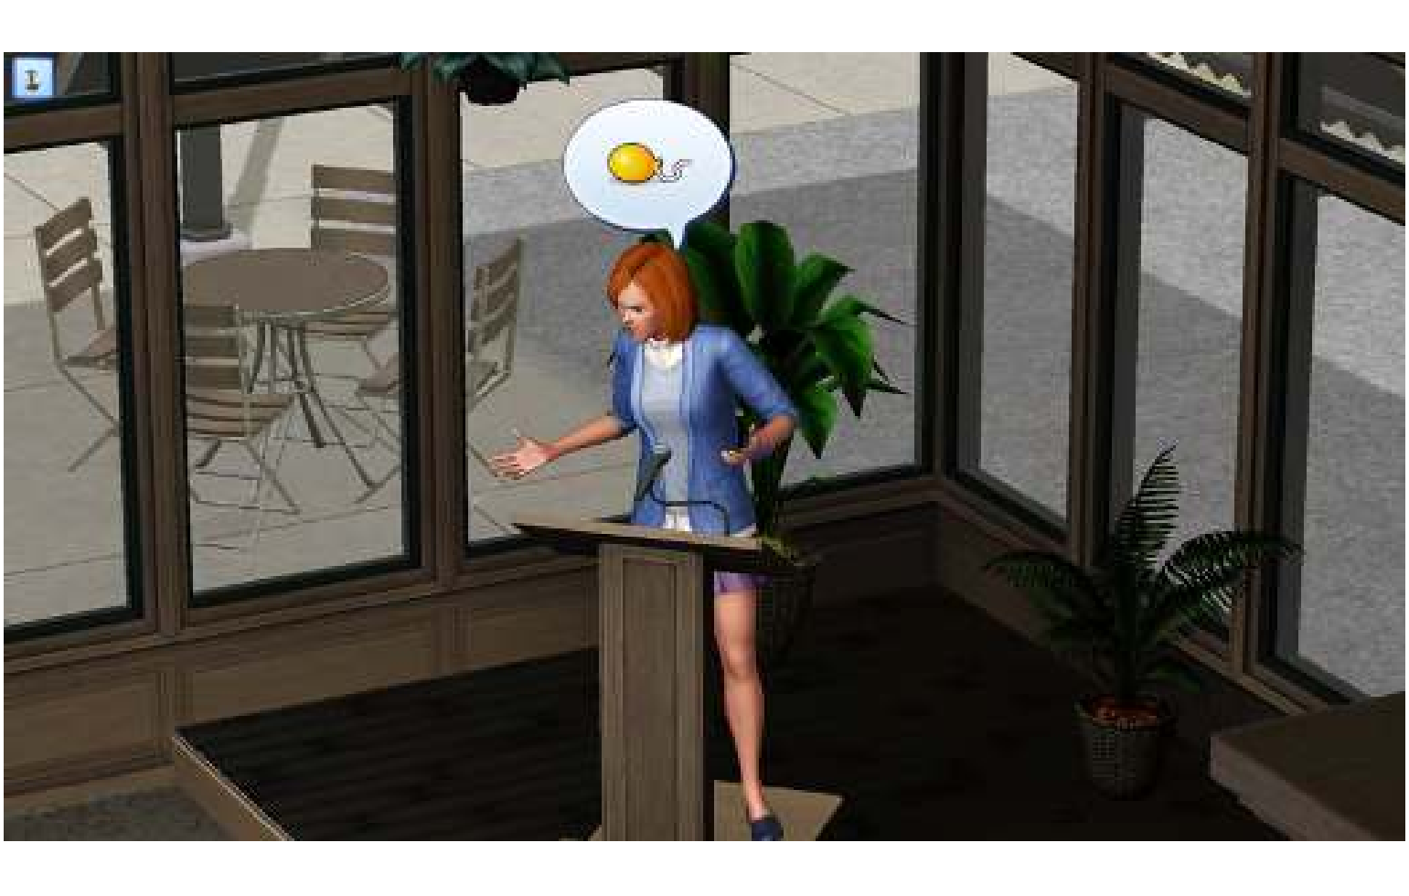
The Roasted Toasted Beans Coffee Shop is not only a great place to get a cup of java, but also to interact with other Sims. While it is a great place for Sims of all social groups, Rebels can find this meets some of their needs more than the other groups.

Primary Use



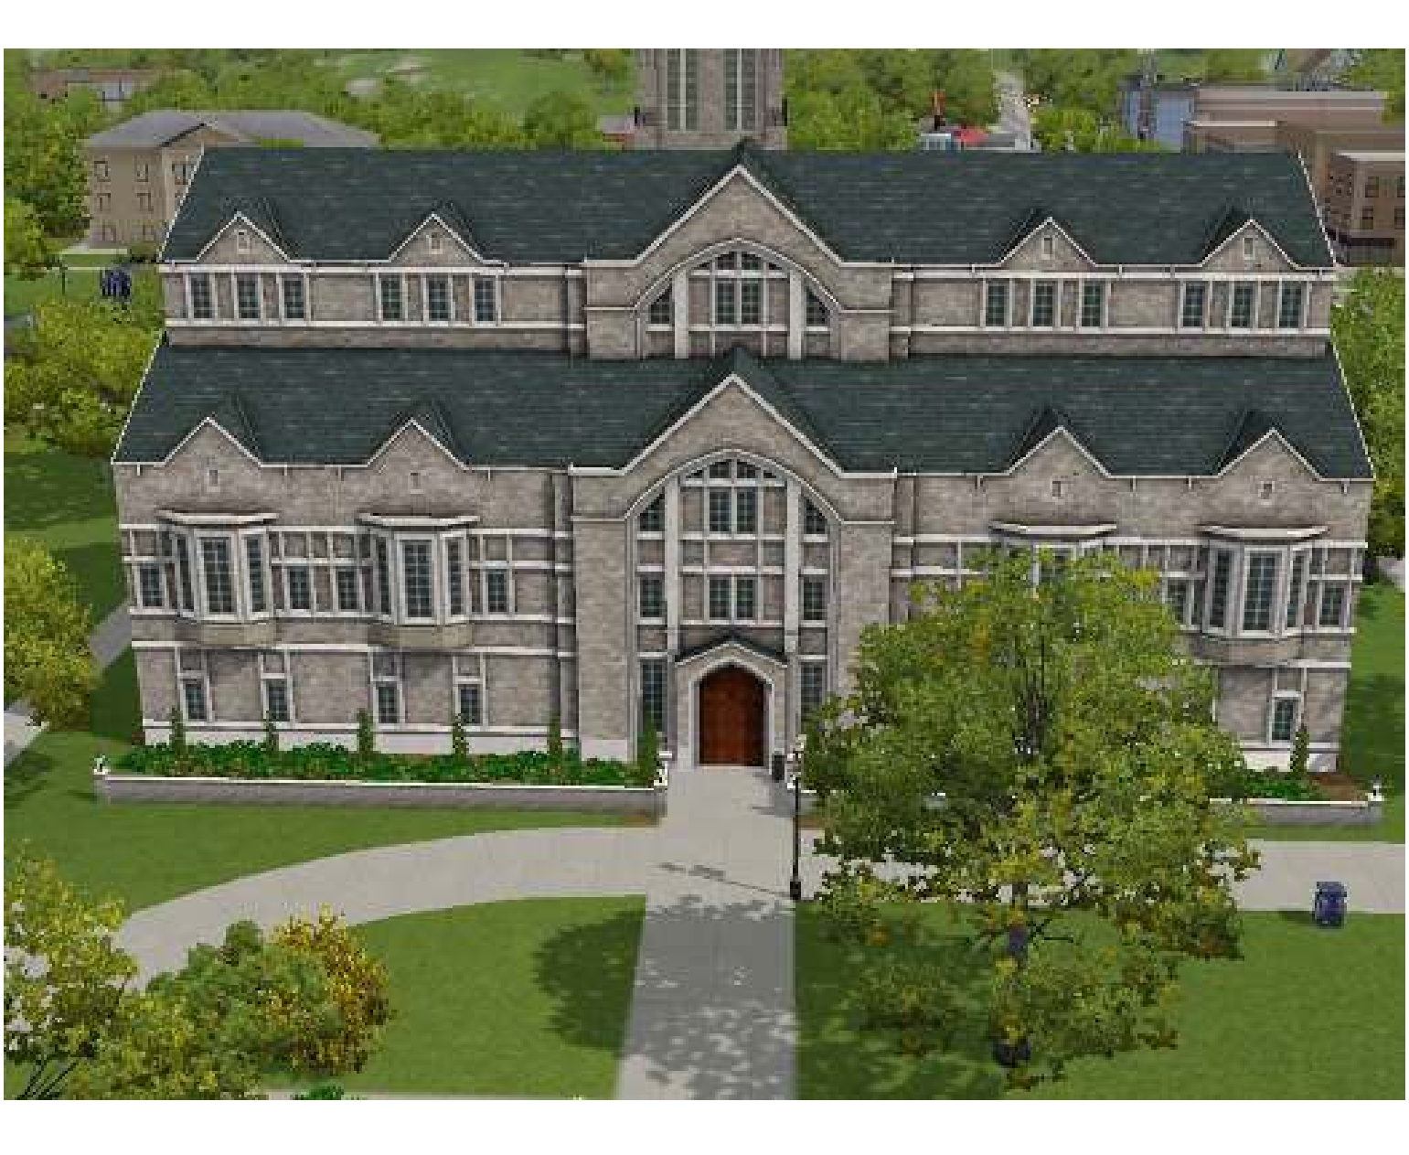
The main reason people come to this coffee shop is to enjoy a beverage and a snack. It opens early enough that you can hit this spot for some breakfast before class. It’s located directly across the street from the academic buildings on campus, making it easy to stop in and get something while still being close to the classrooms. While enjoying your drink or snack, be sure to do some socializing with fellow Sims to get your Social level up before or after classes.

Additional Activities



For Rebels or those pursuing a Communications degree, the Roasted Toasted Beans Coffee Shop also features a podium. Use this to practice a speech, give a lecture, announce a protest, or for those wanting to increase their Influence with the Rebel social group, take the time to Say What’s Wrong with the World. This is a good way to build up your cred with the Rebels. The shop also has bookshelves on both floors where you can find a book to read while you are in the shop.

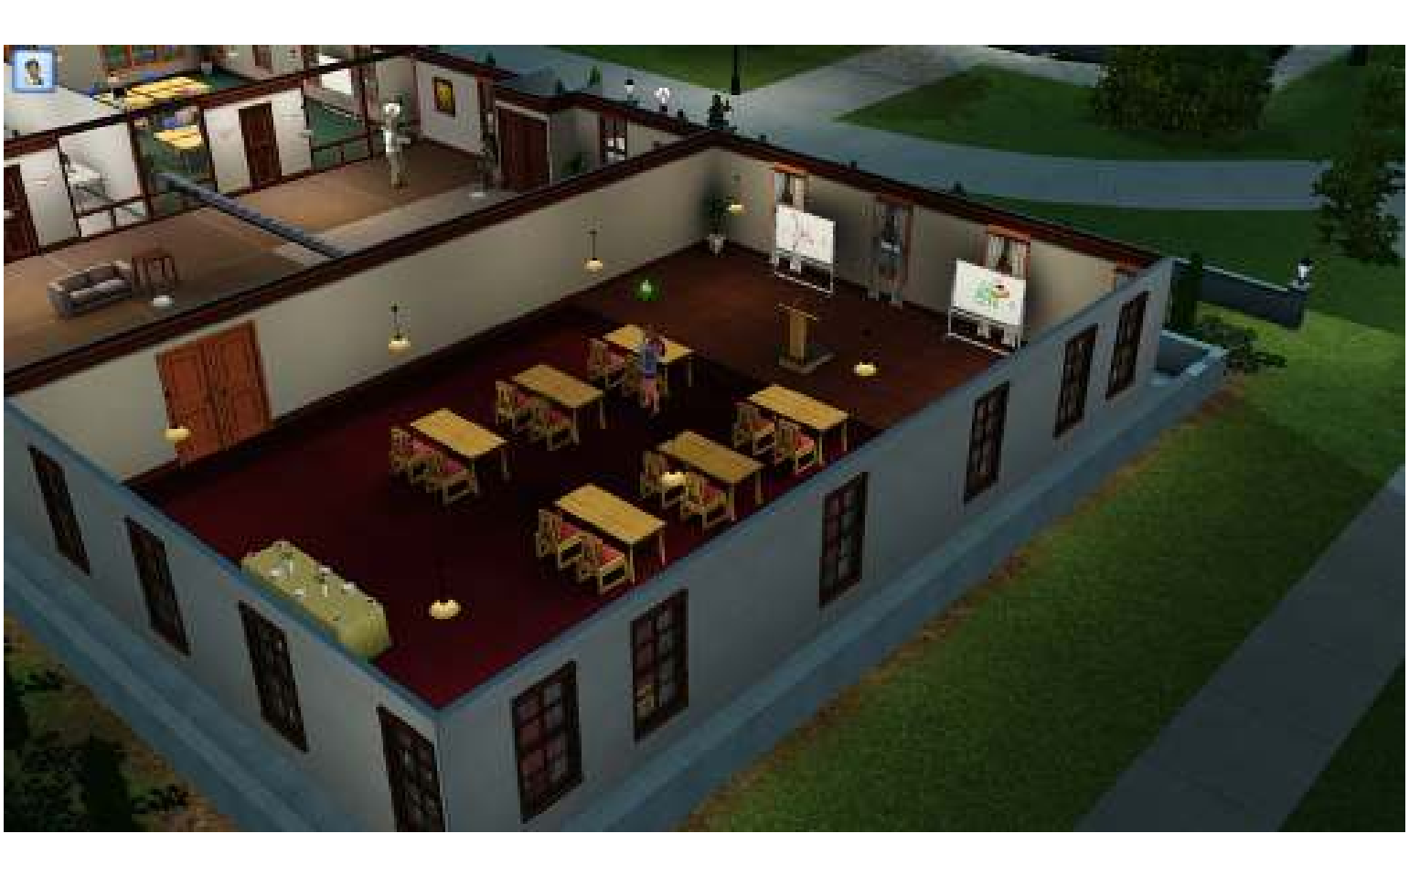
Conners Student Union Building



- Address: 110 Sims University
- Venue Type: Student Union
- Operating Hours: 6 AM to 1 AM

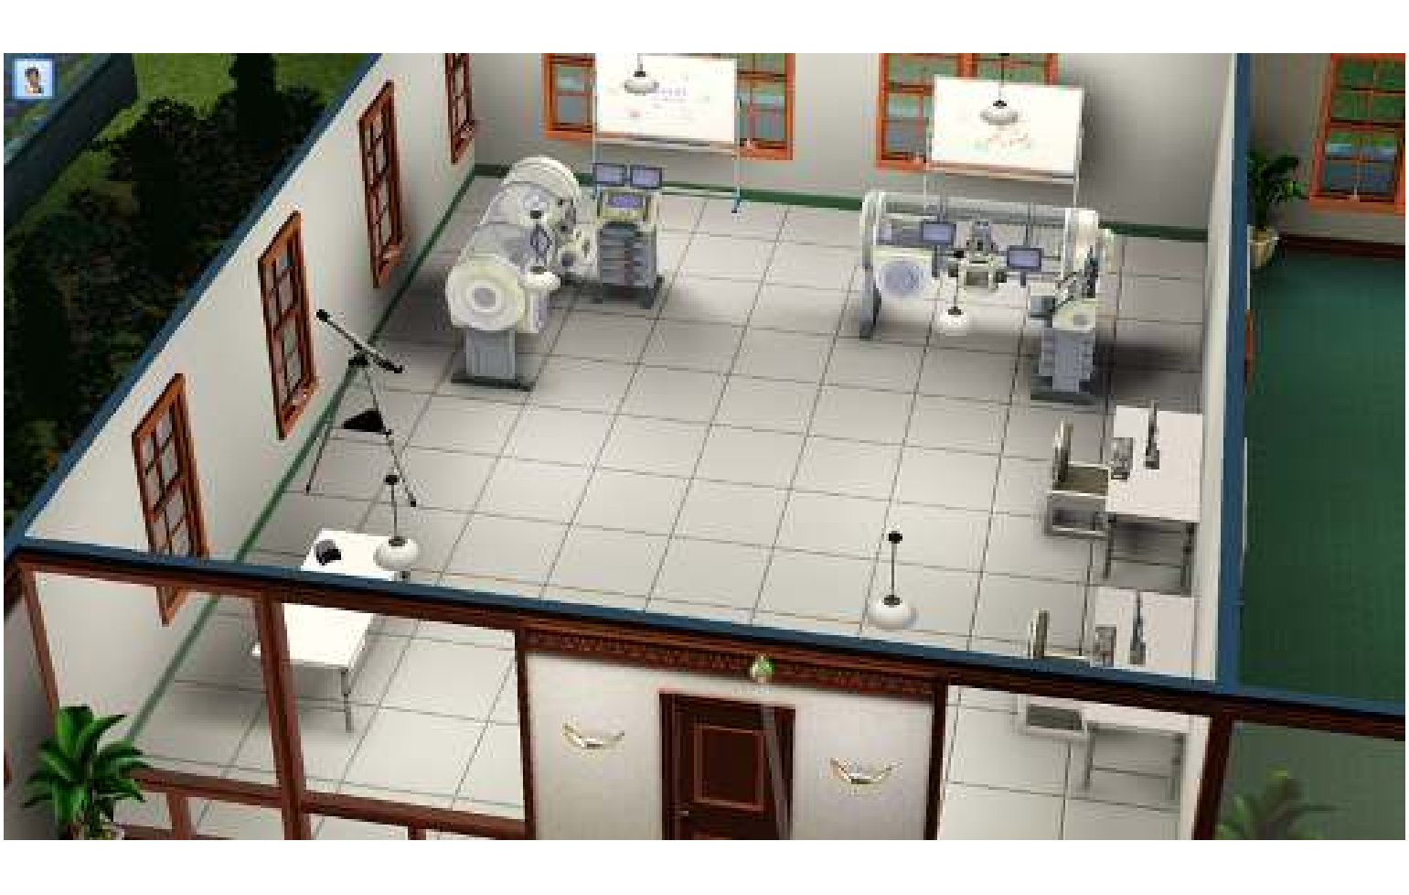
Located among the academic buildings on campus, the Student Union offers many different functions. Every student needs to visit this building at least once a week and those who want to succeed with good grades will stop in on a regular basis.

Primary Use

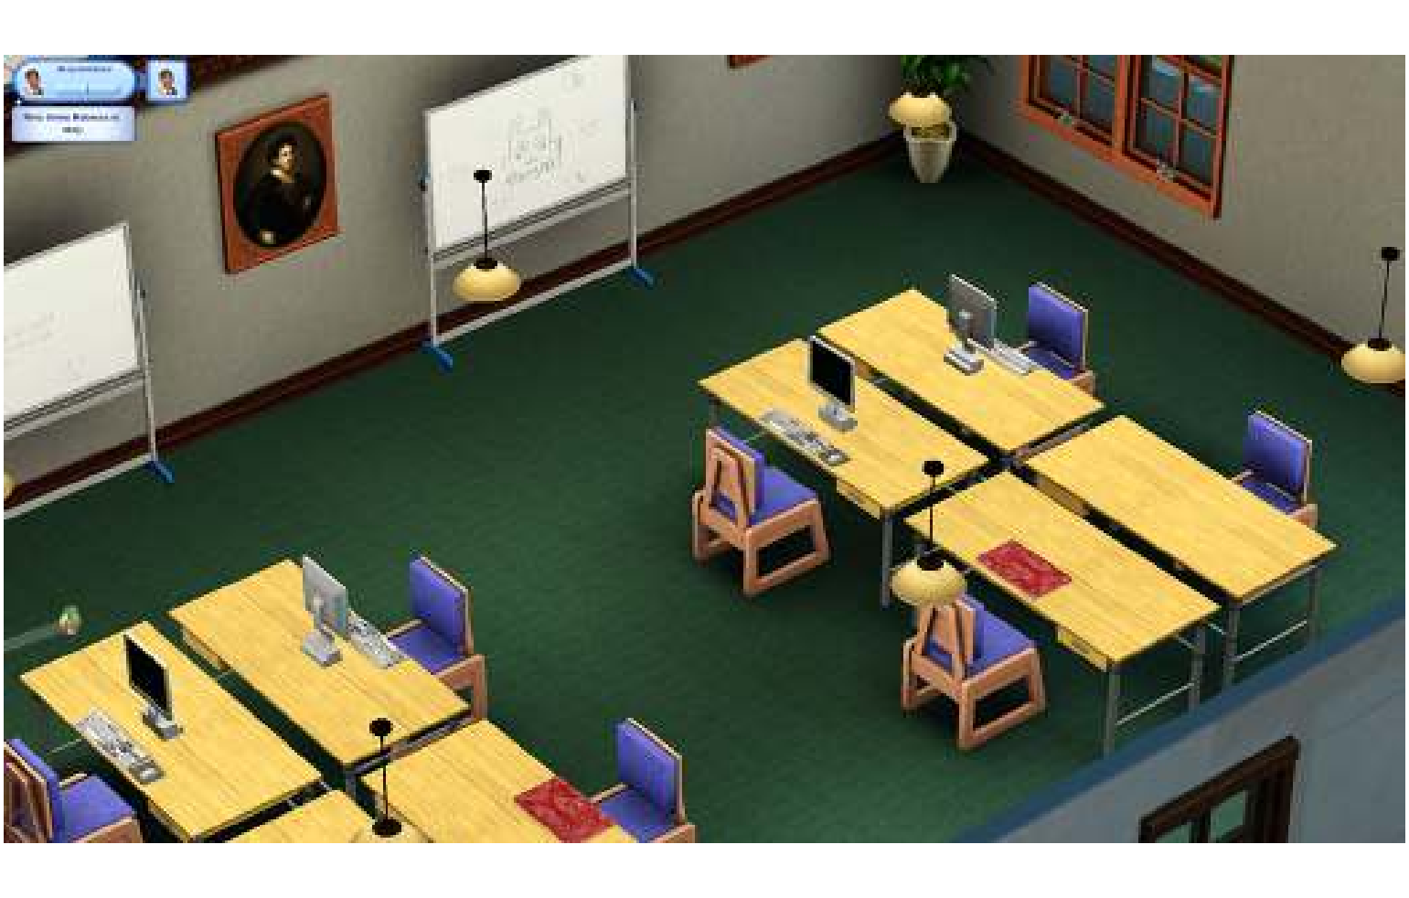


The lecture hall is located on the first floor of the Student Union. Each Sim working on a degree has one lecture on their schedule each week. The lecture hall is different than other classes because you can choose different socials during the lecture such as sleeping through the lecture, paying attention, taking notes, and asking questions. While a lecture is not taking place, you can use the podium to practice a speech or other speaking activities and the white boards for practicing your art skills or solving an equation depending on your major.

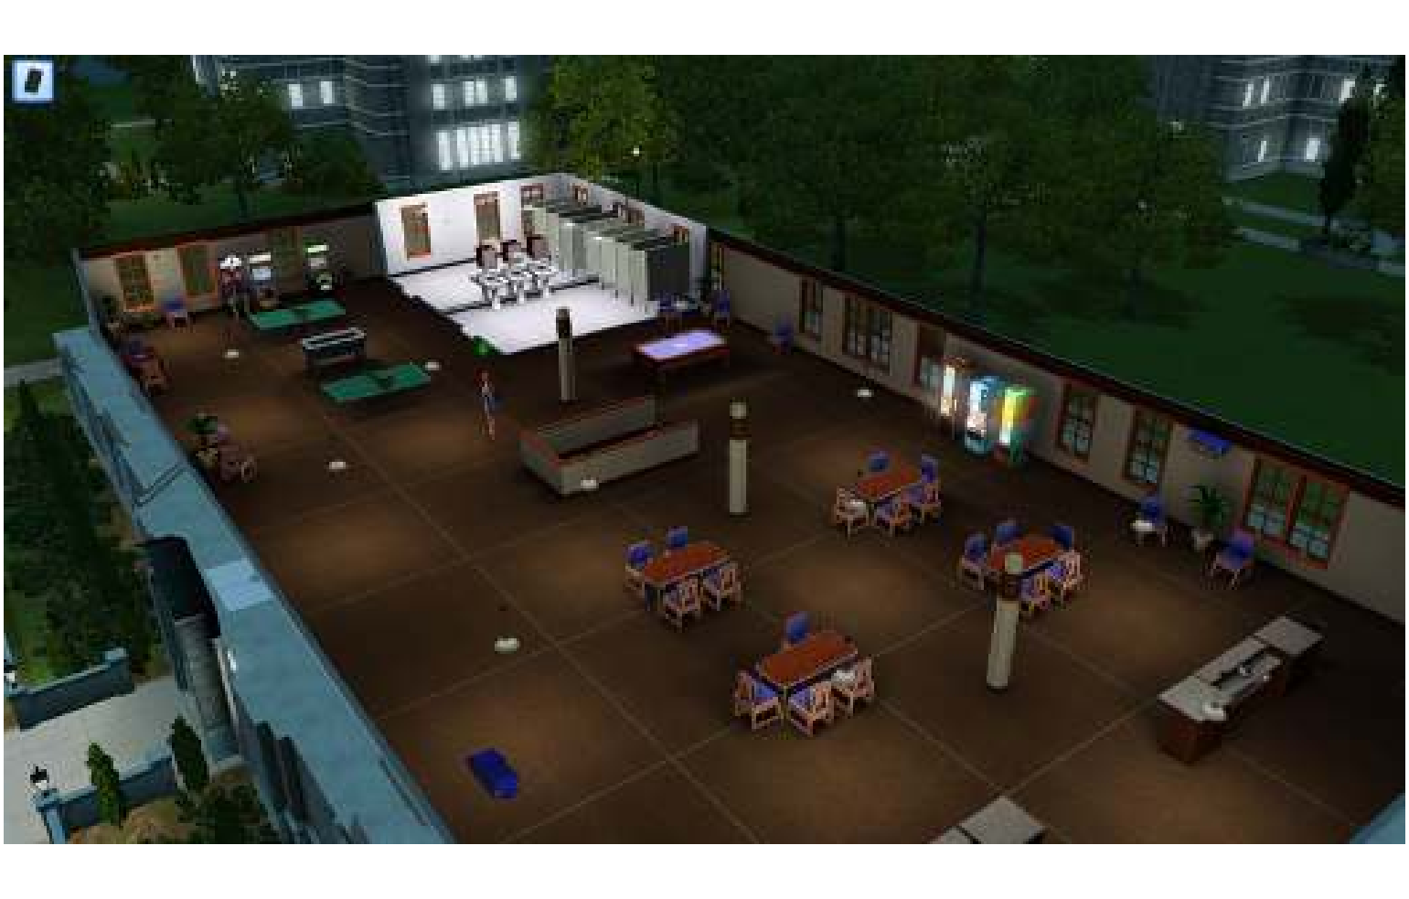
Additional Activities



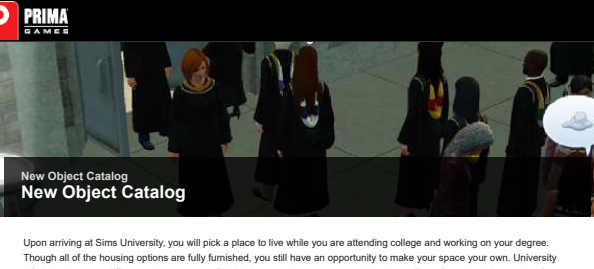
A science room is also located on the first floor. This room contains a couple Science Research Stations, Brain Enhancing Machines, computers, and white boards. While this is a great place for Sims working on their Science degree and Science skill, all Sims can use it for entertainment or studying.



The computer room is next door to the science room. The computers in here can be used for studying, chatting, playing video games, and all other actions available on computers.



Need some fun and socializing? Then head upstairs for some excitement. There is a small bar where you can make some fruit juice. You can also get soda or snacks from vending machines. After getting a snack, play video games or billiards. Plus, this room has two ping pong tables where you can play and work on your Ping Pong skill, which can help increase your Influence with the Jock social group—as does a game of juice pong.

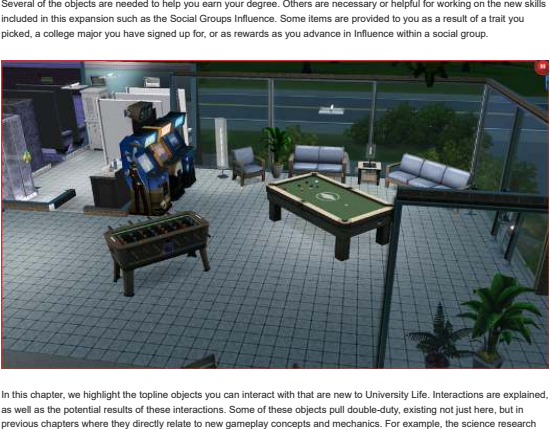


New Object Catalog

New Object Catalog

Upon arriving at Sims University, you will pick a place to live while you are attending college and working on your degree. Though all of the housing options are fully furnished, you still have an opportunity to make your space your own. University Life includes many different objects—most of which have a college or young adult theme. Even if you don't have a lot of Simoleons, you can find inexpensive objects to customize your dwelling to make it more appealing, or you can upgrade items such as furniture to make your stay more enjoyable.

Several of the objects are needed to help you earn your degree. Others are necessary or helpful for working on the new skills included in this expansion such as the Social Groups Influence. Some items are provided to you as a result of a trait you picked, a college major you have signed up for, or as rewards as you advance in Influence within a social group.



In this chapter, we highlight the topline objects you can interact with that are new to University Life. Interactions are explained, as well as the potential results of these interactions. Some of these objects pull double-duty, existing not just here, but in previous chapters where they directly relate to new gameplay concepts and mechanics. For example, the science research station, useful for developing the Science skill, is also detailed in the "Science Skill" section of the New Careers and Skills chapter.

Depreciation

As soon as you buy an object and then exit Buy Mode, the object loses value. The immediate value hit is significant, but not devastating: 15 percent. With each additional day, the object loses more value: 10 percent per day. The value of an object finally bottoms out at 40 percent of its original value. So, if you bought the SimmerChar Dual-State Stove for 400, the object would lose 60 on the first day. The next day, it would lose another 40. If you sold the object back after two weeks of use, you would get 160 back.

However, not everything in this world goes down in value upon purchase. Some art actually increases in value.

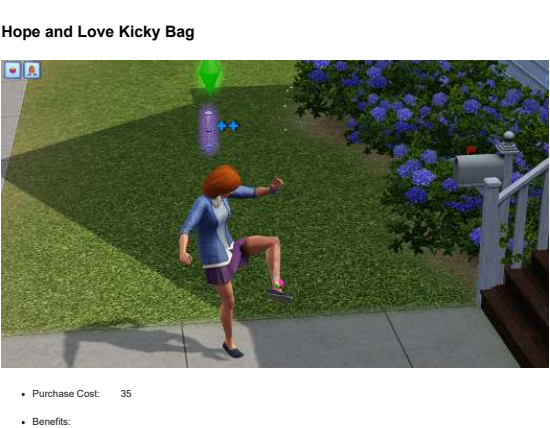
New Objects & Interactions

If you have played The Sims games before, you know that most objects can be used (and abused) by Sims—in fact, that's usually the point of putting an object on your lot. It should serve a function. Some objects have no function beyond boosting a room's environmental score and giving Sims the Decorated or Nicely Decorated moodlets.

Other objects have interactions that provide learning or entertainment or satisfy a need. These objects and their interactions are detailed in this section of the object catalog. To see what interactions are available on an object, just left-click on it. A radial menu appears. Click on an interaction to add it to the action queue in the screen's upper-left corner.

So, while there are many new objects in University Life in the decoration or furniture categories, we'll drill down on all of the new objects that affect skill development, provide fun, or result in new activities. Many of these objects are also referenced elsewhere in this guide in chapters such as New Careers and Skills, Tour of Sims University, or even In Pursuit of Higher Education.

Hope and Love Kicky Bag



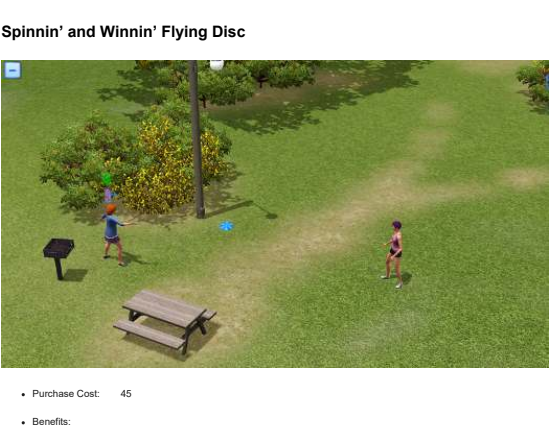
- Purchase Cost: 35
- Benefits:
- Fun: 5
- + Athletic
- Description: Kicky Bag is the ultimate community game; only cooperation and goofy antics will keep our society off the ground. Play with friends for the admiration (or scorn) of your peers.

When you need to increase your Fun need after a tough day of classes, take out a Kicky Bag and kick it around. This object also helps you increase your Influence with the Jock social group while improving your Athletic skill at the same time. You can get one of these free from the table at the Meet and Greet at the start of the term.

This object has two interactions:

- Play Kicky Bag: Kick around the bag wherever you are. This is a great activity to do in the two hours you have between classes.
- Play Kicky Bag with Another Sim: Not only do you have fun, you can also improve your relationship with another Sim just by playing.

Spinnin' and Winnin' Flying Disc



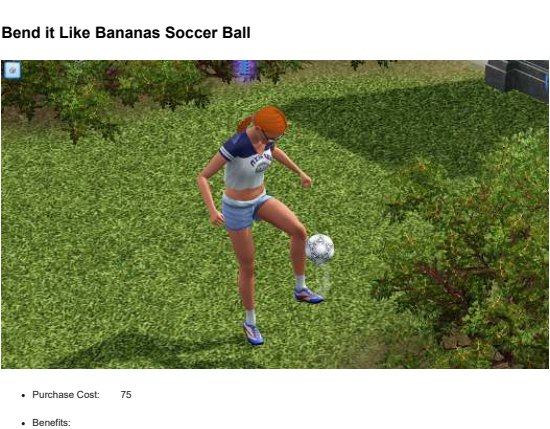
- Purchase Cost: 45
- Benefits:
- Fun: 6
- + Athletic
- Description: Baseballs and footballs are tools of The Man, man. Subvert existing power structures by playing catch with a gnarly friend. Made from organic Amazonian plastic.

This object can only be used with another Sim. This makes it a great activity for improving your relationship with another Sim. Throwing the flying disc can improve your Influence with the Jocks social group. Play with a Jock to increase your Influence even more. You can get one of these free from the table at the Meet and Greet at the start of the term. Because it takes some space to play catch, you usually need to go to a park to play with another Sim.

This object has one interaction:

- Play Catch with Another Sim: Not only do you have fun, you can also improve your relationship with another Sim just by playing.

Bend it Like Bananas Soccer Ball



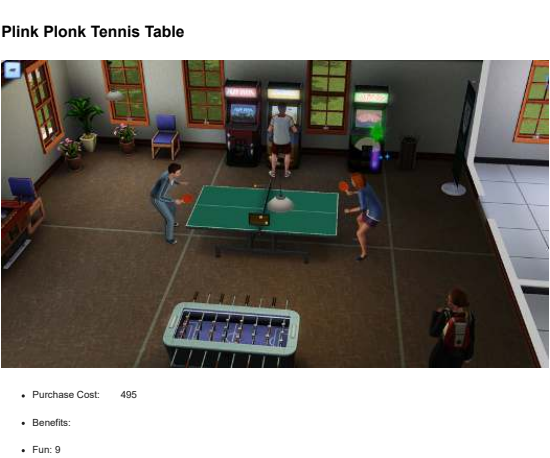
- Purchase Cost: 75
- Benefits:
- Fun: 5
- + Athletic
- Description: Enjoy the world's most popular game with friends and family. With grinding hours of practice, a talented athlete might match the skills of the legendary Tommy Wobber: Soccerball Wizard.

The soccer ball is a great way to improve your Athletic skill while also having fun. You can play with it by yourself or with another Sim.

This object has two interactions:

- Play Soccer: Practice your soccer juggling skills with the soccer ball anywhere, anytime.
- Play Soccer with Another Sim: Kick the ball back and forth with another Sim to improve your relationship with that Sim.

Plink Plonk Tennis Table



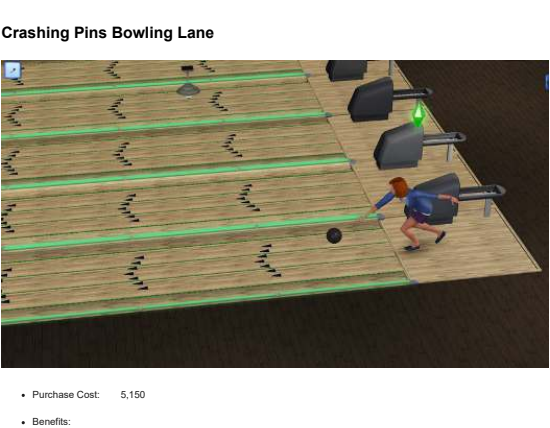
- Purchase Cost: 490
- Benefits:
- Fun: 8
- + Group Activity
- Description: This table is an altar of competition, awarding bragging rights and inspiring trash talk. Sharpen your skills at The Gentleman's Miniature Sport or line up for casual party games.

You can play two different games on the ping pong table. Ping pong has its own hidden skill. The more you play, the better you get. Juice pong is more of a social game.

This object has two interactions:

- Play Ping Pong with Another Sim: It takes two to play ping pong. Build your Ping Pong skill while improving a relationship.
- Play Juice Pong with Another Sim: This improves your Influence with the Jocks, improves relationships with other Sims, and gives you a Juiced moodlet.

Crashing Pins Bowling Lane



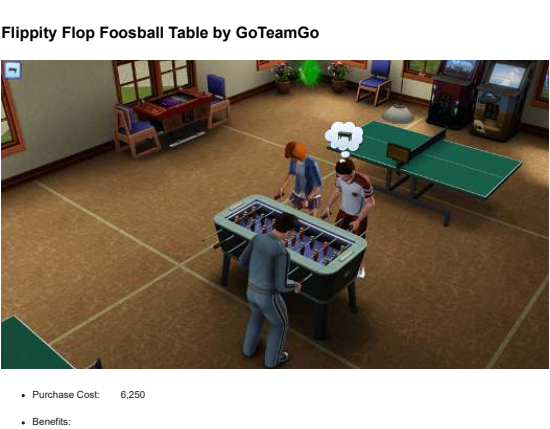
- Purchase Cost: 5,150
- Benefits:
- Fun: 8
- + Group Activity
- Description: Fill your life with excitement: clattering pins, the rumble of balls cruising down the hardwood. Play with friends or furiously hone your own skills for a guaranteed good time.

Jocks like to bowl, so if you are working on Influence with that social group, take some time to bowl. Because the bowling lane is expensive and takes up a lot of space, you probably won't buy one while attending Sims University. However, once you are home, build a basement at your home just for a bowling lane of your own. While at Sims University, stop by the B's Bowlarama where you can bowl for free.

This object has two interactions:

- Bowl: Roll a hard, heavy ball at 10 pins and try to knock them all down. Bowling builds up the Bowling skill.
- Bowl with Another Sim: Have fun, work on your Bowling skill, and improve your relationship with another Sim. Bowling can make a great activity for a date as well.

Flippity Flop Foosball Table by GoTeamGo



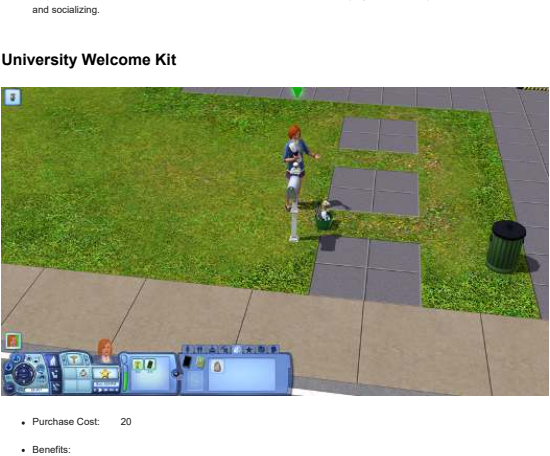
- Purchase Cost: 6,250
- Benefits:
- Fun: 8
- Group Activity
- Description: Line up across from your best friend or worst enemy for the ultimate test of worth: foosball. No matter where the ball goes, just keep spinning. Everything will work out.

This is an expensive object. However, if you want to play, you don't need to buy one. Just go to the Student Union and play the foosball table on the second floor. You can usually find someone around to play with as well.

This object has two interactions:

- Play Foosball: Have some fun and play a game of foosball by yourself.
- Play Foosball with Another Sim: You can have up to three other Sims playing foosball with you. This provides both fun and socializing.

University Welcome Kit



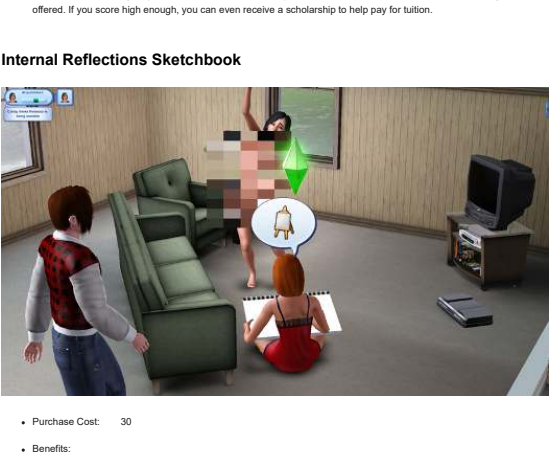
- Purchase Cost: 20
- Benefits:
- Portable
- Description: This handy little kit is a great introduction to the world of University! Whether you're currently enrolled in University or just planning for the day, display your school spirit proudly.

You can purchase the University Welcome Kit or wait for the llama mascot to deliver it to your home. It has goodies as well as an aptitude test that you must take before enrolling at Sims University. Be sure to add it to your inventory and take it with you to college.

This object has two interactions:

- Get University Freebies: This basket of goodies has a University banner and a University shirt that you can wear with pride.
- Take Sims University Aptitude Test: Take this test if you want to attend Sims University. After you take it, you receive the results. Depending on your traits and other attributes, you can earn extra credits in one or more of the degrees offered. If you score high enough, you can even receive a scholarship to help pay for tuition.

Internal Reflections Sketchbook



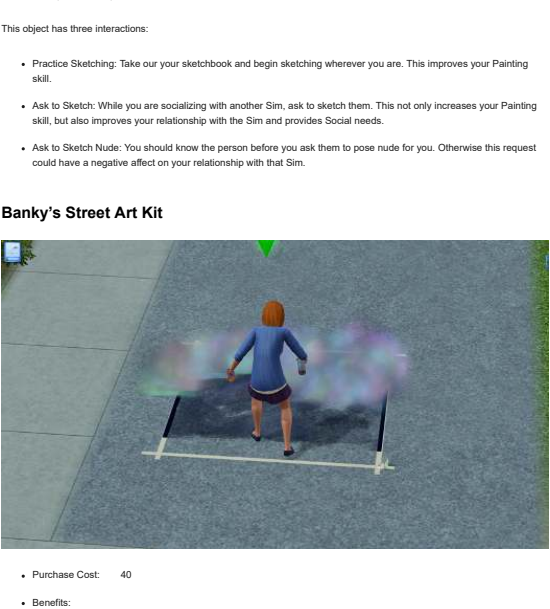
- Purchase Cost: 30
- Benefits:
- + Painting
- Portable
- Description: Want a future in art or design? Well then, you'd better carry a sketchbook! Ideas are fast and fleeting; record every moment of inspiration right in the moment. University Fine Arts majors tote this visual journal to render big gains to academic performance.

You are given this object for free when you enroll in a Fine Arts major. In fact, you use it during your activity class once a week. While you have it, you can also sketch other Sims—either clothed or in the nude.

This object has three interactions:

- Practice Sketching: Take out your sketchbook and begin sketching wherever you are. This improves your Painting skill.
- Ask to Sketch: While you are socializing with another Sim, ask to sketch them. This not only increases your Painting skill, but also improves your relationship with the Sim and promotes Social needs.
- Ask to Sketch Nude: You should know the person before you ask them to pose nude for you. Otherwise the request could have a negative effect on your relationship with that Sim.

Banky's Street Art Kit



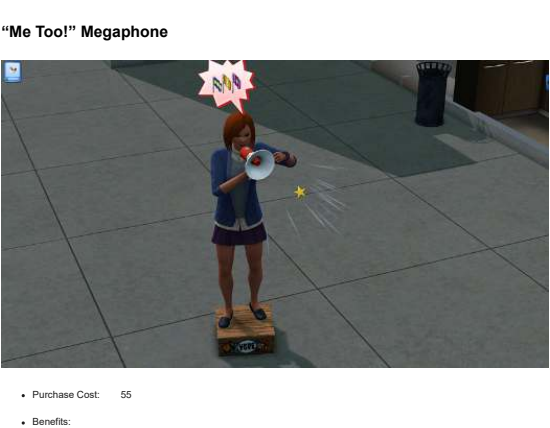
- Purchase Cost: 40
- Benefits:
- Fun: 1
- Portable
- Description: Fill your neighborhood with Truth! World-famous street artist Banky Mud-Ilé has personally approved this subversive collection of high-end spray paints. Let your canvas be, like, the whole world, man.

You are given this object for free if you have the Avant Garde trait or when you reach level 2 Influence for the Rebel social group. As you improve your Street Art skill, you can paint more types of art and larger, more detailed pieces.

This object has three interactions:

- Tag Wall: Select a blank wall space and leave your mark. The higher your Street Art skill, the better the tag.
- Ground Mural: Paint a mural on a sidewalk or other paved flat spot. The more advanced your skill level, the larger and more detailed your murals can be.
- Wall Mural: As you move up in your Street Art skill, you can begin painting wall murals. By the time you reach level 10, your murals will literally be works of art.

"Me Too!" Megaphone



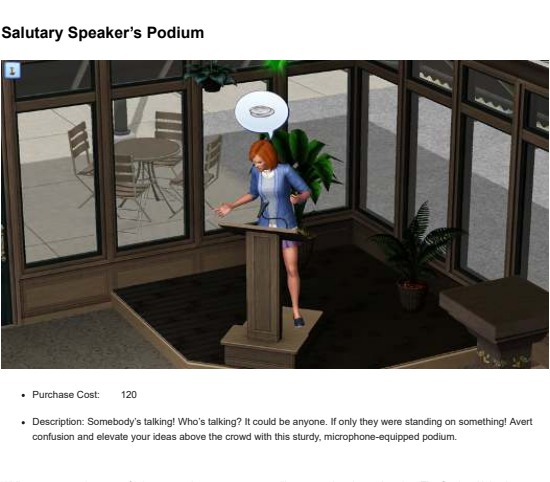
- Purchase Cost: 55
- Benefits:
- Portable
- Description: Sometimes the cries of the brave Sims go unheard. Maybe society is against them, or maybe they're just not shouting loud enough? Inspire crowds and wake up others with this megaphone.

You are given this object for free when you reach level 2 Influence for the Rebel social group. It lets you do several actions and socials louder than normal.

This object has five interactions:

- Announce Protest: Have you decided to have a protest? Let everyone know about it and where it will be.
- Proclaim Love for a Sim: Are you finding yourself attracted to someone? Instead of standing outside their home with a boombox, use the megaphone to let that Sim—and everyone else in town—know how you feel about them.
- Rant about a Topic: This interaction comes complete with a soapbox. Find an open spot and then let everyone know your opinion on a wide range of topics. This gives you more Influence with the Rebels.
- Loud Greeting: Worried that other Sims might not notice you? Use the megaphone to get their attention and start a conversation.
- Wake Up: Your roommate should be getting up and heading off to class. Wake them up with the megaphone—they will eventually appreciate it. Maybe not right away, though.

Salutary Speaker's Podium



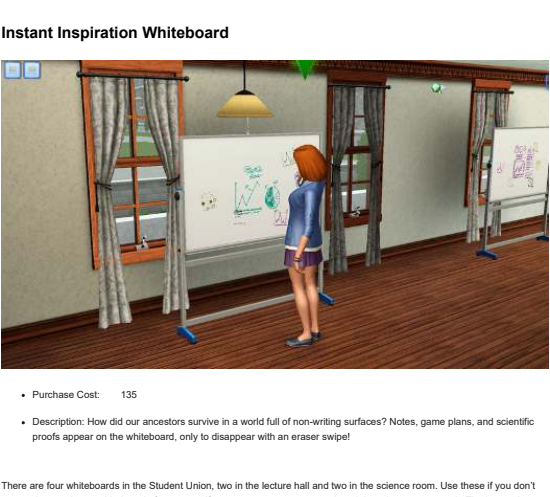
- Purchase Cost: 120
- Description: Somebody's talking! Who's talking? It could be anyone. If only they were standing on something! Avert confusion and elevate your ideas above the crowd with this sturdy, microphone-equipped podium.

While you can purchase one for home use, in most cases you will use one already at a location. The Student Union has one in the lecture hall and another podium is at the Roasted Toasted Beans Coffee Shop.

This object has four interactions:

- Practice Speech: This action can increase your Charisma skill. Practice makes perfect.
- Announce a Protest: Not only do you announce a protest, this interaction also allows you to pick the time, location, type of protest, and the topic you want to protest.
- Give a Lecture: Here is your chance to share your knowledge. Select from a variety of topics and give a lecture.
- Say What's Wrong with the World: Share your opinion with those in the area who are listening. As you do this, you build cred with the Rebels and increase your Influence with this social group.

Instant Inspiration Whiteboard



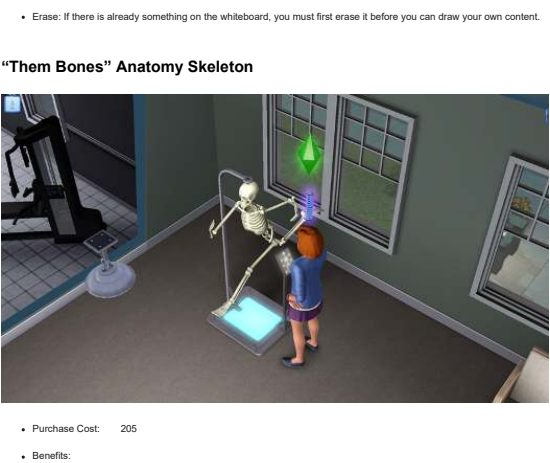
- Purchase Cost: 135
- Description: How did our ancestors survive in a world full of non-writing surfaces? Notes, game plans, and scientific proofs appear on the whiteboard, only to disappear with an eraser swipe!

There are four whiteboards in the Student Union, two in the lecture hall and two in the science room. Use these if you don't want to have to buy a whiteboard of your own. If you want to use one, erase it and then do your own work. The interactions available depend on your Sim's traits and Social Group Influence.

This object has different interactions:

- Make a Chart: Draw a chart on the board and increase your Influence with the Jocks.
- Create Concept Art: This is available if your Sim has the Avant Garde trait.
- Draw a Diagram: Bookworms can draw a diagram on the whiteboard.
- Design a Sports Play: This option is available if you have some Influence with the Jocks and it will increase your Influence as well.
- Outline an Idea: Draw this on the whiteboard and increase your Influence with the Rebels.
- Solve Equation: Computer Whiz Sims can solve equations on whiteboards.
- Give Presentation: Once something is on the whiteboard, you can then give a presentation to build up your Charisma skill.
- Give Presentation to a Sim: Target specific Sims for your presentation.
- Erase: If there is already something on the whiteboard, you must first erase it before you can draw your own content.

"Them Bones" Anatomy Skeleton



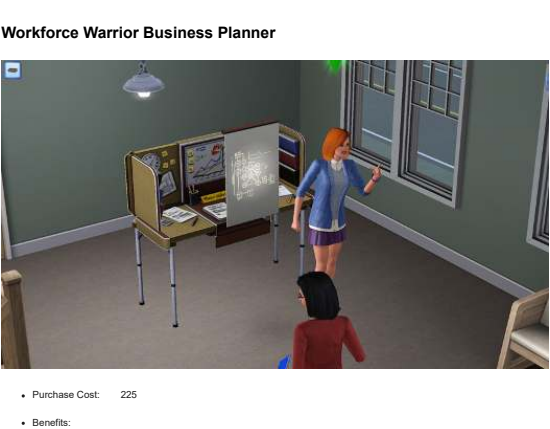
- Purchase Cost: 205
- Benefits:
- Portable
- Description: There are many ways to teach anatomy, but nothing beats hands-on experience! This actual Sim skeleton is connected to a high-tech touchpad, allowing remote manipulation of most joints and components.

You are given this object for free when you enroll in the Physical Education major or the Science and Medicine major. Use it to study and increase your academic progress in these two majors and improve your Science skill.

This object has two interactions:

- Bone Up on Anatomy: Your Sim studies the skeleton and works on improving the Science skill.
- Ground Mural: By using the touchpad, your Sim can make the skeleton move for studying kinesthetics of the human body—and get some advancement in the Science skill as well.

Workforce Warrior Business Planner



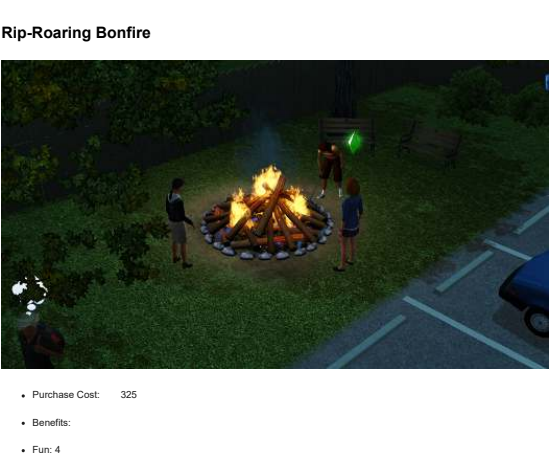
- Purchase Cost: 225
- Benefits:
- Portable
- Description: With the cutting edge of modern nanotechnology, the Workforce Warrior expands into anything your bottom line desires. It's a briefcase, desk, and projector wrapped up in one sleek article.

University Business majors tote this around so they can seize every opportunity to maximize their academic performance. They are issued a free Workforce Warrior Business Planner when they enroll in the Business major.

This object has two interactions:

- Work on Business Plan: Convert your business planner into a desk and get to work. This helps you improve your grades for the Business major.
- Give Business Presentation: Your business planner converts into a desk complete with a screen for giving a presentation. Use this interaction to help gain academic progress toward the Business degree.

Rip-Roaring Bonfire



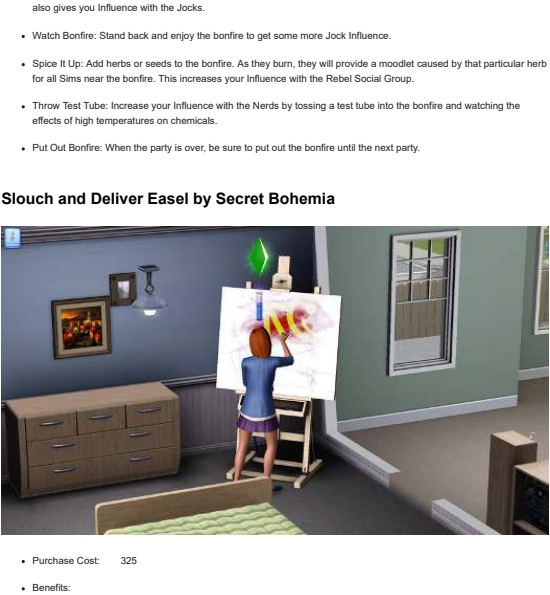
- Purchase Cost: 325
- Benefits:
- Fun: 4
- Hunger: 2
- Environment: 3
- Group Activity
- Portable
- Description: A summer evening classic, this bonfire is the perfect social catalyst. When carefully maintained, it'll keep your Sims extra toasty warm and well entertained. Enjoy a bonfire tonight!

Many locations already have a bonfire pit, such as the fraternity, the sorority, and several parks. Therefore, you do not need to purchase one. Hosting a bonfire party, or even attending one will increase your Influence with the Jocks.

This object has seven interactions:

- Light Bonfire: To get the party started, walk over to the bonfire pit and light it.
- Add Wood: Build up the bonfire and increase your Jock Social Group Influence.
- Poke Bonfire: Move the embers around to keep the fire roaring so it does not die down—and the party with it. This also gives you Influence with the Jocks.
- Watch Bonfire: Stand back and enjoy the bonfire to get some more Jock Influence.
- Spice It Up: Add herbs or seeds to the bonfire. As they burn, they will provide a moodlet caused by that particular herb for all Sims near the bonfire. This increases your Influence with the Rebel Social Group.
- Throw Test Tube: Increase your Influence with the Nerds by tossing a test tube into the bonfire and watching the effects of high temperatures on chemicals.
- Put Out Bonfire: When the party is over, be sure to put out the bonfire until the next party.

Slouch and Deliver Easel by Secret Bohemia



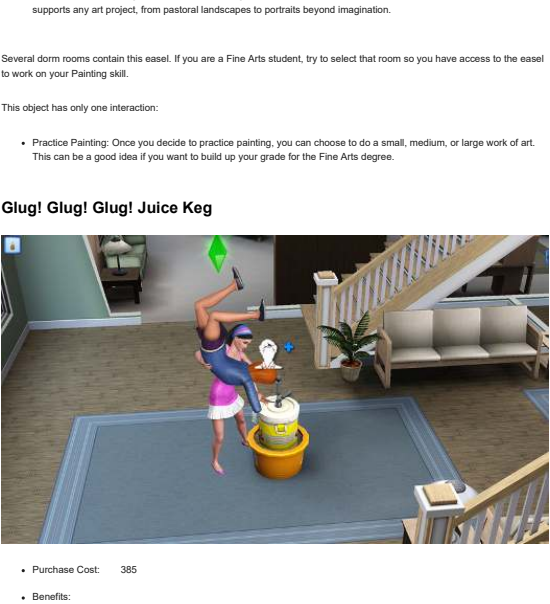
- Purchase Cost: 325
- Benefits:
- Fun: 2
- + Painting
- Description: Like cutting a peach in half, painting exposes the soul's darkest pit. The Slouch and Deliver easel supports any art project, from pastoral landscapes to portraits beyond imagination.

Several dorm rooms contain this easel. If you are a Fine Arts student, try to select that room so you have access to the easel to work on your Painting skill.

This object has only one interaction:

- Practice Painting: Once you decide to practice painting, you can choose to do a small, medium, or large work of art. This can be a good idea if you want to build up your grade for the Fine Arts degree.

Glug! Glug! Glug! Juice Keg



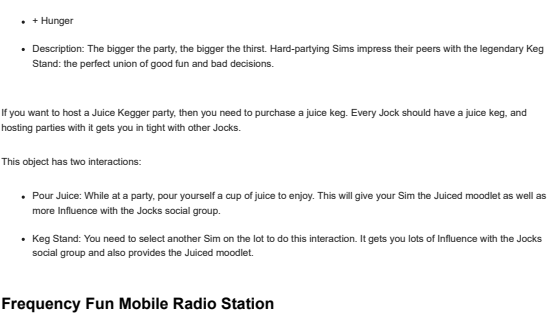
- Purchase Cost: 385
- Benefits:
- + Hunger
- Description: The bigger the party, the bigger the thirst. Hard-partying Sims impress their peers with the legendary Keg Stand: the perfect union of good fun and bad decisions.

If you want to host a Juice Kegger party, then you need to purchase a juice keg. Every Jock should have a juice keg, and hosting parties with it gets you in tight with other Jocks.

This object has two interactions:

- Pour Juice: While at a party, pour yourself a cup of juice to enjoy. This will give your Sim the Juiced moodlet as well as more Influence with the Jocks social group.
- Keg Stand: You need to select another Sim on the lot to do this interaction. It gets you lots of Influence with the Jocks social group and also provides the Juiced moodlet.

Frequency Fun Mobile Radio Station



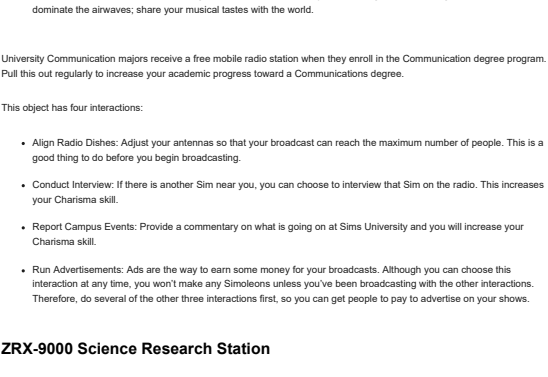
- Purchase Cost: 525
- Benefits:
- Fun: 4
- Portable
- Description: This portable broadcasting hub is a must-have for any Sim aspiring to broadcasting. Don't let The Man dominate the airwaves; share your musical tastes with the world.

University Communication majors receive a free mobile radio station when they enroll in the Communication degree program. Pull this out regularly to increase your academic progress toward a Communications degree.

This object has four interactions:

- Align Radio Dishes: Adjust your antennas so that your broadcast can reach the maximum number of people. This is a good thing to do before you begin broadcasting.
- Conduct Interview: If there is another Sim near you, you can choose to interview that Sim on the radio. This increases your Charisma skill.
- Report Campus Events: Provide a commentary on what is going on at Sims University and you will increase your Charisma skill.
- Run Advertisements: Ads are the way to earn some money for your broadcasts. Although you can choose this interaction at any time, you won't make any Simoleons unless you've been broadcasting with the other interactions. Therefore, do several of the other three interactions first, so you can get people to pay to advertise on your shows.

ZRX-9000 Science Research Station



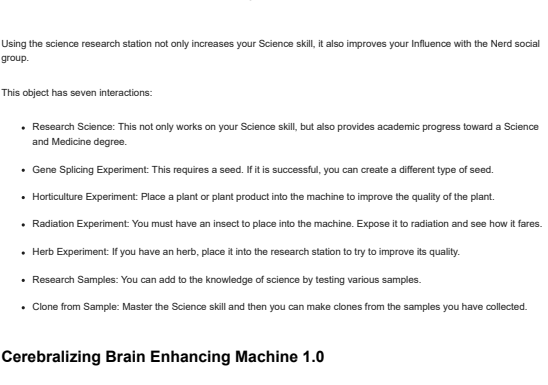
- Purchase Cost: 1,050
- Description: For the first time in history, every major scientific tool is in a single device. Conducts research, fabricates samples, and builds skills. Darker experiments might even be possible.

Using the science research station not only increases your Science skill, it also improves your Influence with the Nerd social group.

This object has seven interactions:

- Research Science: This not only works on your Science skill, but also provides academic progress toward a Science and Medicine degree.
- Gene Splicing Experiment: This requires a seed. If it is successful, you can create a different type of seed.
- Horticulture Experiment: Place a plant or plant product into the machine to improve the quality of the plant.
- Radiation Experiment: You must have an insect to place into the machine. Expose it to radiation and see how it fares.
- Herb Experiment: If you have an herb, place it into the research station to try to improve its quality.
- Research Samples: You can add to the knowledge of science by testing various samples.
- Clone from Sample: Master the Science skill and then you can make clones from the samples you have collected.

Cerebralizing Brain Enhancing Machine 1.0



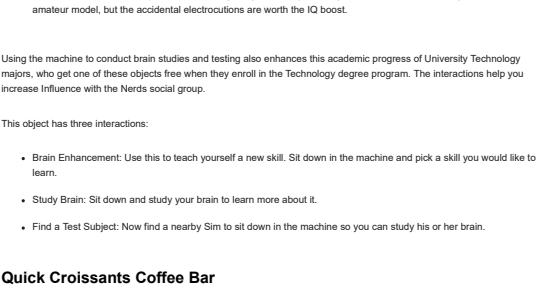
- Purchase Cost: 1,200
- Benefits:
- Portable
- Description: There's no way a bad haircut is getting in the way of real genius! This brain-enhancing machine is an amateur model, but the accidental electrocutions are worth the IQ boost.

Using the machine to conduct brain studies and testing also enhances the academic progress of University Technology majors, who get one of these objects free when they enroll in the Technology degree program. The interactions help you increase Influence with the Nerds social group.

This object has three interactions:

- Brain Enhancement: Use this to teach yourself a new skill. Sit down in the machine and pick a skill you would like to learn.
- Study Brain: Sit down and study your brain to learn more about it.
- Find a Test Subject: Now find a nearby Sim to sit down in the machine so you can study his or her brain.

Quick Croissants Coffee Bar



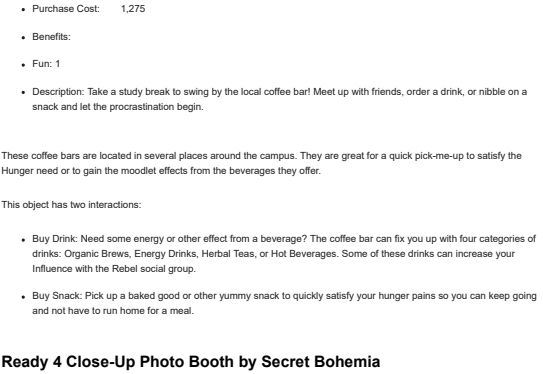
- Purchase Cost: 1,275
- Benefits:
- Fun: 1
- Description: Take a study break to swing by the local coffee bar! Meet up with friends, order a drink, or nibble on a snack and let the procrastination begin.

These coffee bars are located in several places around the campus. They are great for a quick pick-me-up to satisfy the Hunger need or to gain the moodlet effects from the beverages they offer.

This object has two interactions:

- Buy Drink: Need some energy or other effect from a beverage? The coffee bar can fix you up with four categories of drinks: Organic Brews, Energy Drinks, Herbal Teas, or Hot Beverages. Some of these drinks can increase your Influence with the Rebel social group.
- Buy Snack: Pick up a baked good or other yummy snack to quickly satisfy your hunger pains so you can keep going and not have to run home for a meal.

Ready 4 Close-Up Photo Booth by Secret Bohemia



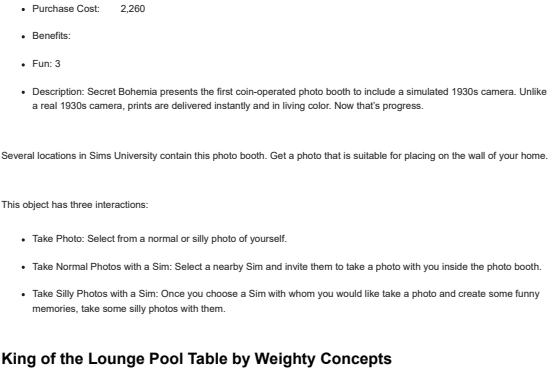
- Purchase Cost: 2,260
- Benefits:
- Fun: 3
- Description: Secret Bohemia presents the first coin-operated photo booth to include a simulated 1930s camera. Unlike a real 1930s camera, prints are delivered instantly and in living color. Now that's progress.

Several locations in Sims University contain this photo booth. Get a photo that is suitable for placing on the wall of your home.

This object has three interactions:

- Take Photo: Select from a normal or silly photo of yourself.
- Take Normal Photos with a Sim: Select a nearby Sim and invite them to take a photo with you inside the photo booth.
- Take Silly Photos with a Sim: Once you choose a Sim with whom you would like take a photo and create some funny memories, take some silly photos with them.

King of the Lounge Pool Table by Weighty Concepts



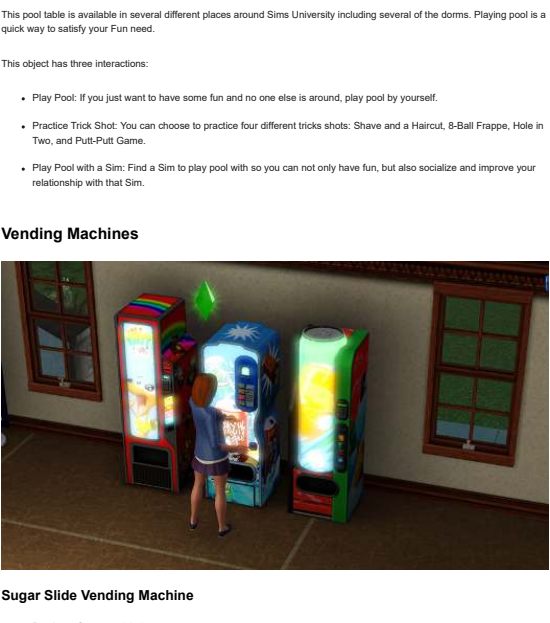
- Purchase Cost: 5,150
- Benefits:
- Fun: 9
- Group Activity
- Description: A heavy, solid, regulation-sized pool table to decorate a dorm lounge or finish off a home game room. Face off across the felt: two Sims enter, one Sim leaves!

This pool table is available in several different places around Sims University including several of the dorms. Playing pool is a quick way to satisfy your Fun need.

This object has three interactions:

- Play Pool: If you just want to have some fun and no one else is around, play pool by yourself.
- Practice Trick Shot: You can choose to practice four different tricks shots: Shave and a Haircut, 8-Ball Frappe, Hole in Two, and Pull-Pull Game.
- Play Pool with a Sim: Find a Sim to play pool with so you can not only have fun, but also socialize and improve your relationship with that Sim.

Vending Machines



Sugar Slide Vending Machine

- Purchase Cost: 1,850
- Benefits:
- Hunger: 8
- Description: This vending machine is like heaven for the sweetest of sweet tooth: all the candy you can eat! No matter the contours of your sweet tooth, the Sugar Slide will satisfy.

Fizzy Festival Vending Machine

- Purchase Cost: 2,000
- Benefits:
- Hunger: 9
- Description: It's the end of a long day with a long night ahead. Nothing picks up flagging Sims like a quick fizzy drink. Nothing delivers that drink like the Fizzy Festival!

Choosy Choices Vending Machine

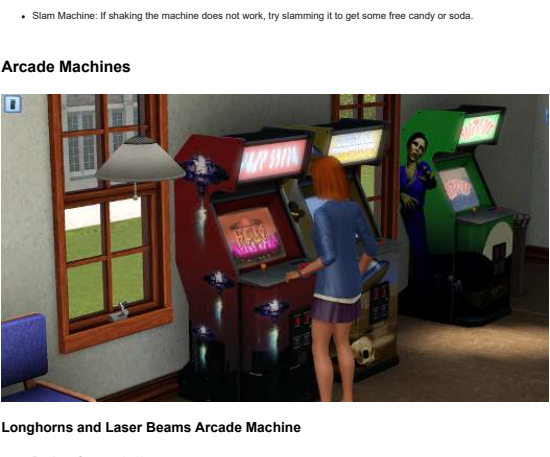
- Purchase Cost: 2,250
- Benefits:
- Hunger: 10
- Description: Vending machines don't offer enough choice: one's got candy, the other's got soda. What Sims really want are candy AND soda, packaged together in one convenient machine!

Three different vending machines sell candy, soda, or both. While they all function the same way, they differ in what they offer the customer.

Each vending machine has four interactions:

- Buy Soda (5): Pay your money and get a soda to drink. The nice thing about canned soda is that you can put it into your inventory and drink it later.
- Buy Candy (5): While it's not the best food you can buy, you can carry the candy with you until later and eat it to tide you over until you can have a meal.
- Shake Machine: Why pay money to get candy or soda when you can shake the machine until something falls out on its own.
- Slam Machine: If shaking the machine does not work, try slamming it to get some free candy or soda.

Arcade Machines



Longhorns and Laser Beams Arcade Machine

- Purchase Cost: 1,500
- Benefits:
- Fun: 7
- Description: When Sam "Straight-Teeth" Jordan's cattle herd is kidnapped for alien experiments, he embarks on an epic quest to rescue his livelihood and bring frontier justice to the green fiends.

Night of the Shambling Shades IV Arcade Machine

- Purchase Cost: 1,500
- Benefits:
- Fun: 7
- Description: After three nights of zombie-slaying mayhem, Matt Ragewire may have found the key to victory. But to use it, he'll have to side-scroll his way through an undead wasteland.

Fire in the Skies Arcade Machine

- Purchase Cost: 1,500
- Benefits:
- Fun: 7
- Description: John Badguy was a common street thug. But when flying saucers descend on his city and throw it into chaos, only John has what it takes to save humanity.

Arthropods Arcade Table

- Purchase Cost: 1,400
- Benefits:
- Fun: 7
- Description: Your parents' classic table game is back! Protect yourself with lasers from pixels being lobbed toward you. Every 10,000 points grants an extra life. You will never get 10,000 points.

There are several different arcade machines, but they all function the same. Find them in the Student Union and at several other locations around Sims University.

Arcade machines have one interaction:

- Play Arcade Machine (5): For a few Simoleons, you not only get to have some fun, but you also increase your Influence with the Nerd social group.

Object Catalog

The objects in this catalog are listed with prices, important depreciation values, and any effect the object may have on your Sim as well as the environmental rating of a room.

Caution

Remember the rules of depreciation when purchasing these objects in Buy Mode. As soon as you click out of Buy Mode, the object you purchased begins depreciating. Each day, the object depreciates 10 percent. The bottom out value is 40 percent of the original price. The value of any object can never drop below 40 percent unless the object is broken or ruined.
